Reagan hails Senate vote okaying death penalty

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The legislature has sent Gov. Ronald Reagan a bill reinstating capital punishment in California and mandating death for 11 heinous crimes effective Jan. 1.

"The cause of justice has been strengthened," declared the governor. "There is no telling how many lives of law abiding citizens and their families this legislation will save."

Final legislative action on the historic measure occurred Monday when the Senate concurred in Assembly amendments by a lopsided 29-11 vote. Republican Sens. Milton Marks of San Francisco and Peter Behr of Tiburon joined nine Democrats in voting "no."

Death would be mandatory under the bill (SB450) for hired assassins; police killers; life term convicts who slay guards; mass and repeat murderers; train wreckers; persons who commit murder during rape, robbery, kidnaping, burglary and lewd acts involving children; and those who kill witnesses to crimes.

Reagan, whose office said he may sign the bill by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, later in the week, noted in a written statement that passage of a ballot initiative last November by a 2-to-1 margin paved the way for approval of legislation specifying the capital crimes.

He said the outcome "shows that under our system of government, the people's will can ultimately prevail despite numerous roadblocks."

The state Supreme Court ruled in February 1972 that capital punishment was both cruel and unusual punishment. The U.S. Supreme Court subsequently held the ultimate penalty unconstitutional as it then was practiced but handed state legislatures guidelines for re-enacting it if it were made mandatory.

Reagan dismissed "vengeance" as a motive for reestablishing the death penalty, which would take effect again Jan. 1. He said supporters believed that "those who murder their fellow citizens and who gun down our police, will not be deterred by anything less than the ultimate penalty and they are right."

There was no debate as the Senate accepted Assembly amendments to the bill. It originally passed the Senate 27-12 after bitter debate and cleared the Assembly 52-12 last week on the heels of an angry floor fight.

The Assembly amendments struck from the bill provisions which would have extended the death penalty to four other crimes: skyjacking, arson-caused death; torture slayings; and the killing of an inmate by a life termer.

The measure had been bottled up in the liberal-dominated Assembly Criminal Justice Committee for months. The committee finally turned out a heavily amended bill which substituted life imprisonment without possibility of parole for the death penalty.

But the Assembly last week in a bipartisan effort stripped the committee's amendments from the legislation and restored it to almost the same form it was in when originally approved by the Senate.

Off Guadalupe Islands

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —Albert Schneppershoff, 37, recent winner in the national spearfishing championships in Los Angeles, has been killed by a shark, according to the coroner's office.

Schenppershoff, of Los Angeles and the Long Beach Neptune Diving Club, was pleasure diving 237 miles southeast of San Diego, off the Guadalupe Islands, when he was attacked Sunday night, a companion, Bob Stanbery, said.

He was the first person known killed by a shark in waters off California or Baja California in 14 years.

Schneppershoff was skindiving 100 yards from a San Diego yacht, The Hustler, when he was attacked, Stanbery said.

"I don't think he ever saw the shark, but Al's spear gun was seen floating nearby," Standbery said. "I don't think we ever saw anything happen so quick. We heard Al yell and we went to his aid.

"He was bitten in the calf area of the right leg, and we tried everything to revive him," Stanbery said. "When the incident happened we were anchored for the night and were cleaning up. The water was warm, and since it was near dusk, I think the shark hit him thinking he was a sea lion."

The companions pulled Schneppershoff into the boat after he surfaced.

Death was due to hemorrhaging and shock due to loss of blood from the shark mangling the leg, deputy coroner Harry Lasalle said after The Hustler returned here with the body aboard Monday night.

The last known shark death was that of Robert Pamperin, a San Diego engineer and skindiver, James Stewart, diving officer at Scripps Institution of Oceanography, said.

Pamperin was off Alligator Head at La Jolla on June 14, 1959, when a diving buddy saw him up to the hips in the jaws of a 20-foot shark. No remains were found.

Jets bombing palace in attempt to oust Allende

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)— Chile's armed forces demanded Marxist President Salvador Allende resign today and sent jet bombers to attack the presidential palace where he was holding out.

The air attack on the palace came after Allende's presidential guard and his civilian aides surrendered to a military ultimatum which Allende defied.

The ultimatum came after army and police units besieging the palace fired more than 300 rounds into the sprawling edifice. Casualties were not immediately known.

The military dynamited transmitters of radio stations supporting Allende to knock them off the air.

The armed forces declared martial law throughout the country, imposed a curfew and banned the carrying of guns.

The Chilean cities of Valparaiso, Quillota, Quinteros, and Talcahuano were placed under naval control.

At least 17 bombs were dropped in the attack on the palace, one of which scored a direct hit. Troops and police outside launched a frontal attack on the palace after the bombing.

Fighting was heavy between the soldiers surrounding the palace and snipers supporting Allende hiding in neighboring buildings. The UPI office was raked with machinegun fire aimed at what was believed to be a sniper's nest in offices above belonging to Allende's political coalition.

Allende refused to resign when the heads of the armed forces and national police rose in revolt announcing he had been "dismissed."

Allende called on his followers to support him and the military chiefs ordered a combined air and ground attack launched against the palace. Aerial bombs quickly touched off a small fire in the presidential offices.

The ground attack on the palace was confined to light and heavy machinegun fire. However, tanks and armored cars were deployed within a block of the palace.

Allende and a few of his closest aides were reported inside the palace. But with the exception of snipers in adjoining buildings, there appeared to be no organized resistance to the attack.

The revolt was touched off in early morning when the armed forces broadcast a proclamation demanding Allende "immediately" resign and turn over the office to them. They said they were "united to initiate the historic mission of freeing our country from the Marxist yoke."

Valley cities irked by overhead sheriff costs

By LANGE WINCKLER
P-B Staff Writer

Citizens of three Pomona Valley cities are no longer paying for elevator services at County of Los Angeles buildings in downtown Los Angeles, but in assigning sheriff's officers as their local policemen, they still help pay the mortgage on those elevators.

"Overhead" costs of sheriff's protection contracts in San Dimas, Walnut, and City of Industry are an immovable rock between the cities and the county, despite recent major reductions in these costs. The county Board of Supervisors last May trimmed the original schedule of overhead charges by more than half, but nowhere near the figure contract cities claim is just.

There is no argument over contract rates for sheriff's protection by itself, but over the expenses the county claims would not exist without the contracts. These are indirect expenses, such as maintenance and repair of equipment used by the department, new computerized radio communications materials, and the like.

The county says this "general county overhead" charge is justifiable. The cities claim it is excessive double-taxation for services already paid in the general county tax rate.

First county contracts for sheriff's services were let in 1954, at the incorporation of the City of Lakewood, data from the county counsel's office relates. At that time, compensation for the contract came from all fines and forfeitures collected in or for the city.

Since then, contract charges have been adjusted upward, until, in 1970, 29 cities holding protection pacts arranged through the California Contract Cities Association (CCCA) to conduct a study of the fairest method of charging for law enforcement services.

U.S., Saigon warn N. Vietnam against rebuilding air strips

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States and South Vietnam warned North Vietnam today against reconstructing abandoned U.S. air strips in Communist-occupied South Vietnam, and the Saigon government said it would take "appropriate measures."

The United States said Hanoi was running "grave risks."

According to the South Vietnamese, the reconstructed air strips could be used by North Vietnamese MIG fighterbombers. Saigon said North Vietnam was preparing to wage a "new war" by refurbishing the airfields.

A U.S. protest note was delivered to the North Vietnamese embassy in Paris and made public here. It said the United States "wishes strongly to emphasize the grave risks which the DRV (North Vietnam) would run by violating the airspace sovereignty of the Republic of (South) Vietnam."

The U.S. note also called on Hanoi to remove missiles and anti-aircraft weapons "which it has illegally introduced into South Vietnam since Jan. 28."

Nguyen Bich Mac, spokesman for South Vietnam's foreign ministry, said, "This is a serious warning," but he avoided answering the question whether he would rule out South Vietnamese air strikes against the airports and other military complexes if the warning were not heeded.

South Vietnam also announced it had asked the International Commission for Control and Supervision (ICCS) to make an immediate investigation of the charge. Mac declined to say what the government would do if the ICCS were unable or unwilling to make the investigation.

Capt. Phuong Nam, press officer for the provisional revolutionary government (Viet Cong) said, "The building and repairing of air fields in South Vietnam is the internal affair of the PRGRSVN (Provisional Revolutionary Government of the Republic of South Vietnam). The side of the Saigon administration should not bear the illusion to decide public opinion and to mislead public opinion from the fact it has illegally received U.S. armaments, ammunition and war material."

All of the air strips involved are former U.S. military air fields. Mac said they have been repaired, extended and improved by the Communists since the Jan. 28 cease-fire.

"The Republic of Vietnam strongly protests to North Vietnamese authorities and condemned the extension of these air fields. Moreover, it demands that North Vietnam put an end to repair, expansion and improvement of these air fields.

Baker: illegal Demo actions to be bared

OSHKOSH, Wis. (UPI) —Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said Monday the Senate Watergate Committee will reveal some illegal or unethical Democratic campaign activities during the second phase of committee hearings.

Baker, addressing 5,500 persons at the University of Wisconsin in Oshkosh, would not expand on what the revelations might be except to say the committee "will not try to match Watergate with comparable transgressions by the Democrats."

Baker said he has not gotten the impression from the public that Americans are tired of Watergate and want the hearings halted. He said the attitude is more "that they don't want us to stop, but want us to finish as quickly as possible."

Spanish War vet has new version of Maine sinking

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —A 99-year-old veteran of the Spanish-American War said Monday the battleship Maine was blown up by sailors smoking below the battleship's main deck.

The sinking of the Maine, allegedly torpedoed by the Spanish as the ship rested in Havanna Harbor, was the reason the United States entered the war.

"The Spanish didn't torpedo the Maine," Joseph Favret, 99, said. "The explosion resulted from men smoking below the deck and that's how the ship went up which led us into war."

Favret is attending the 75th convention of the United Spanish War Veterans.

"Times were rough," Favret said. "All of us in Company D had a slogan which told how things were:

"Ho ho ho, who are we?
"Second Louisianians of Company D.
"We are rough.
"We are tough;
"We eat maggots,
"And can't get enough."

Laos peace pact will be signed within the week

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)— Premier Souvanna Phouma announced today a peace pact ending more than 10 years of war in Laos would be signed between his neutralist government and the Communist-led Pathet Lao by the end of the week.

Government sources said the agreement, which sets up a coalition government, would be signed on Friday. They said an initial peace pact signing would take place on Thursday.

The new coalition cabinet established by the agreement met today and expressed approval of the pact. The sources said all the ministers in Souvanna Phouma's cabinet, including those whose opposition to an agreement had blocked final settlement, also approved the new agreement.

The sources said delegations from Souvanna Phouma and the Pathet Lao would meet Wednesday to make any final revisions in the wording of the draft agreement.

Souvana Phouma, the 73-year-old Laotian neutralist leader, told a political gathering today that a "modified" draft protocol of a Feb. 21 agreement arranging a cease-fire was acceptable to the Laotian military leadership.

Phone firm loaning school teaching device

POMONA — High school and college business students can benefit from a new practical teaching aid program called "telebusiness."

The General Telephone Co. developed the program to help business students become more proficient in the use of key telephone systems.

It consists of a portable unit having a control panel with three phone lines and three key telephones, each equipped with "hold" features and intercom lines.

The teaching aid simulates business office situations in a classroom environment, said Ruby Murillo, school program administrator.

The program is available on request for use by schools in communities served by General Telephone. An educational services representative will deliver, demonstrate and pick up the unit after it is used. Persons wanting the unit may contact the utility's local business office.

U.S. pilots ordered to avoid Cambodia, then . . . 'forget it'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —During the secret bombing of Cambodia, every B52 crewman was briefed before each mission "to make every effort not to bomb in Cambodia," the Pentagon said. Then pilots and navigators were quietly ordered to disregard these instructions, without knowledge of the rest of the crew.

The result, according to a 32-page Pentagon "White Paper" issued Monday: "Other crew members had no indication that their aircraft was directed on other than the (cover story) target in South Vietnam."

That was but one of many measures to keep secret the Cambodian bombing strikes in1969 and 1970. described in the special Defense Department report to the Senate Armed Service Committee.

The report, the most detailed accounting ever made of clandestine U.S. operations in Southeast Asia, said the White House approved the 3,875 Cambodian bombing missions raid-by-raid and issued basic rules for keeping them secret, including a cover story to tell reporters. Other details in the vast security programs were worked out by the military.

In addition to the Cambodian bombings, the White Paper said, President Nixon's National Security Council also gave blanket approval for four other secret operations, including 15,546 air strikes and 2,731 ground spy missions, and for cover stories to keep them secret.

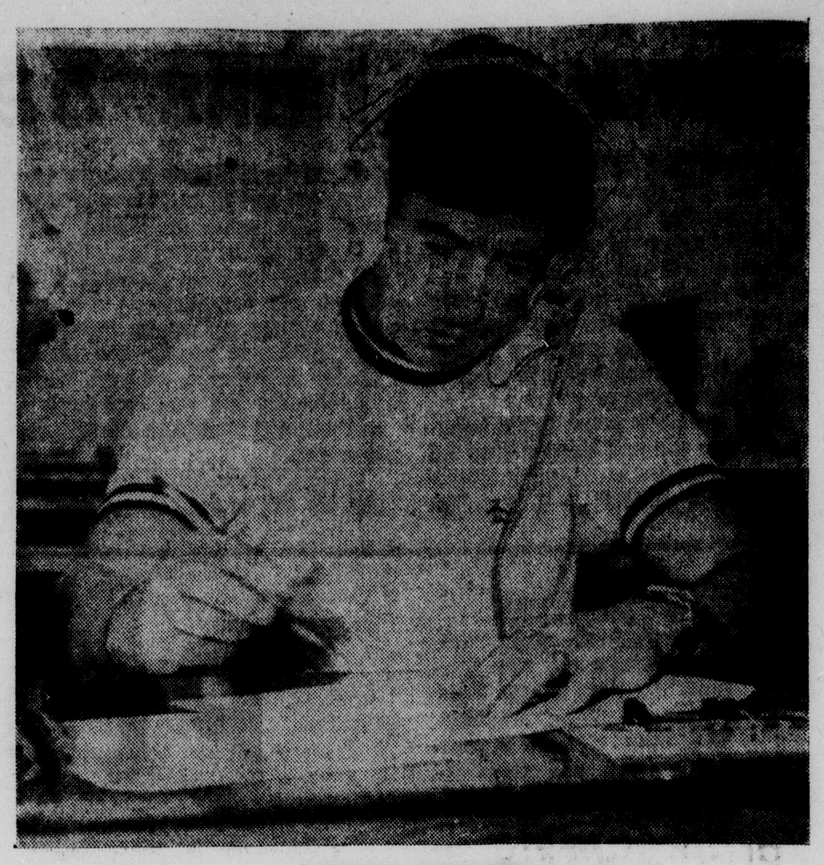
There were also 3,634 fighterbomber strikes flown in Cambodia but reported falsely by Air Force units to have occurred in Laos, but for which the White House had not granted cover story approval, the report said.

It was the first time the Pentagon had ever detailed so fully the scope of U.S. clandestine missions and the system under which they were approved and kept secret.

Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa., a member of the Senate committee, said the document was "incomplete and unacceptable" because it failed to include copies of orders requested by the committee and details about how a few members of Congress who were told initially about the secret operations had been selected.

"Billions dofllars were spent and the war widened...without the knowledge of approval of Congress, except for those few members," Hughes said. "When the 'need to know' is limited to those in Congress who will agree with a given policy, our system of democratic government is undermined.

"We have been given secondhand summaries of key decision documents, rather than the documents themselves. We need to see the raw data if we are to judge who was behind the massive deception and falsification."



HEAD START

Air Force Maj. Robert Jeffrey found a way to get a jump on his fellow freshmen at Southern Methodist University, but he doesn't recommend it. Jeffrey, from Dallas, earned 21 semester hours of credit in three foreign languages at SMU, but it took him 7½ years in North Vietnam prisons to do the job.

Nationalization of passenger trains proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., says the federal government should nationalize all passenger trains including urban mass transit.

Weicker said Monday he will introduce legislation next year for federal takeover of all such systems.

"This will not simply be a proposal to expand Amtrak (the government-sponsored rail system)," Weicker said in a Senate speech. "It means that the federal government will be running the trains, passenger trains, and no more of these quasi-government corporations that put our essential service into the twilight zone."

He said the free enterprise system has failed to run passenger lines properly, partly because they produce only 2 per cent of railroad revenues.

"The people of the United States are fully aware that private corporations and bankrupt trusteeships have failed to provide either what is possible or what our minimum transportation requirements call for," Weicker said. "We are at the end of the line."

The Senate voted 53 to 33 Monday to provide $800 million for operating expenses of commuter mass transit lines over the next two years. The measure now goes to the House, which has refused to pass similar bills in the past three years.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., the sonsor, said the funds were badly needed by 11 of the nation's 14 major commuter rail lines which failed to cover operating costs in recent years.

Cambodian state capital shelled for fifth day

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Communist-led Khmer Rouge insurgents fired more than 200 shells into the city of Kompong Cham today where a fierce battle for control of the provincial capital went into its fifth day.

New fighting also was reported on approaches to Phnom Penh northeast and southwest of the capital.

Military sources said 70 shells landed around the Kompong Cham high school, a government bastion just east of the Kompong Cham University which is held by the rebels.

Converted T28 trainer jets from the 40-plane Cambodian air force strafed Communist positions around the city, easing pressure on the airport which is cut off from the city.

Military sources said the situation at the airport was "much improved" in the afternoon after a "critical" situation in the morning.

Kompong Cham, once Cambodia's third largest city, is located on the Mekong River 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. It has been under Communist pressure for a month.

Closer to Phnom Penh, Communists infiltrated a village 10 miles northeast of the Capital, blew up a pontoon bridge 10 miles to the southwest and stopped a government advance 14 miles southwest.

But the most critical military situation remained at Kompong Cham, where Communist insurgents stormed the airport today.

Monterey Bay quakes noted

MENLO PARK (UPI) — More than 50 earthquakes have occurred in the Monterey Bay Area during the past four years, according to a government survey.

Although experts from the U.S. Geological Survey said Monday the quakes were of minor to moderate intensity, H. Harry Greenene, a marine geologist, saidthe survey indicated the potential of stronger quakes along a fault extending from southern San Mateo County to beyond Monterey and Carmel.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A Los Angeles police department report has concluded that the county is becoming a "mecca" for dangerous criminals because convicted felons are receiving increasingly light sentences in the county's court system.

The percentage of convicted murderers, burglars and robbers placed on probation has nearly doubled since 1962, while the percentage of those imprisoned has decreased by nearly half, according to the report released Monday.

"As long as the sentencing practices of Los Angeles Superior Court judges fail to take criminals out of circulation," the report read, "and as long as sentencing practices in Los Angeles are dramatically more lenient than the rest of the state, this county will be a mecca for every dangerous criminal in the state and will be attractive to criminals from other areas."

According to the report, entitled "California Criminal Justice System Analysis," 34 per cent of convicted murderers, robbers and burglars were sent to state prison in 1962. Only 18.6 per cent were imprisoned last year.

The report added that 60.5 per cent of convicted felons were placed on probation last year, up from 33.3 per cent in 1962.

"As long as 19 out of 20 convicted burglars know that they will not be sent to prison," the report stated, "this area will be a haven, not only for the average burglar but also for the heroin addict who must support his habit through burglary.

troversy, the study ended in a higher rate.

Last year the CCCA sponsored a bill, introduced before the state Assembly by Joe Gonsalves, which would have forced all counties in the state to drop various charges loaded into contracts. It sailed through both houses, but was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan with the provision that the entire question would be re-opened.

After extensive study by Arthur G. Will, chief administrative officer (CAO) of Los Angeles County, supervisors adopted a revised schedule based on the 1972-73 contract rate which dropped $15,688 from "general law patrol" costs of $269,073. This is the price charged for one sheriff's car on patrol 24 hours every day for a year.

"It is a welcome savings," said San Dimas City Manager Robert Poff. "However, this year deputies were granted pay increases that just about wiped out the gains."

His city also increased its level of service for 1973-74. Estimated costs, computed by Lt. Stuart L. Hansell of the sheriff's Community Services Department, are $207,700 — a hefty jump from San Dimas' previous contract of $153,382. Poff said the increase follows growth in the foothill community.

For Walnut and City of Industry, though, the cuts had a significant impact. Walnut actually was able to drop its prior contract from $132,091 to $130,053, while Industry's edged up slightly by $3,000 to $260,432.

Still at issue in the dispute are general county overhead charges. George Voight, executive director of the CCCA, says the organization hopes to push through a duplicate of the Gonsalves bill so overhead charges will drop to about $77,700. This figure would eliminate such charges as messenger service, construction and maintenance, rent, and depreciation.

"It's about half of what we think is fair," Voight said of the board's cuts last May. "The county eliminated the less-defensible items, such as $550 for supervisors' salaries loaded into the cost of each car, or $91 for elevator services, or $800 for mortgage payments on county buildings." The mortgage figure was only halved, he noted — there is another $800 charge in question.

Since the county regards the contracts as extension of many services, not just sheriff's protection, it will take some serious arguing to bring about what Lt. Hansell termed a "change in philosophy."

Both the county counsel's office and the CAO cite provisions of the California Constitution, which forbid the giving of anything to a municipality by a county without adequate payment. Their reports to the board last May emphasize that the services loaded into general county overhead "represent the additional expense to the county in providing such service," in the words of the county counsel.

Supervisors have asked Gonsalves to withdraw his bill. The CCCA is pushing as hard as possible. So far, nothing has moved the rock.

SAIGON (UPI) —A terrorist bomb exploded Monday night in a movie theater on South Vietnam's Central Coast, killing or wounding 53 persons, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman blamed Communist terrorists for the attack on the theater, in Duc Pho district town in Quang Ngai province, 307 miles northeast of Saigon.

He said three civilians were killed and 48 civilians, a soldier and a policeman were wounded.

Aide predicts fuel shortage of 3 years

By United Press International

President Nixon's adviser on energy problems, John A. Love, predicted Monday the fuel shortage will last for at least three more years, and probably cannot be helped except by further development of U.S. coal and oil.

Languages, the hard way

DALLAS (UPI) —Air Force Maj. Robert Jeffrey found a way to get a jump on his fellow freshmen at Southern Methodist University, but he doesn't recommend it.

Jeffrey, from Dallas, earned 21 semester hours of credit in three foreign languages at SMU, but it took him 7-½ years in North Vietnamese prison camps to do it. To help fill the hours and to keep their minds active, Jeffrey and his fellow prisoners taught each other languages.

"I kind of took them one at a time," Jeffrey, 34, said in an interview Monday. "The first one I learned in '67 was Spanish, from one of my roommates."

Jeffrey and his roommate, who had three years of high school Spanish and two years of the language at the Naval Academy, quietly spoke Spanish to each other inside the windowless seven-by-seven cubicle for 2-½ years.

"The Vietnamese wouldn't let us use any writing material, so all of it had to be strictly oral exercises," Jeffrey said. "It was rather bleak so we spent a great amount of time during the day speaking Spanish."

In 1969 Jeffrey was moved into a larger room with six men in it. One of the POWs had studied French at Stanford, so he started a French course, which Jeffrey quickly absorbed.

"At the end of this course we were getting up in front of the room telling stories, jokes or personal experiences," Jeffrey said. "One guy made up a little advertisement on a little airplane he was planning on building and selling when he got back."

In 1970, five years after he was shot down in an F4 Phantom fighter-bomber, Jeffrey was moved to Hanoi where he lived in a large room with about 45 other men. That's where his foreign language education really got underway.

The prisoners organized classes in French, Spanish, Russian and German. Since he had already had "classes" in French and Spanish, Jeffrey chose German this time.

"People were looking for something to occupy their minds and the drills and all kept their minds pretty active," Jeffrey said.

The prisoners, eager to learn more than simple phonetics, made their own crude textbooks out of their coarse toilet paper. Pens were fashioned by sharpening bamboo stakes to points and splitting them, wrapping strings to the tips to act as ink reservoirs.

Jeffrey was released by the North Vietnamese last February and entered SMU this fall to work on a bachelor's degree in political science.

Tear gas does the trick; he feared for his dog, bird

ATLANTA (UPI) —Police used tear gas Monday to flush out a man who had barricaded himself inside his apartment for four hours, threatening to "come out shooting."

After hauling Bush kicking and screaming to a police van, officers went into his secondfloor apartment and brought out his puppy and carried the bird away in its cage. Neither appeared harmed.

Bush locked himself in his apartment after his former wife called to tell him she was planning to marry another man.

Sgt. J.D. Hartley responded to a report that Bush had a hostage and was shooting inside the apartment. Police later said both reports were apparently false, and no shots were fired during the incident.

Hartley said when he knocked on Bush's door "He opened it and aimed the rifle at me. I got out of there and called for help."

Capt. Gary Shepherd talked to Bush for two hours on the telephone. Members of Bush's family also urged him to surrender.

"He indicated he was coming out, but he was coming out shooting," Shepherd said.

Finally police shot three tear gas canisters through a window of the apartment forcing Bush to surrender.

Lava flows from Sicilian volcano

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)— Lava spilled over the lip of the volcano Etna today following several days of flourescent activity inside the crater, the International Volcano Institute said.

An Institute spokesman said there was no immediate danger of a full eruption, but that volcanic fragments and lava shot out of the central crater. Dense plumes of fiery smoke have billowed out of the volcano for several days, indicating some sort of activity, the spokesman said.

The last serious eruption of Etna occurred in April, 1971 when molten ash and lava destroyed hundreds of acres of fertile farmland in a 60-day-long eruption.

Deadline to appeal land value told

LOS ANGELES — Property owners have until Sept. 17 to file an assessment appeals application.

These may be filed at most regional assessors offices or the county's Hall of Administration.

"It is only the market value as determined by the county assessor which is subject to appeal," said James Mize, administrator of the county assessment appeals boards.

"Taxes which are levied by many different taxing agencies throughout the county are not within the jurisdiction of the assessment appeals boards," he said.

The hearings on appeals filed before Sept. 17 will start before the county's three assessment appeals boards starting Sept. 24, he added.

Pompidou gets young welcome on China trip

PEKING (UPI) —French President Georges Pompidou arrived to a noisy welcome by thousands of cheering children today for top-level meetings with Chinese leaders in the first official visit of a Western European chief of state to China.

In the center of Peking, more than two miles of children crowded four deep along the streets. With pink ribbons in their braids, they clapped, waved and cheered as the presidential motorcade moved down the wide boulevards of the city.

Multi-colored streamers and lines of mixed French and Chinese flags were strung across both sides of the Great Hall of the People, where Pompidou will hold the bulk of this talks with the Chinese leadership.

Interspersed with the decorations were huge red banners in both French and Chinese wishing Pompidou a warm welcome and proclaiming "We firmly support the fight of the European people against hegemony."

Tonight Pompidou was to be feted at an official banquet in the Great Hall of the People which seats 5,000. Talks will begin Wednesday afternoon.

Steel industry given green light for $360 million price increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government has given the steel industry the full $360 million a year price increase it sought but stretched it out over three months to minimize its inflationary impact.

The increase will affect prices of thousands of products made with steel, for example increasing by up to $16 the cost of steel used to make a new car and by 1 cent the steel in a toaster.

John T. Dunlop, chairman of the Cost of Living Council (CLC), announced the decision Monday. He said steel's request was "fully cost-justified" and characterized as "tough" the council's decision to divide the approximately $9-a-ton into two steps.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who had testified at a hearing to ask the council to set an example by rejecting the request, called the decision "directly inflationary and completely unjustified."

"Having granted an increase to an industry which had an increase in profits last year of 62 per cent, the council can hardly now say no to other industries when they apply," Proxmire told a reporter.

The action affects only flat rolled steel, which accounts for about 40 per cent of the industry's annual output of around 150 million tons.

Steel firms will be able to charge about $4.50 a ton more on Oct. 1 and post another $4.50 increase on Jan. 1, 1974. The price now ranges between $150 and $200 a ton.

The increase amounts to 2.2 to 4 per cent more each time.

The order applies only to 10 major firms, which together produce 70 per cent of the nation's flat rolled steel. But the 26 other producers are likely to apply for an increase before Oct. 1 and to receive it.

Dunlop said the increase was justified becauee the industry had not had an increase in 20 months, because its rate of return on investment is unusually low and because it needs capital for expansion and modernization.

In recent years, the industry lost some of its market to imported steel but the current boom has led to production at full capacity.

Dunlop said steel would not be permitted to increase prices before Jan. 1 for other products, representing 60 per cent of sales.

Meat boycott seeks lower beef prices

CANOGA PARK (UPI) — Fight Inflation Together (FIT) began a 15-day meat boycott today in an effort to reduce beef prices.

"It is entirely up to the American public if we want prices to come down," Fit National Chairwoman Arline Mathews said Monday in announcing the boycott set for today, Thursday ant Friday and the first 12 days in October.

"Much of the cattle that had been held off from market have reached their 1,000 pound maximum weight," she said. "Every pound over that amount is very costly to the feedlot owner. The packing houses are bulging with meat withheld from market."

Children find ill mother dead

The woman, Mrs. Pamela Houghtaling, 32, died of undetermined causes and an autopsy was ordered. Police reported finding an empty bottle of painkillers on the table beside the bed and said the victim had a history of illness. She had a doctor's appointment at 9:30 that morning.

The children, Tricia, 8, and Michael, 5, attempted to awaken their mother several times during the morning and finally told a neighbor. The neighbor, Helen Swett, 1466 N. Mountain Ave., summoned authorities. The victim's husband was at work at the time.

The body was taken to Pollck Mortuary in Pomona.

Upland couple robbed of $1,000 and jewelry

UPLAND — Police said today they are seeking three men who robbed an Upland couple of $1,000 in cash and $1,000 of rings and watches at their apartment Sunday.

Upland Police Detective Jerry Wulf said that the robbery was reported by Gilmer Phyromn, 31, of Upland Woods Apartments at 850 N. Benson Ave. but not until Monday afternoon

Phyromn told police that he and his wife were returning from a show late Sunday night when they were confronted by two men wearing ski masks and armed with a 30.06 rifle and a shotgun in the apartment carport area. The men forced the couple to walk to their apartment where they were met by a third gunman armed with a .32 caliber pistol.

Inside, the gunman ordered Phyromn to hand over the money from his wallet, about $1,000 in cash. Phyromn told police the men then took a number of valuable rings and watches from their apartment and left.

Wulf said they are seeking Charles Haynes, 20, described as a Negro with a large Afro haircut and mustache, for questioning in the robbery. Haynes, according to police, weighs about 170 pounds, stands 6 feet 4 and is thin in build. Haynes has a number of arrests and may be carrying a pistol.

Two other men, both Negroes, were also being sought in the robbery. They were described as being from 5 feet 8 to 6 feet, weighing between 165 and 180 pounds. One was carrying a shotgun an dthe other a 30.06 caliber rifle.

Police said that Phyromn was carrying the large amount of cash with plans to pay off a car he had purchased. Phyromn first attempted to report the robbery to Pomona police but it was not until Monday afternoon that he went to the Upland department

Man and son wounded in airport heist

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A man and his 10-year-old son were shot Monday and another man was beaten during a robbery at International Airport shortly after the two families had returned from a Hawaiian vacation.

Police said Gerald Webber, 35, of Rolling Hills, was in serious condition at Centinela Valley Hospital with a bullet wound in his spine. His son, Cory, 10, was in fair condition after being wounded in the chest.

William Kinsel, 45, Glendale, was in good condition despite being beaten about eight times with a billy club. His 4-year-old son, Keith, was not injured in the attack in an airport parking lot.

Officers said the Kinsels and Webbers had returned from Hawaii late Monday night when the men and their sons left their wives waiting at the terminal and went to get their cars.

A gunman accosted Webber as he was getting into his car and made him and his son kneel on the ground. Kinsel approached the cars and another man with a billyclub made him and his son kneel down.

The robbers went through both men's wallets before shooting the Webbers and beating Kinsel. Police said they escaped with $300 to $400.

Beef prices steady, but they'll go higher

By United Press International

Consumers who went to the supermarket Monday probably did not pay any more for beef than they did last week.

The beef price freeze ended at midnight Sunday, but retailers said it would take a week or more for prices to start going up.

"We have had no price increases on beef,' said Bill Davila, advertising manager of Von's Grocery Co. in Southern California. "Our prices today are at or below ceiling. Right now the supply is adequate to fit the demand"

"The big key will be how much beef consumers buy this week," Jerry Sgobassi, vice president of another Southern California group, Lucky Stores Inc., said. "It will depend on supply and demand."

Wholesale prices of beef in New York rose 6 per cent, less than was expected. In Houston, the wholesale price dropped about one and a half cents a pound.

In addition to consumer demand, price will be affected by the amount of additional beef that goes to market. Some cattlemen held back supplies during the freeze, hoping for higher prices now. A large supply would be a downward pressure on the price.

Gus Lohman, president of Illini Beef Packers Co. of Moline, Ill., predicted beef prices would remain stable for a while, but then take a sharp upward turn.

"The housewife is probably going to continue to pay approximately the same price for beef for the next 30 to 60 days. But by the middle of next winter she's going to be paying considerably more money for that meat and once it gets there, it's going to stay there," Lohman said.

"By February, beef prices will be 25 per cent higher than they are today."

A consumer group, Fight Inflation Together (FIT), announced plans for a 15-day meat boycott in an effort to reduce prices.

"It follows that if the consumer takes part in the boycott, then the market will be glutted with meat and the prices have to topple," said FIT National Chairwoman Arline Mathews in Canoga Park, Calif.

Thirteen stores operated by the Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley, Calif., reduced prices on some beef Monday. Ground beef fell a nickel a pound and three cuts dropped as much as 25 cents.

"We're serving as gadfly and we're inviting other retailers to join us in forcing down meat prices," said a spokesman for the cooperative group.

Other meats will stay at ceiling prices to absorb a loss on beef, Don Rothenberg, assistant to the general manager of the stores, said.

Radiation in drinking water found

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI)— Radiation up to 50 times higher than recommended limits has been found in drinking water from wells in some areas of south Texas, two state health officers reported today.

The highest concentrations were found in two wells in Live Oak County, and the owners of these wells have been advised to stop drinking the water.

Martin C. Wukasch, director of the Texas Division of Occupational Health and Radiation Control, and Lewis M. Cook, an environmental surveillance supervisor, made the report to a meeting of the International Radiation Protection Association.

They said the high levels of radium-226 "raise concern for other users of ground water in this area. While less than 2 per cent of the supplies have radium concentrations in excess of operational exposure limits, it is our opinion that no one should use water of this character routinely."

They said the radiation apparently came from high uranium concentrations along a 300-mile belt paralleling the Gulf Coast about 50 miles inland. Uranium has been mined in Live Oak and Karnes Counties

Murderous togetherness

A study by a California State University of Hayward assistant sociology professor shows that three-fourths of all homicides occur among people who have intimate relationships, such as families, friends or neighbors.

And, according to Dr. Karl Schonborn, most of these homicides are crimes of passion involving a male whoe sense of dominance has been threatened.

Immunization time again at health center

POMONA — As part of an intensive, back-to-school immunization campaign being sponsored throughout the county by the Los Angeles County Department of Health Services, the Pomona Health Center will hold the second in a series of four special clinics on Wednesday.

The center, at 750 S. Park Ave., will offer immunizations against 10--day measles, German measles (rubella), diphtheria, polio, whooping cough and tetanus, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Students entering school or preschool for the first time in California are required by state law to show proof of immunization against measles, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and polio unless such immunizations are contrary to their beliefs.

Smallpox vaccinations will not be given. Children are required to be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian who are asked to bring all previous immunization records to the clinic.

POLIO PROTECTION

Five-year-old Gabriel Salazar holds still as two drops of polio vaccine are placed into his mouth by Dr. Jonas Naujokaitis at the Pomona Health Center. The center will hold a special clinic Wednesday as part of a countywide- intensive, back-to-school immunization campaign.

Constitution Day event due at park

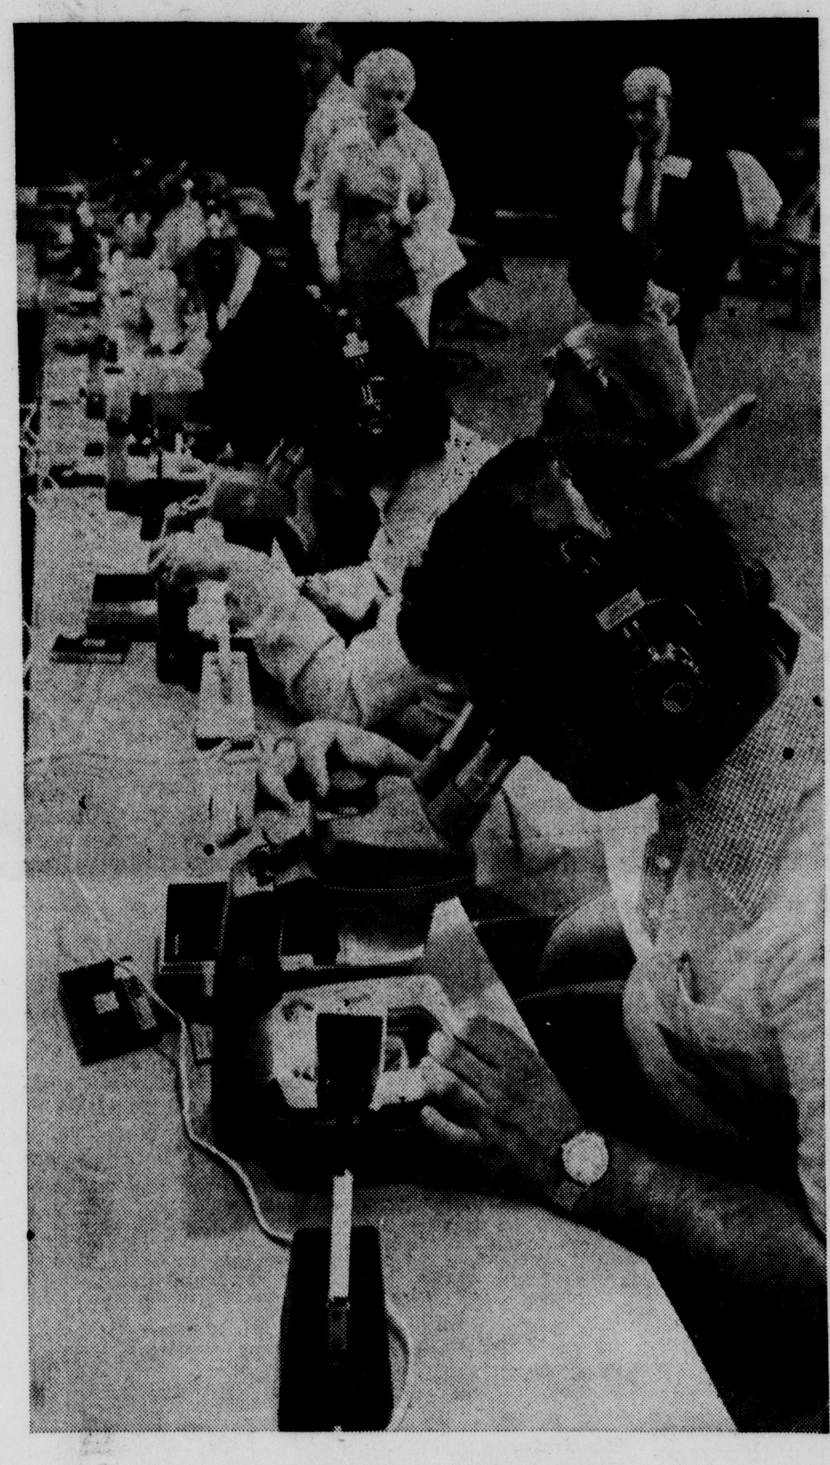
POMONA — A Constitution Day observance will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the bandshell in Ganesha Park.

Edward C. Purnell will give the keynote address. Purnell, a member of the Town Hall of California and the International Platform Association, will speak on "Preserving Our Freedom."

The San Bernardino Scottish Rite will present a play, "Fine Men," which heralds the birth of the Constitution. Music will be furnished by the Pomona Concert Band.

The event is in conjunction with Constitution Observance Month celebrated by the California Grand Lodge of Masons, and it is sponsored by several fraternal organizations in the area.

The observance is open to the public, and there will be no charge for admission.



NO GUESSWORK HERE

Over 30 coin collectors and dealers took part in the second California Numismatic Educational Seminar at Cal Poly's Kellogg West over the weekend. Part of the seminar included the use of microscopes and other instruments to aid in the identification of coins which might be counterfeited.

ALL THAT GLITTERS . . .

The collector who bought this 1732 Spanish Pillar Dollar for $1,900 thought he had a bargain — they usually fetch $2,000. But this one wouldn't buy an enchilada, it's an impressive, well-done fake, one of the pitfalls of collecting.

10 local grade schools get extra aid to individualize instruction

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — State money will sweeten the educational process for boys and girls, generally from low-income families, who attend 10 elementary schools here this year.

They number about 6,801 and represent 62 per cent of Pomona Unified School District's projected enrollment of 11,038 in its 21 elementary schools.

The schools are designated state compensatory education schools, shortened to "state comp" by educators administering the funds.

State funds, coming from eight separate sources, will provide $335 extra per student in the state comp schools.

This money, according to C. Joseph Barfield, district director of special projects, will be used to purchase classroom materials (books, educational games and audiovisual equipment); permit individualized teaching in math and language arts by providing teachers with classroom aides; provide, on a monthly basis, inservice training for teachers in techniques of diagnostic and descriptive teaching.

"In more simple terms," said Barfield, "the state comp funds not only allow new programs, they can bring to us experts to work directly with our staff in inventive study and the use of materials.

"We will no longer be using the shotgun approach with the young who are involved. Rather, we will be able to zero in on the specific difficulty of achievement of each child."

And, Barfield stressed, all the state comp programs will require the direct involvement of parents.

"This is extremely important," said the educator, "in that it makes the school an extension of the home in the education of the children from that home.

"It allows the teacher the benefit of the thinking of the parent. It makes education much more relevant."

Pomona's 10 state comp schools are:
— Arroyo at 1605 W. Arroyo Ave.
— Hamilton at 851 S. Hamilton Blvd.
— Lexington at 550 W. Lexington Ave.
— Madison at 351 W. Phillips Blvd.
— Washington at 976 E. Ninth St.
— Alcott at 1600 S. Towne Ave.
— Philadelphia at 600 E. Philadelphia St.
— Roosevelt at 701 N. Huntington Blvd.
— Westmont at 1780 W. Ninth St.

The first six received limited state comp funds last year. All 10 are recipients of federal Title I funds, generally recognized as remedial teaching funds, which have been received in the district since 1967.

Kingsley School at 1170 Washington St. will receive enough state comp funds (Early Childhood Education) to initiate a program of individualized instruction for boys and girls in kindergarten, first, second and third grade.

This same program, along with others, will also be initiated at Lexington.

This is an expanding program and is designed to include all schools in the district by 1979, Barfield said.

In addition to Early Childhood Education (AB 1302) monies, Pomona will receive state comp funds through Senate Bill 28 (teacher employment); Senate Bill 90, funded through a complex formula influenced by financial disadvantagement of pupils, percentage of pupils who are bilingual, educational disadvantagement and district resources.

Elementary schools involved here are Alcott, Arroyo, Hamilton, Lexington, Madison, Philadelphia, Roosevelt, Washington and Westmont.

State comp funds also come through the Miller-Unruh Reading Program, the Reading Instructional Aide Program (AB 612), Bilingual Education (AB 2284), the State Preschool Program and Headstart-Child Development Centers.

Pomona will receive approximately $25,000 in state money to continue Head Start classes at six school sites: Arroyo, Hamilton, Lexington, Madison, North San Antonio and Washington.

Pomona's state comp plan was written by Barfield and his staff, chiefly project director Jim E. Follis who is coordinator of Title I, under the supervision of Sidney G. Moses, assistant superintendent of educational services, and approved by the state Department of Education.

State educators praised the plan and are having it reprinted in their monthly publication.

In preparing their application for state comp funds, Pomona educators conducted a detailed "need assessment" of children in the 10 state comp schools.

This assessment disclosed that 67 per cent of K-3 grade pupils achieved below grade level in language arts while 78 per cent of 4-6 grade pupils fell in the same category.

In math, 81 per cent of K-3 grade pupils were below grade level in achievement, and 61 per cent of 4-6 grade pupils were in that category.

In their need assessment on health, educators found that 43 per cent of the K-6 grade pupils in the 10 schools had health problems which adversely affected class achievement and school problems, 10 per cent had vision problems, 12 per cent had hearing problems and 49 per cent had dental needs.

Two women hurt in Chino crash

CHINO — Two women were injured this morning when two cars collided broadside at Schaffer and Central avenues here, police reported.

Beverly Sue Akers, 17, of 229 E. Budd St., Ontario, the driver of one vehicle, and Phyllis Jean Calderas, 27, of 571 Richland Ave., Upland, driver of another, were both taken to Chino General Hospital by ambulance for treatment of multiple minor injuries following the 7:30 a.m. accident.

Chino policeman Al Kennedy said the impact of the collision ejected Mrs. Akers and her 2-year-old daughter from their car. Mrs. Akers suffered a broken leg and other injuries, but her daughter escaped injury.

Kennedy said that Mrs. Akers' car was eastbound on Shaffer Avenue and Mrs. Calderas car was southbound on Central Avenue.

L.P. center offers new medical class

It will start Wednesday from 7 to 10 p.m. It will stress safety, accident prevention and survival.

State official to talk here on investor games, gambles

POMONA—Brian R. Van Camp, California's commissioner of corporations, will address members of the Kiwanis Club of Pomona when they meet Wednesday noon at the Elks Lodge.

His subject will be "Games Investors Play and the Loaded Dice They Play With."

He will explain reforms the department of corporations has taken to protect the investing public. Program chairman is Marvin Draper.

"As more and more individual and small investors have left the stock market, they have turned to more forms of investment," said Van Camp. "Abuses have crept in in some areas and we've had to take both preventive and corrective action to protect the public."

Van Camp, 33, was the youngest commissioner of corporations in the state's history when he was appointed two years ago by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Previous to that he was assistant secretary of the business and transportation agency and, for several months, acting secretary. And prior to that, Van Camp was a deputy attorney general assigned to the office of the secretary of state as legal counsel to the late Frank Jordan.

A president needs to be 'in' politics

Webster defines a politician as being, among other things, "a schemer; an intriguer."

Although this definition is marked as "obsolete," it is a fair certainty that if a poll were taken among Americans today, a heavy majority would opt for this meaning rather than another one listed by Webster — "one versed or experienced in the science of government . . .a statesman."

Watergate, of course, is chiefly responsible for the fact that the word politician has taken on such unsavory connotations. Also, behind much of the reaction against the Senate's inquiry into the scandal is the belief that it has degenerated into a political smear campaign against the President, who should be "above politics."

President Nixon is reading this popular mood accurately when he says that it is time to leave the matter to the courts and let him get on with the "urgent business of the nation."

Yet in the opinion of one student of the presidency, what has gone wrong with the White House is that too many presidents have tried to hold themselves above politics — or at least give that impression — rather than engage in it deeply enough.

The process of political bargaining is the only way to keep the White House in touch with reality, argues Thomas Cronin, a fellow at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, in an interview with the editors of The Washington Monthly.

Whenever policy is being set, the president ought to consider objections and arguments. But the structure of his own White House staff, says Cronin, virtually guarantees that they will never raise the objections to him. This makes it all the more important for him to take part in political negotiation.

But because the president would look bad if he participated in party politics, his aides must go through grotesque contortions to prove that their boss never had a political thought in his life.

Cronin offers the last campaign as an example. In deciding to do what most people lauded — keep himself "above politics" — Mr. Nixon was able to ignore the local politicians and set up his own Committee to Re-elect the President.

From a management point of view, it had great advantages: Everything was under control, everyone obeyed orders. Yet, CREEP did things which the national committee would never have authorized.

By agreeing that the president becomes more "presidential" when he drifts above the compromise and negotiation of the political process, we acquiesce in a general debasement of the value of politics, says Cronin.

"Certainly there are dishonest men in government, but we forget that there is a clean politics, and that it is the only way a democracy can work . . .

"We must start regarding the president as a politician once more. A president cannot and should not avoid being openly political. A president in a democracy has to act politically if we are to have any semblance of government by the consent of the governed —that is, he must negotiate between groups, compromise differences and find acceptable alternatives."

The last words contain a description of "politician" better than anything in Webster, and constitute a goal we had better start working toward instead of indulging in cynicism or despair.

Bombings could happen in U.S.

WASHINGTON — A warning has gone out to police stations across the country that terrorist bombings on the Irish scale "could happen in the United States." Yet the government strangely has withheld information that could help the American people protect themselves from the bomb blasts.

Unknown to most Americans, the Justice Department operates a National Bomb Data Center at Picatinny Arsenal, Dover, N.J. It is supposed to develop information that might help prevent bombing. But it has adopted a policy of obsessive secrecy, which is keeping essential information from future bomb victims.

Through confidential intermediaries we have obtained copies of the center's highly classified bulletins, which are circulated to the appropriate authorities. We have carefully excised all information that might help the bombers. What remains presents some cold-morning facts on how individuals can assist the police in protecting themselves from bombs in their mailboxes, automobiles and offices.

The center warns that car bombs, for example, soon "will be a major weapon in the terrorists' armory." Drawing from confidential British information, the center describes how separate terrorist teams steal cars, load them with explosives and park them at strategic places.

'Terrible effects'

"The destruction which followed the events of Bloody Friday in Belfast," states one c lassified bulletin, ". . . how clearly the terrible effects of large explosive charges in parked cars.

"There is often a chain of command used when car bombs are placed," explains the bulletin. One group steals a car and parks it. A second group drives it "to a safe area where the device will be (installed). . .and the (timing) mechanism set." A third group "will then. . .drive the vehicle to the target area, park it and leave the scene immediately."

Splitting up the mission makes identification of the culprits more difficult and keeps them from knowing too much about the overall operation. But "confusion often ensues." A newspaper may be alerted by one group even while another finds it cannot park the car in the designated area. The police, therefore, may evacuate one street and send the refugees to the very street where the bomb ultimately will go off, says the bulletin.

Once a bomb is discovered, the public should be evacuated within a 250-yard radius. "Even at this distance," warns the bulletin, "many casualites have been caused by flying glass."

'High priority'

To reduce the bomb danger, the center urges "High priority" for science-fiction detection devices. But it takes publicty to sell the public on providing police with the costly equipment. The center, nevertheless, shuns publicity and invokes secrecy.

Few people know, for instance, that magnetic devices are available that can pluck letter bombs out of a high-speed mail room operation. The device detects the metal in the blasting caps. X-ray and electronic scanners can also pick out letter and package bombs.

The International Association of Chiefs of Police has identified even more sophisticated bomb sniffers which can locate non-metallic bombs, Called biosensors, they utilize the principle that explosives exude a faint vapor, which causes certain microorganisms to glow dimly like lightning bugs.

The biosensors are loaded with these luminescent microorganisms, which are used to probe letters, suitcase seams, ventilation ducts, clothed persons, safety deposit boxes and desk-drawer cracks. If dynamite is present, the microorganisms give off a glow which can be picked up by an electronics system. A warning registers on a meter or audio warning device.

Bomber profiles

While the technologists combat the bomb innovators, psychologists are trying to develop a profile of the people who plant bombs. An invaluable study by Phillip Karber, a researcher for the Braddock, Dunn and McDonald think tank, has been sent to police forces.

Karber found that only five per cent of the bombers are now terrorists. A 53 per cent majority are protestors or people out for revenge. Another 29 per cent are simply thrill-seekers and 13 per cent use bombs for criminal activities such as blowing safes and extortion.

"Revenge," writes Karber, "is one of the oldest violent motives and . . . is the most understood." He cites such cases as a man bombing his estranged wife, a patron returning to a bar that bounced him with a firebomb and rival motorcycle gangs bombing one another's clubhouses.

Protest bombers, says Karber, generally use fire bombs and make "community" projects of their bombing. Criminal bombers, in contrast, use high explosives and show a "lack of emotionalism."

Teens

Curiously, most of the thrill-seekers are lonely teen-age males from proper suburban middle-class homes. They range in age down to 12-year-olds, such as those who packed match heads into a pipe, blew off one boy's arm, set afire a mother and destroyed a house and garage.

Gossip for today

From our women's viewpoint, 1973 will go down in history as the year of double frustration. First their soap operas were bumped off TV by the Watergate hearings and now football is about to return to the boob tube to compound the felony. Imagine having to live day after day without getting the answers to: Did John divorce Ester? Was Arthur's wife the daughter of a New Jersey gangster? Will Mary finally decide to have an abortion? Can Randolph keep his secret mistress a secret? Will Hannah's sister break up Bill and Hannah's marriage?

Certainly in the opinion of our women those are questions every bit as important as:—Will quarterback Joe Blow's trick knee force him to retire? Can Artful Arty get the $100,000 contract he is holding out for? Does coach Wizard Walton have a free hand to run the team or is the owner calling the shots? Will Lumbering Louis psych himself out of his inferiority complex?—But even though no male chauvinist pig is going to admit that soap operas are more important than football, I warn you men! The chips are down! Like it or not Watergate usurpation of prime TV time has so bugged out women that this time out they're not going to listen to reason. Your only salvation is His and Her television sets.

INSIDE REPORT

Nixon may have doomed tax plan

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's blunt statement that "there isn't a chance that a responsible tax bill" could be passed by "this Congress" to help stop runaway inflation amazed and angered influential economic and political leaders who have been quietly trying to help Mr. Nixon develop just such an anti-inflation tax plan.

From corporate board rooms through the halls of Congress down to the hospital room of recuperating Rep. Wilbur Mills in Little Rock, Ark., the reaction was stunned disbelief.

That shock was starkly summed up by Dr. Pierre Rinfret, the New York-based private economic consultant who has worked closely with senior White House aides, and the President himself, ever since the 1968 presidential campaign. Rinfret, mincing no words, told us:

"The President's statement was the most serious economic mistake he has ever made."

Democrat Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Dr. Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Rinfret and some Treasury experts were all pushing hard to get the President to endorse a tax program with both anti-inflation and anti-recession implications. Its heart: a tax incentive for capacity-short basic industries designed to increase the production of goods (anti-inflationary) and absorb workers laid off by consumer industries when the economic downturn begins to bite in the next few months (anti-recessionary).

From his hospital bed, Mills told us the President's astonishingly abrupt rejection of his tax proposals — of any tax proposals — doomed the plan for this year. By next year, it may be too late for the tax-incentive plan to stem a recession which Mills fears could easily turn into full-fledged depression.

A footnote: Some high Treasury department officials were claiming that Mr. Nixon really did not mean to slam the door on the Mills proposals. If so, the President himself will have to correct the record because his words left not a particle of doubt.

Rising terror?

An informal but deadly serious protest to the Soviet Union by the U.S. points up the rising danger of anti-aircraft Palestinian terrorist threats based on use of the Soviet-made GRAIL.

The GRAIL is a heat-seeking, shoulder-fired, bazooka-type launcher (similar to the U.S.-made Redeye) with a range sufficient to explode aircraft perhaps as high as 10,000 feet.

Discovery of this missile in the possession of Palestinian nationalists near the Rome, Italy, airport last week may have avoided an epic tragedy. But there is now reason to believe that the GRAIL is far more widely dispersed than to the Rome airport. The unofficial American protest to the Russians carried a somber warning that international terrorists, Arab or otherwise, could wreck havoc of unimaginable intensity with easy access to the GRAIL.

A footnote: Some high Treasury department officials were on an 11-pound launcher with less than one pound of lethal explosives.

Investigating Casey

The investigation concerns Capitol Hill complaints that Casey, as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in 1971, kept documents concerning the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT) away from congressional investigators. Soon after Cox took jurisdiction from the Justice Department in investigating whether ITT received special treatment from the Nixon administration in an anti-trust case, his investigators began looking into Casey's role.

This by no means assures eventual legal action against Casey. However, friends believe the high-powered Casey may have to resign as the State Department's leading economics officer.

A footnote: Although Cox inherited a well advanced ITT investigation not too far from the indictment stage, he is giving top priority to getting indictments in the Watergate case itself. What's holding him up is the legal struggle over access to President Nixon's surreptitious tape recordings.

$8.131 billion shared back

Data from the federal Office of Revenue Sharing show that more than 38,000 units of government have received a total of $8.131 billion since the general revenue sharing program was instituted in 1972.

One-third of all shared revenues go directly to the 50 state governments, notes Commerce Clearing House, with the remainder divided among local units of government. It reports that the largest amounts of money distributed to state governments so far are New York, $301 million; California, $288.5 million; Pennsylvania, $141.8 million; Illinois, $139.6 million; Texas, $127.7 million; Michigan, $114.8 million, and Ohio, $108.5 million.

On a percentage basis, 36 per cent of the total $8-plus billion has gone to cities and towns, 25 per cent to counties, 5 per cent to townships (found in only 21 states) and 1.2 per cent to Indian tribes and Alaskan native villages.

When the five-year revenue sharing program has been completed, a grand total of $30.2 billion will have been returned to state and local units of government by the Office of Revenue Sharing.

PAUL HARVEY

The lights are coming on!

Don't you know a lot of politicians are quaking in their shoes since the Agnew kickback accusation. Some practices — longtime standard operating procedure for some politicians — went unnoticed with the lights out.

But the lights are coming on all over the country! What did Vice President Agnew do? We don't yet know. He's been accused, not convicted. But sources close to the Maryland situation allege that Agnew, while an official of that state, accepted a thousand dollars a week from contractors—presumably, in return, he saw that they got state contracts; that after he became Vice President, he received $50,000 in one bundle; that further, he diverted certain campaign contributions to personal use.

And, of course, if it is established that Mr. Agnew did have such other income which he did not declare — then it's a criminal violation of income-tax law.

So, all told, the crimes of which he is "suspected" involves bribery, extortion and tax evasion.

Mr. Agnew says he's innocent and that a thorough investigation will prove his innocence. But surely a lot of politicians of lesser stature are not sleeping very well these nights. After all, if it can happen to him. . .

Watergate and the alleged Baltimore boondoggle are the tip of a submerged iceberg that's menaced our ship of state for a very long time.

Americans allowed cynicism to supplant indignation—as they saw judges spend a quarter-million dollars to get themselves elected to a $50,000-a-year job.

They knew there had to be payola involved, but they figured there was nothing they could do about it. Things are changed now for every sheriff who has accepted pay to look the other way; every mayor who has diverted city equipment to pave his own driveway; every zoning official who has received extra income in cash; every politician who has enjoyed a separate resort home with somebody else paying the bills.

All of the officials, great and small, who figured the "spoils" of public office included a private payoff had to be sobered when the ink hit the fan in Baltimore.

A London tabloid speculates that with both our President and Vice President in trouble, the United States is vulnerable to being overthrown by the military. That's nuts!

There's a safety valve built into our powerhouse. When Uncle Sam gets sick enough, he throws up and gets well because the old boy has a remarkable Constitution.

Licensing of cats

Concerning the voluntary licensing of cats. The word voluntary means that it eventually will become compulsory. Therefore some cats will have license tags on while others won't, so they would be picked up. It's as simple as that.

I phoned three cities, including Ann St. Animal Shelter in Los Angeles. There the man in authority said they don't have it or approve of it because a cat is an independent animal which cannot and should not be confined in any way.

There's a great chance a cat could choke itself in climbing trees or getting caught in bushes. Even a supposedly safe collar comes off and in such cases the collar and tag are both lost. A Riverside authority said it had never worked in any city he knew of and would cost more than the revenue brought in.

Ontario does not license cats. Here their main argument against it is the collar (danger of choking) but mostly the inhumane constant tinkling of the license tag with every move the cat makes would be injurious to the cat's delicate ears and make it very nervous.

Let's be humane. Would a person like a tinkling tag on him? Man is an animal, too, you know, so be humane to all animals. — Mrs. Frank Longo, Pomona.

Variety spices Walnut council

WALNUT — Variety is the theme for the City Council meeting Wednesday night as the panel takes up an old issue over environmental impact reports, initiated action to lower the speed limit permanently on Lemon Avenue, and considers putting the city's lighting district in a consolidated county district.

Another item scheduled for the 8 p.m. session at city hall is landscaping of Valley Boulevard's south side, along a railroad right-of-way. If the discussion produces definite information, says Mayor Richard Laughter, Walnut residents soon will see an improvement in the area.

According to City Manager Andy Lazzaretto, the council will return to conversation over who prepares the city's environmental impact reports. He has previously recommended to the council that Lampman and Associates, contract city engineer, continue preparing reports as in the past. Some councilmen, concerned over the cost of the reports, are weighing a trial arrangement to have the county do the work.

35 m.p.h. on Lemon

Presently, motorists on Lemon Avenue from its start to Vejar Road are driving at a 35-mile-per-hour speed limit. However, this is a temporary posting while construction is under way in the area. Councilmen have asked to make the lower speed limit — it had been 45 m.p.h. — permanent, since traffic is expected to be heavier on the street.

Several areas of Walnut are in a county-administered lighting district. At this time, it is an individual entity which provides street lighting and maintenance at the expense of property owners in the district.

Los Angeles County's Road Department has asked city approval of consolidation of the lighting district into an agency, similar to the Consolidated Fire Protection District, which would include all such districts in the county. Lazzaretto says the county has indicated there will be no change in the tax rate or administration of the district if the change is okayed.

Valley Blvd. Landscaping

Southern Pacific Railroad spokesmen and representatives of the county and of the City of La Puente are expected to be on hand for the discussion about landscaping on Valley Boulevard, Laughter says. Since the area the council will review is in county jurisdiction and controlled by the railroad, he explains, their representatives must detail how the city can promote and assist in the suggested project.

Laughter asked La Puente to participate in the conversation because that city has already worked out similar arrangements for landscaping on a part of the thoroughfare.

These youngsters playing in front of Blandford School in Rowland Heights find new sidewalks just right for riding, skipping, or plain old walking. Today, they used it to attend classes on their first day of the new school year — as did hundreds of other students in the area. Los Angeles County crews completed walks around the neighborhood just in time for the start of school.

Walnut art classes now on schedule through district; music, math next

WALNUT — Art classes for children in the school district here will have an edge over programs conducted in the past: A guide to show teachers what the children have learned in earlier grades, and what they will be expected to know when they move on.

First in a series that will eventually cover all subject areas, the district's "Guide to Art Education" was introduced to instructors last week. It is the finished product of a year's effort by a committee of Walnut art teachers from kindergarten through high school, with participation of a district and county administrator.

Spokesmen for the Walnut Valley Unified School District explain that the art guide is an attempt to tailor curriculum guidelines to the teachers working in the area and to reflect the kind of students in the district. Formerly, it was noted, studies such as this one were performed on the county level and were often little used.

Walnut's art guide is divided into grades, so that a fourth-grade teacher, for example, can see what the basics of art education in third grade should be, and look forward to see what demands will be made on fifth-grade students. Then, relating to the outline for fourth grade, the teacher can set up classes.

In no way is the outline supposed to limit teachers to a certain style of teaching or prevent them from moving ahead, district administrators emphasze.

This year,the district plans to continus the curriculum guides with studies of music and mathematics. These are structured areas of study that will benefit from the district's experience in setting up the art guidelines.

Those participating in the art study last year were Mrs.Lynn Geddes, Mrs. Sue Gilbert, Joe Gillentine, Mrs. Kathryn Horn, Donn Morris, Mrs. Nancy Reck and Mrs. Roslyn Stacy, all teachers. They worked with Jack Jolley, assistant superintendent of educational program and services, and Dr. Frances Hine, representing the Los Angeles County Board of Education.

WALNUT — The shortage of trained paramedical personnel eased slightly recently when 21 Mt. San Antonio College students completed their physical therapy aide training and began work in the health care field.

The new aides will assist registered therapists with treatment procedures, transportation of patients and record keeping. Their training, from instructor William H. Berger, supervisor of the physical therapy department at Covina's Inter-community Hospital, has included physical therapy theory, physics and applications. Methods and procedures for treatment such as hotpacks, infrared heat, diathermy, whirlpool, massage and traction were also part of the course.

Mrs. Margaret Goster, allied health technologies department chairman, said the demand for trained personnel in the medical and health fields has increased in the past five years beyond availability. Aides are contantly needed by hospitals, rehabilitation centers, schools for the handicapped, nursing homes and physical therapists' and doctors' offices.

Another class for physical therapy aides will begin today. Berger will again instruct the class which will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:30 p.m. at Inter-community Hospital.

Walnut school milk prices hold--for now

WALNUT — Despite the end to federal subsidies for school milk programs, Walnut students will be able to buy half-pint cartons of milk at school for a nickel—until the board of trustees has a chance to consider the problem.

Until this year the federal government picked up the tab for any cost over a nickel on the price of the half-pint cartons. But now the subsidy has been dropped, while the price of the milk is up to 8.7 cents—or nearly a four-cent loss when the students buy milk for five cents.

Shortened days in R.H. elementaries

TODAY'S Women

Bechtold-Hawes vows recited in Redlands

A reception at Griswold's Country House, Redlands, followed the afternoon wedding of Miss Jill Hawes and Gordon Bechtold in the Chapel of the Grail at the First Congregational Church, Redlands.

The former Miss Hawes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hawes of Redlands. The groom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Bechtold of Pomona and the late Arthur G. Bechtold.

The Rev. Douglas McKell of Santa Barbara, a friend of the bride and groom, officiated at the candlelight nuptial ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white gown which she designed and made. The gown's bodice was of French eyelet. Eyelet also formed a wide band at the hem of the skirt. The bouffant bridal veil of silk illusion was held by a cap of miniature white carnations, yellow rosebuds and baby's breath. The same flowers were carried in the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Michael Vickers of Orange was her sister's matron of honor, and Mrs. Theodore Hanson of Temple City, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Christina Hanson, niece of the groom, was the flower girl.

The groom was attended by Dennis Fahey of San Mateo, best man, and David Bancroft

The couple is making its home in Minneapolis, Minn., where the groom will attend the Institute of Child Development at the University of Minnesota. He will be working toward a Ph.D. in psychology.

Mr. Bechtold graduated with honors from University of California at Santa Barbara in June. He received the University Service Award. The groom is a 1969 graduate of Ganesha High School.

"Model-etts" does remarkable things. It helps you cut down your caloric intake by a natural automatic curbing of the appetite and of the desire for foods, resulting automatically in a reduced intake of food.
Before "Model-etts" was offered to you, it was tested clinically by the doctors on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.
The doctors carefully checked results, and here is what they found:
1. Weight losses of 6 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever.
2. 96% of the men and women who used "Model-etts" lost weight.
"Model-etts" is absolutely safe. It is a food adjuvant - not a drug.
So, start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches. If your condition is glandular or organic, see your doctor. "Model-etts" may help you stay on the diet your doctor recommends. Ask him about it.
You can get a full month's supply of "Model-etts" for $3.00 on money back guarantee. In clinical tests, "Model-etts" was 96% successful. "Model-etts" may not be 100% successful in all cases, but you take no risk in trying "Model-etts" on our Money Back Guarantee.
Come to General Nutrition to get "MODEL-ETTS." The sooner you start, the sooner you may have the loss of weight you yearn for.
Sounds too good to be true, but it is true!
How Model-etts Curbs Your Appetite
In the opinion of the supervising physician, based on the average of weight losses in the clinical tests, his calculations showed that 1 Model-etts Wafer has the hunger satisfying capacity of 1 pound boiled potatoes or 4 eggs or 5 slices of white bread, yet it contains only 6 calories.

TV pilot examines drugs, cycle gangs

GLENDALE — "Challenge," a television pilot telling of the experiences of Pam Smith with drugs and motorcycle gangs, will be shown on KHOF, Channel 30, at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday and Sept. 19.

"Drugs and motorcycle gangs used to be a way of life for Pam," says producer Glenn Timmons. "Now she is a den mother for a Cub Scout group, lives in a middle class neighborhood and sings in the choir of her church."

Timmons, a former drug user himself, said, "In this TV pilot we have attempted to show parents how a normal young girl gets involved in drugs. We do this by retracing her life through comments by her father and friends, but most significant is hearing it straight from Pam which gives to parents a real insight into how their children are growing up."

The program is sponsored by Southern California Teen Challenge, anti-drug abuse program. Teen Challenge is testing this pilot for audience reaction. If the test proves favorable, Teen Challenge will be presenting a new case history each week over this same station. Additional case histories will cover alcoholism, exconvicts, gang leaders, unwed mothers and a variety of other social problems.

N.Y. Times report

Nixon associate under probe for organized crime dealings

NEW YORK (UPI) — California millionaire C. Arnholt Smith, a personal friend and political associate of President Nixon for more than 25 years, is the latest target of federal investigators, The New York Times reported on Monday.

In a dispatch from Washington, Times reporter Denny Walsh said that the federal investigators are interested in Smith's alleged dealings with organized crime figures.

The report also stated that Smith's business empire within the last year has come under the scrutiny of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Internal Revenue Service, the FBI and the Controller of the Currency.

In a recent appearance before a grand jury in San Diego, the banker and industrialist invoked his Fifth Amendment rights against self incrimination, the Times said.

The newspaper also reported that the naming of San Diego lawyer John Andrew Donnelley to the board of directors of Westgate-California Corporation, a Smith Conglomerate, added to Smith's difficulties.

The Times said Donnelley has interested federal enforcement officials for years because of his long association as both a business and legal representative to organized crime figures.

The Times said that it had learned from reliable government sources that Smith and his enterprises have a long history of dealings with organized crime and that it has records to back these claims.

Smith, 74, and President Nixon have been friends for many years and the President on occasion has sought Smith's counsel, the Times said. Over the years, Smith has contributed hundreds of thousands of dollars to Nixon's various political campaigns.

Last month the IRS filed a $22.8 million tax lien against Smith which the California millionaire called a bureaucratic attempt to develop a "little Watergate" and accused the government agency of attacking him as "a friend of President Nixon."

U.S. business plans huge expansion

NEW YORK (UPI) — American businss plans to spend a record $105.5 billion for new facilities this year an increase of nearly $17 billion, or more than 19 per cent over 1972, reports the Economics Department of McGraw-Hill Publications in its 26th Annual Survey of Business' Plan for New Plants and Equipment.

The survey says this is the highest percentage gain planned since the 1956 spring survey when business investment was expected to soar by 30 per cent. "1973 investment plans have been stepped up since our fall survey, taken in October, indicated an 11 per cent increase," said Douglas Greenwald, McGray-Hill's chief economist.

U.S. troop strength to fall below 40,000 in Thailand

BANGKOK (UPI) — American troop strength in Thailand will fall below 40,000 by the end of the month for the first time since the massive buildup of the 1960s, military sources said Monday.

The first two phases of the U.S. troop withdrawal program will be complete by the end of September with 3,650 U.S. servicemen and about 110 warplanes redeployed

Military spokesmen said an 18-plane squadron of U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom jets flew out of Thailand before dawn Monday bound for Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. The redeployment of the 58th Tactical Fighter Squadron from Ubon airbase, 300 miles northeast of Bangkok, involved 420 men.

It was the second squadron of F4s pulled out of Ubon in four days. Military sources said the departure of the 58th TFW had been set for the weekend but was postponed because of a 2,000-mile long, 100-mile wide front of bad weather in the Pacific near Guam, where the Phantoms stop for fuel.

When the pullout began last month, there were about 42,000 American troops here along with more than 650 planes—the heaviest concentration of U.S. airpower outside the continental United States.

Still waiting to leave in the second phase redeployment is a squadron of F111 swing-wing bombers based at Takhli, 100 miles north of Bangkok. The planes and 350 men will return to Nellis Air Force Base outside Las Vegas, Nev., later this month.

No B52s of the 40 to 50 at U Tapao base have yet been pulled out, although some are expected to be withdrawn in subsequent pullouts. The United States also operates U2 reconnaissance planes out of U Tapao.

By mid-month, the U S. will have closed down operations at Nam Phong air airbase, 240 miles northeast of Bangkok. This will leave six Thai installations still in operation. The bases technically are controlled by the Thais.

Decision to overtake vital

If you can keep from looking at either the South or the East hands you can get full enjoyment out of today's article.

We will make you West and compel you to lead the six of hearts against South's three no trump contract. Your partner wins the trick with the ace and returns the queen.

If you let your partner hold the trick and he has the three of hearts in his hand he will continue and you will set declarer two tricks. If he doesn't hold that little card, declarer will have time to knock out your ace of diamonds before you can cash more than three heart tricks and will make his contract.

If you overtake your partner's queen and play the nine-spot you will set up two more heart tricks and beat the contract unless declarer can collect eight tricks in the black suits. What do you do?

The answer is that you should overtake. You will look mighty silly if your play gives him the contract, but the odds are against his being able to take eight tricks in the black suits and you want to beat him if you possibly can do so.

No player award for Cal Poly

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — A technicality kept one of Cal Poly's players from being named College Division Player of the Week Monday at the weekly Southern California Football Writers Luncheon.

The Broncos were the only College Division team that were scheduled so the writers did not pick a player of the week in that division.

"It's too bad," coach Roy Anderson told the assembled writers. "We had some fellows that earned it. Our left handed quarterback Jim Zorn did an excellent job. He hit on nine of 21 passes for 136 yards and two touchdowns and also ran for 79 yards on 12 carries."

"Fresno St. (17-9 losers to Poly) may have supplied us with more movitation," Anderson continued. They were all at a banquet Friday night. That left us standing outside the darkened stadium unable to get in and practice."

"After an hour or so we turned around and went back to our motel," he related. "So we had to practice Saturday morning. The radio and televisions station broadcasters were all talking about the game with San Jose State the following week. That probably convinced our players they were overlooking us."

Anderson told the writers that Cal Poly this year probably has more quality players than ever before. This week the Broncos travel to Cedar City, Utah for a game with Southern Utah State College.

"They have really recruited players from Southern Calif.," Anderson remarked. "They must have 50 per cent of their players from this area.

John McKay of USC was like a man who had a thousand other things he'd rather be doing. McKay talked, but said little, professing to know very little about Arkansas, the Trojans' opponent Saturday in their season opener. And could tell very little about his own.

"No coach knows what's going to happen in the first game," McKay said. "If he says he does he's lying and I'm not going to lie to you."

When questioned, McKay did reveal that tailback Allen Carter will not play against the Razorbacks Saturday. Carter, former Bonita star, has a hyperextension of one of his knees.

Arkansas Publicist Dave Cawood told writers that sophomore Mike Kirkland would be the starting quarterback against USC. "Kirkland is only the second sophomore signal-caller ever to start for Arkansas," Cawood said. "We have only three players who started against Southern Cal last year."

Pepper Rodgers of UCLA admitted things have been tough since Saturday's loss to Nebraska. "Even my own dog bit me," he lamented. Rodgers would not give credence to observations that his big linemen were slow. "That's an opinion of someone in the press box," he said. "I don't think we'll have a team (this year) that isn't quick enough to be a good team."

General Manager Don Klosterman of the Rams predicted the Rams are going to be a running team that can throw the ball extremely well.

Ali bicycles to a split decision

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)— Muhammad Ali couldn't dance all night but he managed to jitterbug long enough to dazzle Ken Norton into defeat Monday night.

Ali, desperately fighting age on his way back to a title match, and Norton, anxious to prove his broken-jaw victory over the former champion March 21 was no fluke, battled through a ferocious 12-round slugfest with Ali taking the split decision.

Ali set a tremendous pace and except for a few lapses in the sixth, seventh and 11th rounds, kept it up—despite severe pain in his right hand, which he acknowledged, afterwards, might have been broken in the sixth.

Norton refused to give an inch.

"I had something to prove to myself," an exhausted Ali said. "I was angry with myself for getting so out of shape for my last fight and I had to prove that I could still fight like I know I can."

Ali, a member of the Black Muslim faith, said he believed in predesination.

"It is my destiny to return to the championship," he said.

Unlike his performance in previous fights since his return to the ring following a 3 ½ year layoff, Ali was all business against Norton this time. He said he as "in perfect physical condition" and that he was glad he was, considering Norton's outstanding performance.

Ali bicycled swiftly around the ring, tiring and frustrating Norton, constantly sticking him with twisting jabs. In the early rounds, Norton seemed unsure, Ali's speed weakening him as he chased a floating target.

Through the first five rounds Ali beat a path at the perimeter of the ring running, but stinging Norton repeatedly with left jabs.

It was a nostalgic sight, Ali sharp and trim, moving like Cassius Clay, but mellowed by two defeats and advancing age.

Ali's 31-year-old legs, which have begun to show the effects of 44 pro bouts, caused him to slow his pace to about two-thirds speed in the sixth. Norton responded by landing his best punches but an angered Ali shot back with a stunning series of connecting punches.

Ali's pace slowed further in the seventh and Norton again cornered him and shook him with the hard blows. Tired, Ali clung to the pressing Norton for moments of rest. After maintaining an even pace through the eighth and ninth, Ali danced again in the 10th as he seemed to be revitalized. He made Norton run and effectively jabbed him. Blood trickled slightly from Norton's left eye and a mouse was growing under his right eye.

Both fighters were shoulder and leg weary in the final two rounds, Norton taking a slight edge in the 11th and Ali maintaining command in the 12th.

Although Ali received the split decision (6-5, 5-6, 7-5), Norton felt he should have been judged the winner.

"I thought I hit him with better punches and I was confident in the end that I had won," Norton said. "I knew it would be close, but I thought I had it."

Ali said he would return the favor to Norton and "give him a rematch if he wanted one." Norton said he did.

Heavyweight champion George Foreman watched from near ringside and called it a "great fight. It was two heavyweights throwing a lot of leather around."

Foreman also said he expects to have a match with Jerry Quarry probably "all sewn up by the end of the week."

The title fight, which will probably be held the first week in November, was virtually assured when Quarry manhandled Tony Doyle in a preliminary bout.

And now for the Cincinnati Reds

Defending Spark Plug Classic champ enters

ONTARIO — Paul Smart of Maidstone, England, who struck it rich as the 1972 winner here, became the first entry for the third annual Champion Sparkplug Motorcycle Classics at Ontario Motor Speedway, Sept. 28-30.

The English road racer, now riding a 750cc water-cooled Suzuki, collected more than $30,000 as high point man in the twin 125-mile heats at Ontario a year ago. That payoff made him decide to return for a full second year of American Motorcycle Association road racing.

This year, Smart and 80 other experts will be looking at more than $100,000 in posted awards in the world's richest road race.

The Champion sponsors and new Ontario Motor Speedway directors will stage novice and junior events over the three-day period as well as the expert competition for national championship points. Jim Cook, general manager of OMS, is serving as race organizer, and J. C. Agajanian, an OMS partner and long-time AMA organizer, as a special consultant.

Smart, one of several international stars on the American tour, rode a Kawasaki to victory last year as he placed fifth and first in the heats to reign as the 250-mile overall winner. In 1973, he added the Dallas 75-mile event to his new list of American champions iis.

Born in Ken, England, the 38-year-old Smart was a late starter as road racers go. He won his first victory at Brands Hatch, England in 1965.

He made his American debut at Daytona, Fla., in 1971, and was almost 40 seconds ahead of that giant event with 10 laps to go when he broke down. Smart decided on American competition seriously last year, and scored three second places in addition to his Ontario victory.

In addition to his Dallas triumph, Smart won England's four biggest races in the same weekend last month.

"I still like the English competition better, because it's shorter," Smart declares, "but the American races pay bloody well. You could say I came back for the dollars."

Smart's own knee-dragging style has already created a following in may parts of the United States that helps augment that dollar potential.

CINCINNATI — Back on July 1, pinch-hitter Hal King hit a three-run homer off of Dodger pitcher Don Sutton to give the Cincinnati Reds a dramatic ninth-inning victory here at Riverfront Stadium.

It didn't seem like that much at the time but it is looking like the biggest hit in the National League West season as it turned the momentum around.

Just the day before, the Dodgers had taken an exicting 10th-inning victory over the Reds to jump 11 games ahead of the defending National League champions.

Cincinnati are about ready to drop out of contention.

But King's dramatic homer turned things around. The Reds went on to sweep a doubleheader and down the Dodgers again the next night.

Los Angeles returns to Riverfront Stadium tonight to open a crucial two-game series with the pennant at stake.

Thanks to a recent seven-game win streak plus a doubleheader sweep at Atlanta Sunday, the Reds enter the final 18 games of the season three games ahead of the Dodgers, who finally snapped a painful nine-game losing streak by beating the San Diego Padres Sunday.

Both games start at 5 p.m. (PDT) with KTTV (Channel 11) and KFI (640) carrying all the action.

Starting with King's homer, the Big Red Machine has won 48 and lost 20, a .706 percentage, while the Dodgers have played .500 ball with 33 wins and losses.

Besides owning a three-game margin, Sparky Anderson's Reds also enjoy the schedule advantage with 13 of their final 18 games at friendly Riverfront Stadium while the Dodgers play 11 of their final 18 on the road.

Of course, Cincinnati still must visit Dodger Stadium for a three-game weekend series on Sept. 21-23.

Don Sutton (16-9) will pitch for L.A. tonight against Cincinnati lefthander Ross Grimsley (13-9) while Claude Osteen will face Jack Billingham (17-8) Wednesday. The Dodgers go to Houston for four games Thursday, fighting an 1-4 season record at the Astrodome this season.

As expected, Dodger manager Walt Alston refuses to say this series means the pennant. The Dodgers will leave here either one, three or five games behind.

"I can't answer how important this series is," Alston said. "How do I know what will happen after we leave here. The way this season has been, anything can happen."

Alston is delighted the pressure of the losing streak is over. "The players all feel better now," the skipper from nearby Darrtown, Ohio, observed. "I suppose Sunday's win takes off some of the pressure."

The Dodger manager indicated he will start as many righhanded batters as possible against Grimsley, meaning the captain, Willie Davis, will probably get another night to rest his injured legs.

Catcher Joe Ferguson, the hero of Sunday's victory with his 23rd home runs and 84th RBI, thinks the Dodgers are ready roll.

"We have our pitchers well again and pitching is the name of the game." the Dodgers' biggest run producer said.

Ferguson definitely feels Sutton is ready to pitch a great game tonight.

"Don should be at his peak against the Reds," Fergy explained. "Even though he wasn't able to win againt San Diego last week, he did pass the test on his shoulder so there should be no holling him back now."

The Reds have jumped into first place with greatly-improved hitting, shaking the early season slump.

Pete Rose is on his way to another batting title after pounding out six hits in 10 at bats Sunday at Atlanta to boost his average to .348. Rose has scored 105 runs and has 210 hits.

Catcher Johnny Bench has driven in 101 runs while Tony Perez has knocked in 91 with a .311 average.,

House approves blackout ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five days before the season kickoff, the House Commerce Committee swiftly approved today a bill to prohibit television blackouts of home national football league games that are sold out 72 hours in advance.

The bill, similar to one passed by the Senate last week, was approved almost unanimously by voice vote.

Hank rips No. 710

ATLANTA (UPI) — Hank Aaron figures the Braves' schedule for the closing three weeks of the season is in his favor in his pursuit of Babe Ruth's home run record.

The way Aaron sees it, "most of our remaining games are with clubs in contention for the (National League West) division title. This means they are going to have their most reliable pitchers out there, people I know, not experimenting with a bunch of youngsters.

"I feel I have a better chance of hitting against pitchers I've faced before," said Aaron.

Aaron hit career home run No. 710 Monday night off San Francisco's Don Carrithers to close to within four of Ruth's mark.

The Braves, who won Monday's game 10-4, have 16 games left to play, nine in Atlanta Stadium where everybody's home runs appear to come easier than in most other ball parks.

Monday's homer was the 37th of the season for the 39-year-old Atlanta outfielder. Aaron singled in the first inning, hit a two-run homer high over the centerfield fence in the third and then left the game in the middle of the fourth because of a "stomach disorder."

Lange, Sands impress as Angels down Sox 7-1

ANAHEIM (UPI)—The California Angels have found a new battery that may work well for them—next season anyway.

Rookies Dick Lange, the pitcher, and Charlie Sands, the catcher, combined to beat the Chicago White Sox 7-1 Monday night. Lange, now 2-1, pitched a four-hitter for his first complete major league victory. It was his fifth start since he came up from Salt Lake City.

Sands doubled in two runs in the second when the Angels took a 3-1 lead and also got two singles. Mickey Rivers, another Salt Lake returnee, tripled in two runs and also doubled. Vada Pinson doubled in a pair in the eighth.

Tony Muser got a first inning homer off Lange, his fourth, but had to leave the game on a stretcher in the sixth when he dislocated his kneecap trying to run out a grounder.

"We got a few runs early and I made up my mind to challenge the hitters," Lange said. "Muser's homer didn't bother me. He always hit me well in the minors. I hope to get a couple more starts. I feel like I have a chance to break into the rotation here next year."

Sands who belonged to Pittsburgh in spring training, then went to Detroit and then to Salt Lake, said, "It's been a dream come true getting to play with the Angels. I'm thankful to Harry Dalton (general manager). I've been trying to convince everyone I can I catch in the major leagues. I was in the bullpen with the Pirates. With Detroit I didn't have a chance because of Duke Sims who's got three hands. I can catch as well as hit. I want to show people here I'm a complete catcher."

Sands is 7-for-17 with four RBIs since he came up. Rivers is 12-for-31.

Nolan Ryan, 16-16, goes for the Angels tonight against Wilbur Wood, 23-18.

USC's Davis expecting the same this year

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Anthony Davis. The incredible sophomore. The son of a postal clerk and a teacher from a poor black section in the San Fernando Valley.

"I'm used to other teams emphasizing on me," said the University of Southern California's exciting tailback, now a junior. "They did it in high school and I expect them to do it this year."

Davis, 20, and his No. 1-ranked teammates open defense of their national championship Saturday night against Arkansas at the Coliseum here.

Before even the first kickoff, the pressure is mounting on the young man with wings on his football cleats. He will be, in the opinion of many, the first player ever to win the coveted Heisman Trophy twice.

"I just can't think about the Heisman," said the personable Davis, who is a leading candidate to win his first one this year. "There are other things to worry about. The Rose Bowl. Winning all our games. Being the best team in the country again.

"If all those things happen, the awards will take care of themselves. I'm very honored to have my name mentioned when they talk about the Heisman but I'd like to think of myself as team oriented."

Davis may have gained fame on an open field but it's a different story on an open road. He fell asleep at the wheel of his brother's sports car and crashed early one morning two weeks after the Rose Bowl. The auto was a total wreck.

His left leg and right knee were injured but there was no permanent damage. He played the outfield for USC's NCAA championship baseball team last spring. During the summer, he played baseball with the San Fernando Orioles, an amateur team sponsored by the Baltimore Orioles.

A 5-9, 190-pounder, Davis started his sophomore year at USC as John McKay's third string tailback behind Rod McNeill and Allen Carter. He wound up as a second team All-America.

Injuries to McNeill, now a senior, and Carter, now a junior, gave him his chance. In the Trojans' last six games, Davis scored 15 touchdowns, six against Notre Dame, and averaged 154 yards per game rushing.

For the season, he carried the ball 207 times for 1,191 yards—a 5.8 average—and tallied 17 TDs. He became the first USC sophomore to gain more than 1,000 yards in one season and only the fifth player in a Trojan uniform to go over the magic number.

Davis' name ranks right there with O.J. Simpson and Mike Garrett, Heisman Trophy winners for Southern Cal in 1968 and 1965. McKay compares him with Gale Sayers, the great running back of Kansas and the Chicago Bears.

But the converted high school quarterback is taking nothing for granted. He's looking over his shoulder—at McNeill and Carter.

"Nothing is for certain," he stressed. "I know the other guy can take my job as easy as I got mine. There are a lot of great athletes at this school."

The 1972 USC team is rated as one of the greatest in college grid history, going 12-0 and pulverizing Woody Hayes and Ohio State 42-17 in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

"It won't be as easy for us this year," said Davis. "We have the potential to be No. 1 again but we know every team will be shooting at us. There'll be everything to gain and nothing to lose for them."

The pressure?

"There was," he answered, "a lot of pressure in the last three games last season and I think I handled it well. But I'm glad I got a taste of it at this level. Now I know what I'm in for."

One thing is bothering him, though. He suspects there's a dognaper on campus.

"I've had two poodles stolen since I've been here," he explained. "They just disappeared."

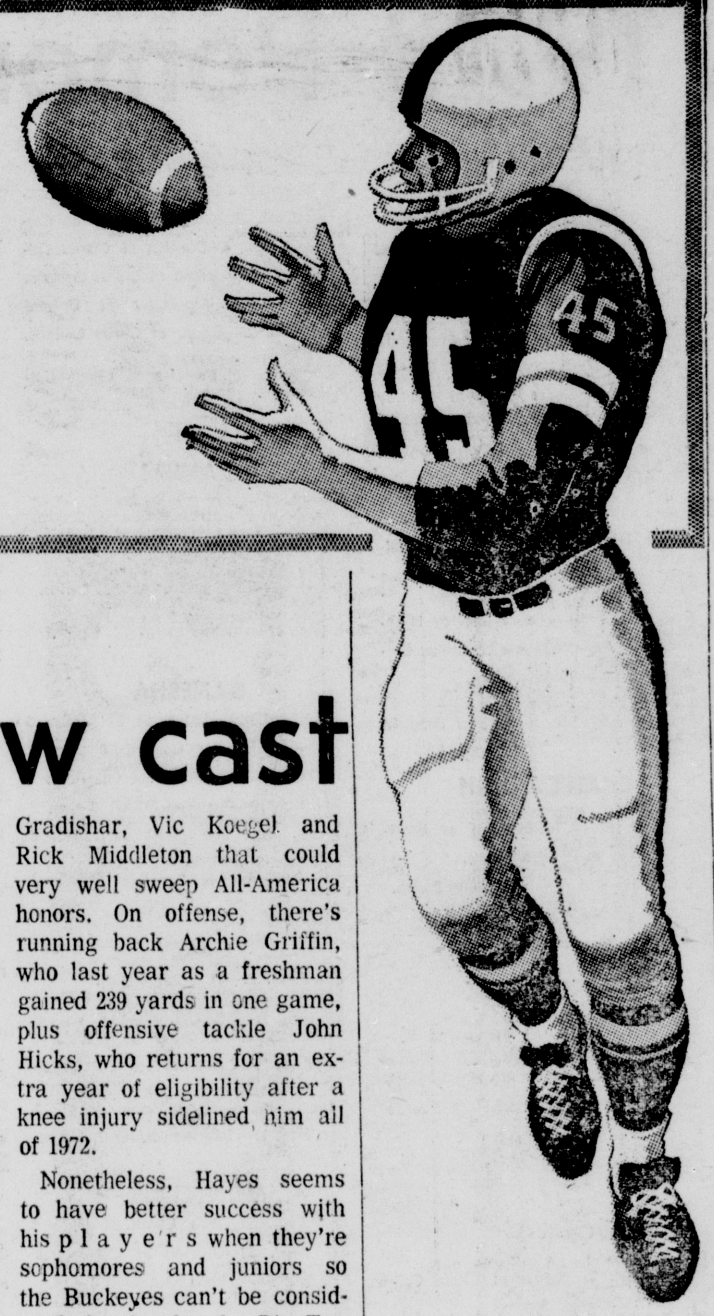
FOOTBALL PREVIEW '73

All You Want to Know About The . . .
Valley High School and College Football Teams



College football '73:

It's same show with a new cast

NEW YORK (UPI) —College Football '73: The names have changed but the top 20 looks to be a carbon copy of College Football '72.

Gone are the folks like Johnny Rodgers, Greg Pruitt, Rich Glover and Bert Jones who grabbed the headlines a year ago and in their places come an all new sast of All-Americas.

Departed also from the '72 scene are a host of coaches whose names have become synonymous with Bowl games— among them Bob Devaney of Nebraska, Chuck Fairbanks at Oklahoma and Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State.

So if that sounds like a major shakeup in the ratings may be coming, forget it. Southern California, Nebraska, Ohio State, Texas, Alabama, Michigan, Penn State, Tennessee —those same schools that brought you "Bowl Fever" a year ago—are back again and just as strong despite, for the most part, a heavily revamped cast of characters.

The UPI Board of Coaches has overwhelmingly installed Southern California as the choice to repeat as National Champion and even if the Trojans should falter, the 1973 titlist will likely be found among last year's top 10 as well.

MIDWEST

Ohio State or Michigan—take your choice—the Big Ten is almost certain to be won by one or the other. After all, that's what happened for the past five straight years. About the only big changes in the Big Ten for 1973 are the enactment of the red shirt rule and the abolishment of the "no repeat" policy to the Rose Bowl. Neither figures to have any significant effect this season.

Woody Hayes at Ohio State has perhaps the finest array of veteran talent in the country. Included are a linebacking corps of Randy Gradishar, Vic Koegel and Rick Middleton that could very well sweep All-America honors. On offense, there's running back Archie Griffin, who last year as a freshman gained 239 yards in one game, plus offensive tackle John Hicks, who returns for an extra year of eligibility after a knee injury sidelined him all of 1972.

Nonetheless, Hayes seems to have better success with his players when they're sophomores and juniors so the Buckeyes can't be considered shoo-ins for the Big Ten at this juncture.

As for Michigan, look for Bo Schembechler to stay neck-and-neck with his Ohio neighbors right down to their annual season-end showdown Nov. 24. Workhorse fullback Ed Shuttlesworth and quarterback Dennis Franklin head the Wolverines' backfield which returns intact and on defense, tackle Dave Gallagher will get his share of All-America notices.

The rest of the Big Ten figures to be a dogfight with Illinois, Indiana, Purdue and Michigan State somewhere in the middle and Iowa, Northwestern and Minnesota straggling behind.

Biggest news in the Big Ten for '73 is the unprecedented turnover in coaches. Alex Agase has moved from Northwestern to Purdue, Johnny Pont shifts from Indiana to Northwestern, Lee Corso moves in from Louisville to take over the Indiana reigns and Dennie Stoltz replaces Daugherty at Michigan State.

Notre Dame again looks to be the best of the midwest independents, but 1973 may be a rebuilding year for Ara Parseghian. The usual cries of optimism from South Bend have been noticeably quieted this summer and although the Irish schedule retains its customary band of patsies (Pittsburgh, Rice, Navy, Army etc.), there isn't a bonafide sure-shot All-America at Notre Dame for the first time in almost a decade.

SOUTH

If the East and Midwest take on a familiar look for 1973, so too does the South-

Broncos face tough slate

POMONA — In 1972 Cal Poly ended the season with a five-game losing streak which ruined a what had started out as a fine year.

The final 1972 record was 4-6, and it will be a tough row to hoe in 1973 as well.

This will be a rebuilding year for the Broncos with only 18 letterman on the 50-man roster. Only 10 are seniors.

On top of that, the Broncos are up against a tough schedule that includes the likes of Fresno State, Southern Utah, Sacramento State, Cal State L. A., Cal Lutheran, Chico State and U. S. International University (USIU).

And those are the breathers.

Beginning Oct. 13, CP begins tangling with Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, followed by UC Riverside, CS Northridge, and CS Fullerton. All of which make up the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA), one of the toughest small college conferences in the nation.

Of course the prime ingredient to a successful team is the coaching staff. Campus scuttlebutt has it that the 1973 staff is one of the better organized coaching corps ever assembled at Poly.

This year's coaches include head coach Roy Anderson, assistants, Bob Nero, Dan Peterson, Ken Cochrane, Dexter Win and Stan Ford.

Among the new coaches are Marv Weetman, who joined the staff after several years with the Washington Huskies, who serves as head assistant coach and defense coordinator and Art Torres, who comes from the University of Nevada at Las Vegas, in his first full season of what he hopes to be an illustrious coaching career.

"We're short of people but the people we have are good ball players," said Torres who handles the offensive line. "The team has good morale, is working hard and is dedicated."

Bronco coach Roy Anderson

"Among the problem we are facing at this stage of the season are: they haven't been together long enough to know each others' moves. We must continue to work towards that unity. And since we lack depth, we can't afford to get anybody hurt," said Torres.

The octet is young and inexperienced but are aggressive. Freshman Ed Tyler, (6-3, 230 a Claremont High graduate, has all the tools of being a very fine gridder but lacks experience.

Among the sophomores, Steve Weiss, center (6-3, 220) is the leader of the line and brings some experience to the unit since he started as a freshman last year.

Guard Jeff Buhr, (6-0, 190) adds determination while letterman Pat Jamison (6-0, 190) is very assertive with his quickness, speed and determination.

The juniors are all transfers with Steve Sellotto, and Randy Daniels coming to Poly from a very fine El Camino JC. Camino's only loss last year was at the hands of Pasadena which played Fresno for the state championship.

Sellotto is a tackle standing 6-2, 230. He is quick, strong and is the best fundimentally sound player on the squad while Daniels (6-0, 210) is a quick guard that likes to hit.

Greg Cruz will run for Poly

The other transfers are Vern Smith, from East Los Angeles, who stands 6-0, 225 but still needs to get into shape and Frank Pelli, a 5-11, 170 guard.

Mountie quarterback key to big winning year in Walnut

WALNUT — Head coach Mal Eaton begins his third season at Mt. San Antonio College this fall, and if all indications are accurate No. 3 will be chamed.

The 1973 Mounties look stronger when any MSAC team since 1967, when Dennis Shaw quarterback a Veryl Lillywhite—coached team to a 7-2 record. The Mounties haven't been above .500 since then.

But with another strong-armed quarterback, Steve Myer, returned for his sophomore year at the valley's largest community college, the Mounties are expected to win big.

Myer, who prepped under Eaton at West Covina High, ranked No. 1 among the nation's community college passers last year, completing 181 of 331 passes for 2,244 yards and 14 touchdowns.

His favorite receivers, Rick Panneton (40 catches for 562 yards) and Don Moore (36 catches for 700 yards and seven touchdowns) won't be back. Panneton transferred to the University of Nebraska and Moore elected to concentrate on track this year.

But Eaton and his staff feel they have adquate replacements, in the form of letterman Gil Stewart and newcomers Art Escajeda of La Puente, John McIntyre of Walnut and David Vega of Edgewood. Stewart caught 18 passes for 123 yards and three touchdowns last year.

Myer and his receivers were the primary offensive weapon of 1972, and the lack of versatility caught up with the team in the latter part of the season. After a 4-1 start, the Mounties completed the year with only one victory in five games for a 5-5 record overall and 1-4 in the South Coast Conference.

The first priority this year, therefore, was to complement Myer's ability to pass with a sound running attack, which will operate out of the I-formation.

Behind Myer, Teddy Farmer, who gained 316 yards a year ago, is a likely candidate to start at tailback. Tom Marcarello, a 6-foot, 190-pound from Royal Oak had the inside track at fullback. Newcomers John Huston, Mike Fest, Darwin Brown and Mike Young will be competing for starting assignments also.

Up front offensively, the coaching staff has to rebuild a porous line. Returning are a couple of 230 pounders in guard Al Clegg and tackle Rick Gohl.

Defensively, there are a number of returnees, including interior linemen Mike Hammers, Paul Stroschein, Chuck Shrewsberry and Mike Standridge. At linebacker Richard Gomez will be a fixture along with an all-CIF newcomer from Alhambra, Pete Constantino.

In the secondary, Tom MacKenzie, an All-South Coast selectee last year will be back along with Russ Dion, and Bill Keilty. Newcomers Tyrone Johnson (Ganesha) and Sam Jenkins, a track star, who is playing his first season of football, will see action.

After scrimmages with Cypress and El Camino last week, the Mounties will open the nine-game regular season Saturday night against old rival Citrus College at Citrus Stadium.

Citrus must rebuild backfield to contend

AZUSA — Under head coach John Strycula, Citrus College has claimed football championships in four of the last six years.

To make it five out of seven and to successfully defend 1972's co-championship in the Mission Conference Strycula and his staff will have to rebuild an entire backfield and replace the state's top community college rusher, Ken Williams.

A tall chore indeed. But Strycula is confident he has the horses to do that and chalk up another title for the Owls.

"We'll miss Ken and we'll have to work extra hard to somehow compensate for his loss," said the coach as 1973 drills began. "But we are optimistic about our chances. For the first time since 1967 when wa had Dave Holman here at quarterback, we have at least three good prospects for the signal-calling job."

One of them is Strycula's son Bill, a freshman out of Royal Oak High, who will compete with Steve Smith of Damien, and Mike Garica of Bishop Amat.

Last year's starting QB Grady Hopkins has been shifted to fullback, where he has made a successful transition.

Besides Hopkins, other offensive veterans include wide receivers Cecil Hooks and Fred Ross, tight end Jeff Russell, guard Lou Franuchi and running back Gary Gladd to name a few.

Defensively, however, is where the Owls shine as the 1973 opener against visiting Mt. San Antonio College approaches Saturday night at Citrus Stadium.

The Owls have five all-conference returnees, including linebacker Gerry Hopkins, who was a JC All-American honorable mention selection. The others include backer Tony Gomez, tackles John Allen and Leon Hooker and middle guard Mark Bartulis.

The Owls appear set to improve on last year's 5-4-1 overall record and 5-1-1 Mission Conference mark. Strycula sees last year co-champion Saddleback, and San Bernardino, as the teams to beat. The latter will be looking to prove itself after being denied the conference crown due to rules violations.

Panthers face tough slate with new cast

ALTA LOMA — It's out of the frying pan and into the fire right from the start for Chaffey College this season.

The Panthers open Saturday night against Cerritos College at Panther Stadium and follow that tough assignment a week later by opening the Mission Conference against co-champion Saddleback.

On top of that, Coach Willie Richardson will be without the services of quarterback Ray Alexander, who was one of the top five community college passers in the state a year ago.

Trying to fill Alexander's shoes will be two freshmen, Mario Caridi of Montclair and Mark Tundis of Chaffey.

The Panthers should be strongest on defense, where a trio of tough linebackers will lead.

Chaffey may be hard-pressed to improve on last year's 3-7 record unless Richardson can get his young players to jell early.

Coach's percentage

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler ranked fifth among active coaches in winning percentage, having compiled a mark of .747 over the course of nine seasons prior to the 1972 season.

Stag coach greets 1973 with caution

CLAREMONT — Th situation with the Claremont-Mudd football team is entirely different this year than almost any year since John Zinda took over the coaching reins.

In Zinda's first year, 1968, the Stags were 3-4-2 overall. But in conference play they wound up at the .500 level with a 2-2 mark. From that time until last season C-M was always a winner.

Last year was a disaster. Zinda's team was rated a heavy favorite to take the conference title because he had all his starters back from '71 except quarterback Glen Grossman and center Pete Merandi.

But the Stags were upset, 14-6, in their opener at U of San Deigo and went on to record only three wins overall and suffer the first losing conference season (1-4) in Zinda's five years at the school.

This year the youthful coach is determined to have a better team. But he is not overenthusiastic about this year's possibilities.

"Our prospects will depend on who our quarterback will be," Zinda commented. "We have our defense back, except for Chris Stecher. But we have to rebuild our offensive line as we lost four our starters through graduation.

In his search for a quarterback, Zinda has numbers to start with. No less than seven candidates are being given a thorough look.

The top three are all sophomores. Hank Christman, a 5-11, 165 pounder, is from Yakima, Washington, Jaime Opatrny, 6-2 and 195 pounds, is from Pales Verdes. He did not come out for football last year. Steve Schaumleffel hails from San Rafael.

Schaumleffel may find it tough going because of his size. He's only 5-10 and 155 pounds.

Three of the other four are freshman. The fourth is senior Jim Webster who played safety last year but also spelled starter Craig Ducey

Can Leos repeat 1972 success?

LA VERNE — Roland Ortmayer, dean of Southern California college football coaches, is starting his 26th year at La Verne College.

"Ort" isn't the only member of his staff with a lot of time coaching the Leopards. Dwight Hanawalt, who heads the offense, is in his 28th year. Ben Hines, the defensive mastermind, is beginning his 14th.

"One of the biggest things we have going for us," observed Ortmayer, "is the way we work together. We never have coaches' meetings. We've been together so long we know each other inside out and everybody just goes ahead and does his job."

Relative "newcomers" to the staff are Rex Huigens who handles the defensive secondary (4 years) and Emmett Terrell who is in charge of the defensive line (3 years).

Last year the Leos had a good (6-3) season. La Verne opened with a humiliating (42-0) loss to eventual conference champ Whittier then won three straight including upsets over USIU and U of San Diego.

Then quarterback Marty Mercurio broke his wrist and two straight losses followed while Ortmayer hunted for a signal caller. He found him in little (5-8) senior Andy Rooney. Rooney guided the Leos to three straight wins to close out the season.

"We surprised some of the teams last year," Ort grinned. "We were on the bus and on our way home before they realized we won."

Gone from that team are all-conference and All-NAIA center Tim Hartnett and linebacker Dan Drake, all-conference tackle Dana Coleman, and second team all-conference players Joe Davalos (tackle), Scott MacDonald (guard), and Lou Randall (defensive back).

Returning are all-conference back Curtis Frick, All-NAIA defensive back Dave Long, second team all-conference defensive end Bill Keilty, kicking specialist John Karns, tackle George Hardgrow (whom Ortmayer says could develop into one of the best in the area), and Mercurio, the sparkplug quarterback fully recovered from his broken wrist.

The Leos open the season again against Whittier (Sept. 22). But this time it's a night game at Whittier.

Although it was hoped La Verne's new football facility would be ready, construction has not progressed to that point. So the Leos will again be playing all their home games at Bonita High's field. The first two home games, USIU (Sept. 29) and USD (Oct. 13) are night games with a 7:30 p.m. starting time.

Too few Hens worry coach

Last year the Sagehens started out with 39 players and was able to suit up only 29 for the final game of the season against La Verne. Small wonder the undermanned 'Hens were trounced 40-8.

This year Ambord is beginning with 33, count 'em, 33, probably the smallest squad in the state and certainly the smallest in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC).

"We'll be thinner than last year," admitted Ambord. "But, surprisingly, we will probably be a little bigger." However, the 'Hens' mentor has to find replacements for three returning veterans who decided to to play this year.

Jim Budenholzer, who was pencilled in as starting defensive left end, is not in school this year. Chris Arnstein, 6-1, 230 pound right defensive tackle, has indicated he is not coming out for football although Ambord voices hope that Arnstein may come out later.

John Lubina, the 6-7, 230 pound backup quarterback also has told Ambord he is not going to play football this season. "That's the loss of a

Red Devils eye title year

POMONA — If you overhear talk about a league championship football season at Pomona High this year, don't be surprised.

The Red Devils, with 13 returning lettermen, are picked as one of the very serious contenders for this year's San Antonio League football title.

And why?

One reason is the return of quarterback Steve Taylor, last year's leading passer in the SAL with 1,092 yards. For leading the league in passing as a junior, Steve was picked as the All-SAL quarterback for the year.

Another reason is the fact that the Devils will return Garry Honest and Jim Price to add punch to the Pomona backfields.

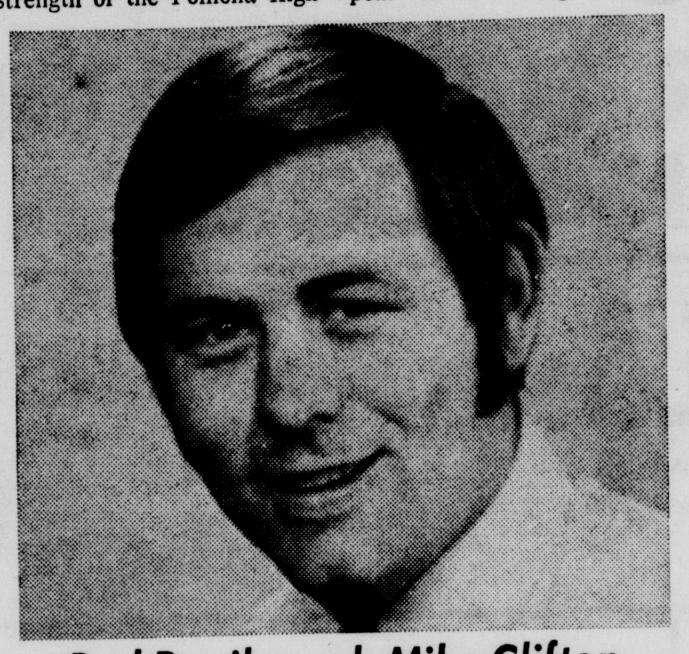
Price, standing a six-feet and 205 pounds, averaged 5.8 yards a carry last year and also doubled as a linebacker towards the end of the season.

Honest, who primarily played the defensive back position in '72, will join Price in the backfield while also making a return to his defensive position.

Garry was a first team All-SAL selection on defense last year.

"I really believe that the strength of the Pomona High football team for 1973 lies in its attitude," noted Pomona coach Mike Clifton. "Our players are great people and are devoted to one thing—winning."

Although the return of Taylor would make Pomona appear as a strong passing team, Clifton thinks the running game will be equally as potent.



Red Devil coach Mike Clifton

"I think we have some real good running backs," he said. "But still we'll probably throw about 70 per cent of the time."

Asked how he compares the Red Devil team to the rest of the league, Clifton answered, "On paper, we have good people coming back, but I hear everybody else is "up" this year too. I think we have the worst schedule in the league, and that's not very good. For the last four weeks of league play, our games are only four days apart."

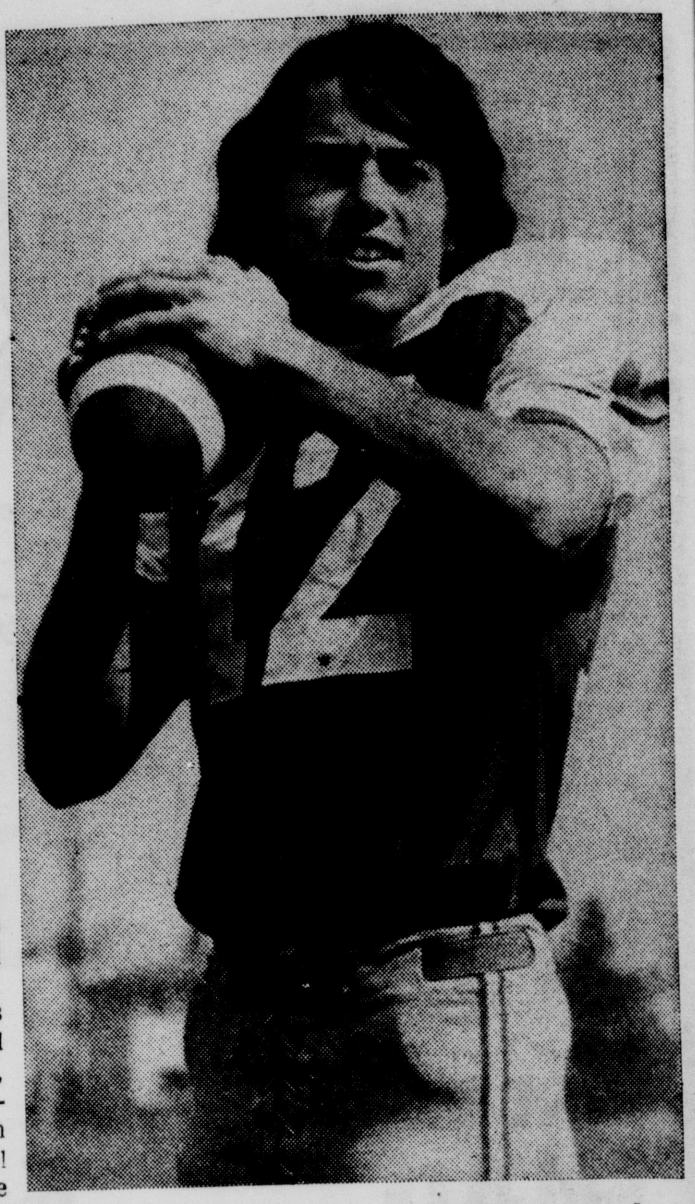
Last year, Pomona finished fourth in the SAL with a 4-3 record with a 5-3-1 overall mark.

As for weaknesses this year, the second-year head coach at Pomona pointed out, "we lost the leagues Most Valuable Defensive Player in Coolidge Goodall, and he will be difficult to replace. We also lost all of our receivers and our offensive line."



Devil quarterback Steve Taylor

Diminishing numbers worry Sagehen coach

senior, experienced signal caller," observed Ambord.

The Sagehens had a 2-7 season last year and were 1-4 in conference play. The wins came over St. Mary's (28-14) in the season opener and Occidental (14-9) in the SCIAC.

This year Pomona-Pitzer opens against Whitman Sept. 22 at home. The 'Hens play four straight non-conference games and then meet favored Redlands in the conference opener, Oct. 20. The four other conference games follow with the windup at home against Oxy Nov. 17.

True to his word, Ambord has scheduled the first five opponents for night games. The Pomona coach vowed he would not play another afternoon game early in the season after the 30-14 loss to Azusa Pacific in the second game of the season last year. That was the game in which the string of injuries began that decimated the squad by the end of the season.

Cenotto passed for 1671 yards and 10 touchdowns as a sophomore last year. Williams, another soph last season, caught 43 passes for 731 yards including five touchdowns and a 17-yard average. O'Neill caught 25 for 525 yards, three touchdowns, and a 21-yard average.

Williams made second team All-SCIAC and All NAIA. John Irvine, a 6-2, 220 pound senior, also made second team all-conference and will be back at tight end.

Three frosh of a year ago could be outstanding. Fullback Paul Grundy, 5-10, 195; and defensive backs Gary Davison, 6-1, 180 and Don Friend, 6-0, 170, were students a year ago.

Ambord also is high on David Schmoll, a 6-2, 235 pound transfer from Northwestern.

31 lettermen bolster APC

AZUSA — Coach Jerry Sconce planned on 82 players turning out for football at Azusa Pacific. He was worried because he had only 70 uniforms. But the problem resolved itself when only 62 showed up.

Three-year letterman quarterback John Tully heads a list of 31 returning lettermen from last year's 2-7 team, Sconces first at APC.

Tully completed 74 of 161 attempts last year for 1,053 yards. In three years he has 237 completions in 515 attempts for 3,390 yards and 26 touchdowns.

Another returnee is running back Dennis Koupal who led Couar ground gainers as a freshman last year. Th 6-1, 205 pounder averaged 4.4 yards per carry with a total of 518 yards in 119 carries.

"The players all have the desire to build a winning team," said Sconce. If we can maintain that attitude, we could have a very successful season."

Giants try to extend 1972's streak into 1973's SAL title

POMONA —The late start Ganesha High had last year may be avoided this year, and if it is the Giants should be considered as one of the top contenders for San Antonio championship.

Once again, coach Garry Norvell will be working to get the Wishbone Offense in shape in time for SAL play.

Last year the timing came around two games too late as the Giants dropped their first two SAL contests before going on to capture victories their next five times out.

When Ganesha opens the 1973 season against Azusa a week from Friday night, it will try to extend its winning streak to six.

The second non-league game of the year will be a change for the Giants, having to play Oxnard instead of Riverside Poly.

And then comes the SAL opener against Upland.

"I really haven't had the chance to take a look at what the other teams in the league are like," Norvell said, "so I don't know what the competition is going to be like."

But the five-year head coach of the Giants is pretty optimistic about Ganesha's '73 season.

"We will definitely have team speed," he stated. "And over the years it has proven to be a matter of effort and determination on the part of our individual players to unite themselves into a team. We're setting our goals higher this year so to become a better team earlier in the season. A good spring helped us establish this goal, and we feel we can improve on last year's team by a more concentrated effort early in the season."

Tracy Cowger has won the No. 1 spot as quarterback this year, and is also scheduled to double as linebacker.

Joining Cowger in the backfield to help run the Wishbone will be returnees Kevin Braxton, Jim Maniaci and Jeff Lambert.

Garry Norvell

On the receiving end of things, Norvell has his hands full. "We're a little thin on linemen," he added. We, as other teams in the league, have some weaknesses but we are going to work like hell to overcome them."

If the Giants can iron out their problems a little earlier this year, they may find themselves in the CIF playoffs at the end of the season.

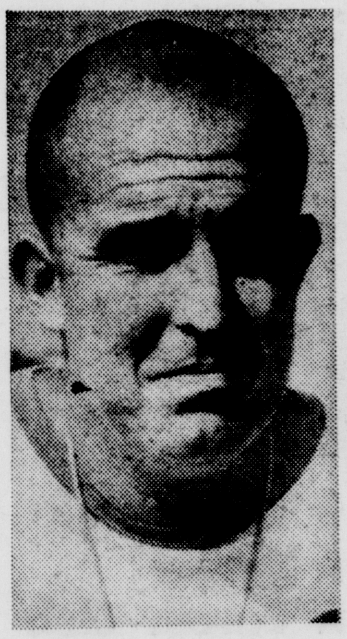
Last year, with the five-game winning streak, Ganesha wound up in a tie with Upland for second place in the SAL. Its overall mark was 7-2, while compiling a 5-2 league record.

Wolfpack must fill gaps to repeat title

CLAREMONT — Coach Esper Keiser can't see how the Wolfpack from Claremont High is going to repeat as the San Antonio League football champion.

He has only six returning lettermen from last year's championship team, so the team looks very green.

"I don't think anybody can seriously pick us to repeat," he stated. "You know they (the other teams in the league) will be pointing for us. They always shoot for the defending champion."



Esper Keiser

But this year is obviously going to be a rebuilding year for the Wolfpack, returning only three offensive players and three defensive players.

Not only that, but Keiser will be converting last year's safety Kent Stalwick to quarterback and defensive back Joe Hillstock to running back.

With the shortage of experience this year, the Claremont skipper figures Stalwick will have to go both ways—quarterback and safety—this season.

Altogether, Claremont lost somewhere between 25 and 28 lettermen—most of whom played regularly.

But still California Football Magazine picked the 'Pack to be back in contention, and so do many of the SAL coaches.

"I'm optimistic," inserted Keiser, "But I also have to face reality. I hope we can finish in the top four this year. If we come on strong in the middle of the year, we could have a good season."

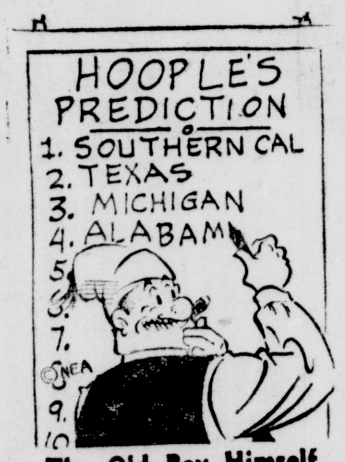
Of course, the lack of experience will be the Wolfpack's biggest setback, losing three All-CIF players, six All-Pomona Valley players, and nine All-SAL selections.

The returning lettermen on the offense includes running back Dean Erickson, tackle Mike O'Conner and guard Eric Sieber.

Returning to the defense will be Stalwick, Hillstock and nose guard David Poling.

Keiser picks Damien, Pomona, Upland and Chino to be the front-runners this year in the SAL.

But he does leave his 'Pack out in the cold. "We have an eager, hard-working group of players, with good senior leaders and a good junior class. We have some skilled people in skilled positions. It'll depend on how fast our younger players come along."



The Old Boy Himself

Speedy duo gives Cavs a new look

MONTCLAIR — Whatever hopes Montclair High had of being a contender in the San Antonio League race this year may seem a little brighter now.

The Cavaliers, having finished with a 2-4-1 record in league and a 3-5-1 overall mark last year, will feature a whole new look this season.

Jack Simpson will be taking over the reins this year as the Cavaliers' head coach, and he'll be installing a whole new attack.

Not only that, but the Cavs acquired a new running back who transfered from Los Angeles.

"He stands ebout 5 feet, 7 inches and weighs about 180 pounds," warned Simpsen. "He also runs the 40 in 4.7 seconds, so he's pretty fast."

With Green and Gonzales in the backfield this year for Montclair, it would seem as if the Cavs would be somebody to reckon with on the ground.

Green will also double in the defensive backfield.

Asked what he thought Montclair's chances were in league play this year, Simpson said, "It'll depend entirely on the offensive line. If we can find a good pair of offensive tackles, we'll be in pretty good shape."

Running the offense this year at the quarterback position will be Brett Jetton and Bob Drake, both of whom have an equal shot at starting in the lineup.

Defensively, Simpson evaluates his team as a "pretty good club," and also warns that his passing attack "should be pretty good."

"I think we can finish in the first divison," he added.

The Cavaliers will be abandoning the Wishbone Offense this year, and will go to the Multiple Set Offense.

Vikes plan to run, gun in 1973 SAL

POMONA — Win or lose, Garey coach Lawson Bush is planning to make Viking football exciting this year.

Bush, who is going into his first year of coaching the Garey varsity football gridders after Bill Douglass resigned to take a job in Long Beach, has made a few changes this year in both the offense and the defense and he promises some excitement.

"We plan to gamble a lot this year," he warned. "We're going to try to utilize our speed to our advantage. We have speed in the backfield and in the receiver positions."

Lawson Bush

What Bush is trying to say is that the Vikings will be using the passing game 65% of the time. "Most clubs first try to establish a running game and then turn to the passing game," explained the new Garey skipper. "But we're going to do the opposite."

Scott Roque, who shared the quarterbacking chores with two other quarterbacks last year for the Vikings, is tagged to be the No. 1 signal-caller this season for Bush. His primary receiver will be Derrick Daley, who is also returning from last year's club.

Bush isn't about to exclude his running game either. One of the top candidates in the backfield is Dana Hutchinson, who Bush calls a "triple-threat".

"Dana can run, pass or receive," he added.

That came against Claremont, who eventually won the league title and made it to the second round of the CIF playoffs before finally bowing to CIF 3-A champion Los Altos.

It took a gamble — a 60-yard touchdown pass by Greg Ballard — to dump the previously undefeated Wolfpack, 13-12.

Garey then tied Montclair, 14-14, in the final game of the year to keep from ending up in the SAL cellar.

So Bush plans to gamble all year.

"We may lose a few by gambling," he stated. "But we'll give a lot of teams trouble."

In picking his favorites to win the league championship this year, Bush goes with Pomona, Upland and Chino.

Rawls optimistic he'll escape last

CHINO — For Chino High, the only way is up this year in the San Antonio League football race.

The Cowboys finished in last place last season with a 1-6 record, but now head coach Jim Rawls has worked with the players for a full year.

The result? "We'll be vastly improved over last year," warned the second year coach. "This is the team I coached two years ago when they won the sophomore league championship. These guys scored 350 points and only allowed 50 points that year against the same guys they'll be facing this year."

Not only that, but the Cowboys made a good showing in the summer passing league this year, finishing in a tie for first after the end of the regular season.

"We're strong in the offensive backfield and at the receiver positions," noted the Chino coach. "But our weakness is from tackle-to-tackle in our offensive line."

The top receivers Rawls is boasting about include returnees Scott Richartz and Jeff McCool.

"We've got the best team speed in years," Rawls indicated. "And we have the biggest turnout we've had in about the last five years."

Defensively, Randy Rizo will be the anchorman. Rizo, who was selected to the All-Pomona Valley and All-SAL teams as a junior, will be trying to get the defensive line ready for the season opener. The Cowboys will be rebuilding at the linebacker spots, but Rawls claims the defensive secondary is ahead of everybody else.

Looking at Chino's chances in league play this year, Rawls said, "I'd like to think we could be in the first division, but our offensive line better come around.

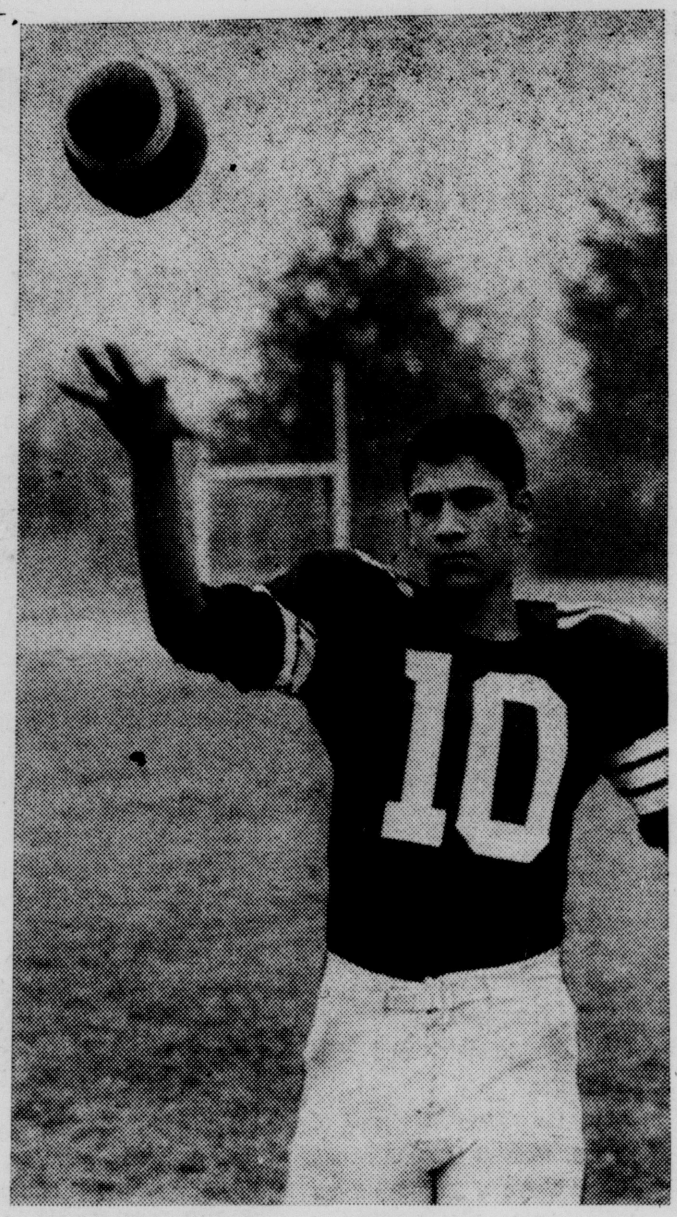
The Cowboys open season play a week from Friday against South Hills, and then face Azusa four days later. At the end of the non-league season last year, Chino's record was 1-1 with a 27-0 win over Azusa and a 21-7 loss to South Hills.



Jerry Belmudez will guide Cowboys

Smedley orders Damien changes

LA VERNE — Damien High's first year in the San Antonio League last season wasn't the most successful year the Spartans have ever had. They finished with a 4-5 overall mark and could only manage a 3-4 record in league play.

But this year may be a little different.

Now that the Spartans know what the SAL is like, they'll know what to look for. But first they must adjust to a whole new atmosphere.

Damien will be skippered by a whole new coaching staff, and it plans to run a different offense this year.

Ron Smedley, who has replaced Mike Churchill at the head coaching position, is converting from the Houston Veer Offense to the I-Formation and will be concentrating on the running attack.

You've got to figure the Spartans will be tough this year when they plan to use a strong running game while also having one of the top passers in the league in Larry Pekarcik.

"If we have a weakness," said the former Bishop Amat assistant coach, "it would be the fact that everything will be new and we all have to go through the whole learning process again."

But Smedley doesn't think the new atmosphere will keep the Spartans from getting off to a good start this year.

"We could have a slower start than the other clubs in the league," he said. "It depends on what you try to do coaching-wise. I think as far as conditioning is concerned, we'll be right up with the rest of them."

In handicapping the San Antonio League this year, Smedley picks the top contenders to be Upland, Claremont, Pomona and the Spartans.

on occasion. Webster, 5-9 and 180 pounds will start in the defensive backfield if he doesn't make it as a signal caller.

The frosh include 5-7, 162 pound Bob Flappan from Kansas City, Mo., Jim Carroll, 5-11 and 170 pounds, from Montevista High in El Cajon, and 6-0, 168 pound Pat Mahar from Tacoma, Washington.

Brightest spot in the Stag outlook is at running back where Billy Nash (6-1, 205) and Mike Graber (6-1, 190) give Zinda two of the better running backs in the conference. However Billy's young brother, Charles Nash, did not elect to return to Claremont Men's College this year.

Billy Nash made all-conference and All-NAIA last year. The older Nash was second in the conference in rushing with 822 yards in 163 carries for a fine five-yard-per-carry average.

But Bill needs a line to block for him and a quarterback to direct traffic. The first test comes Sept. 22 when the Stags get a chance for revenge against the U of San Diego. "We have the nucleus of a strong team," summed up Zinda. "But we need a good team attitude to finish with a respectable record."

Holycross high on Highlander hopes

UPLAND — It's very rare for Bob Holycross not to be optimistic about Upland High's football season.

This year is no exception.

The Highlanders have a returning leterman in each position on the defense, with Larry Schmidt, Russ Feaster and Dave Allen (all seniors) anchoring the defense at the linebacker spots.

Offensively, Holycross expects the line to be stronger than last year, but there are a few question marks in the backfield.

Bob Holycross

The loss of quarterback Mike Scharbrough and running back Rocky Chapman has left gaping holes to fill — but it looks like the second-year head coach has found respectable replacements.

Trying to fill Scharbrough's spot will be either Jim Christensen, last year's second-string QB, or Dan Spencer. Sophomore Jay Morton will also be shooting for that position.

"We definitely lack offensive experience, and the explosive long gainer is a question mark," he added.

Rocky's brother Cory will be putting in double duty for running from the fullback position on offense and holding down the middle guard spot again this season on defense.

The offensive captains this year for the Scots will be Christensen and Spencerl, while Schmidt and Ricardo Hermocillo will captain the defense.

In looking at the San Antonio League this year, Holycross explains, "This is the best league balance in the last five years," he said. "Chino, Garey and Montclair look to be greatly improved. Claremont, Damien, Pomona and Ganesha all have beteran squads returning. Damien and Claremont are the strongest, with Ganesha and Pomona very close."

Jaguars favored as rumor dashed

ONTARIO — A very pleasant rumor was circulating among Hacienda League footballers during the summer at the MSAC passing league get-togethers.

The gist of the conversation was that Martin Verdusco, Ontario High' senior super runner, had moved from the area and would be attending South Hills High come fall.

Since Verdusco gained over 1,000 yards as a junior—a rare feat—his prescence would tend to make the Jaguar offense a force to be reckoned with.

So, word that Verdusco was gone fell on hopeful ears indeed.

Doug Brooks, the Ontario head coach, would like to go on record as dashing those hopes.

"He's been out to all our workouts, and we expect him to play this fall," Brook said as late as the first week of September.

A pre-season poll of Hacienda coaches saw only one school consistently rated a contender—Ontario.

The Jaguars have all the credentials of a team whose year has come. The offensive and defensive lines both have size and experience. A competent secondary returns a year older and wiser.

Ontario boasts the best one-two running punch in the league. In addition to Verdusco, the Jags will have the services of junior Joe Jefferson in the backfield. Jefferson spent his sophomore year learning the position, and showing great potential while he was at it.

There is only one cloud on Brooks' horizon.

He has no experienced quarterback.

Billie Taylor, the man who directed the '72 offense, has graduated, and left two candidates for his spot.

Randy Ramirez, a junior, was the number one possibility. Ramirez quarterbacked last year's JV team, and showed promise. Varsity performance, though, has yet to be tested.

The other possibility for the spot is David Warren, a junior. Warren will play on defense as a halfback, and has been mentioned as a running back posibility.

The pre-season analysis of the quarterback competition had Ramirez with the arm, and Warren with the speed. Brooks rates both as on a par with Taylor.

Hacienda champs bank on Parrish

WALNUT — Ron Himes, the quarterback who passed his way to the second spot on the all-time CIF passing list, has graduated and is on his way to Stanford.

Many of the principals involved in a drfensive unit that held the Hacienda League to a total of 34 points for the entire 1972 season have similarly departed.

In the words of head coach Ken Gunn, "It's a tough act to follow."

As splendid an act as it was, it would appear that Walnut High has come up with a decent enough encore.

The Mustangs have a Hacienda League championship to defend, and though they won't have the dominating shadow that they cast last season, they have to be rated a contender.

Lance Parrish, for instance, may have neither the arm nor the charisma of Himes, but he does have the complete confidence of his coaches to go along with the number one quarterback slot.

Parrish's takeover of the signal-calling in addition to work in the secondary chores will open a senior year that will, most likely, see him not only letter, but star in three sports, and be regarded as one of the Pomona Valley's finest athletes.

Parrish, though, isn't the only replacement Gunn and staff has been pressed into finding.

The receiving corps was decimated by graduation and Parrish's conversion. Coming on in that department are wide receiver Mike Pfeil, end Mark Canavan, and JV receiver Ray Fausel.

Walnut's running attack also took a beating in June and, for the moment, is one of Gunn's biggest worries. Ray's brother, Bob Fausel, has been mentioned as a possibility, but the field is otherwise murky.

The Mustangs are also in the market for a new set of linebackers. Linton Nolan, whose main purpose in life is to be a tackle, heads the list of possibilities. Another pair of outstanding JV linemen, Rick Packer and Ron Turner, figure to complement Nolan's efforts.

While a number of hopeful question marks cloud the '73 outlook, Gunn raves about one phase of his game—the line.

"This may be the best offensive line Walnut has ever had," Gunn primises. "It is certainly the most experienced group we've ever had."

Royal Oak primed for rebuilding

COVINA — The Royal Oak High football program will be undergoing a massive overhaul this fall, and if there is a distinct lack of success, the Romans will have to be excused.

A brand-new head coach, Len Mussack, greets a generally inexperienced group of football players, a combination that rarely results in success.

Mussack's job is made just a little tougher by the almost unparalleled success Royal Oak teams have enjoyed the past few years.

Overshadowed by the spectacular show Walnut put on last year was a second place finish by the Romans and a 7-2 record overall. Though R. teams have rarely been flashy, they have been extremely successful in terms of won-lost records.

Mussack was an assistant under the departed Hal Lefler, so the safest assumption would be that this year's game plan will closely resemble the one R. O. fans are already familiar with.

Holdovers from '72 are few in number, but Mussack will be relying on the ones at hand heavily.

Clyde Christensen shapes up as the heir apparent to Bill Strycula's quarterback job. Christensen performed well on defense last year.

The Romans will be showing some experience up front with tackle Ron White and guard Duane Bechtel, both All-Leaguers last season.

The defensive line will have a pair of promising newcomers in Duane Newman (6-5, 245) and Dee Cox (6-1, 225), tackles .

Rick Hall figures to start in the backfield. Hall's stats (5 10, 190) would indicate that he might blossom into an effective fullback.

While Mussack can count on the three newcomers named above, he really is dealing with talent of unknown quantity and quality.

It is entirely possible that some unnoticed gems will sparkle the first time the Romans take the field, but to hope for a consistent winner, as in the past, is to hope for an awful lot of people to come through

Bob Rees will run for Bearcats

Vast improvement expected in '73 Bonita performance

The Bearcats entered 1972 riding the crest of three years' ownership of the San Antonio League, and figured to be strong contenders for the Hacienda League crown.

The race proved to be a rude awakening.

The Bearcats mustered only two victories, and wound up the year with a crushing 33-0 defeat to brand-new arch-rival San Dimas.

While it may be true that there's only one way to go, head coach Pete Lopez has more than the law of averages working for him.

Lopez weathered a similar catastrophe during his first year as head coach at Serra, and then proceeded to enjoy four consecutive winning seasons.

Surveying this year's squad, Lopez finds bright spots where there was darkness last year, and experience where there was rawness.

The quarterbacking situation, for example, has shown roughly 100 per cent improvement. Bruce McNaught was rushed in to fill the gap before the season started when Steve Hines was injured. McNaught spent most of the season a student of the position, and his inexperience was often apparent.

As a senior, though, McNaught figures to be a mature quarterback.

If he gets the job, that is.

"McNaught and Drake both looked good in the passing league," Lopez says. "I'll have to work on who I'm going to start, though. Bruce should get the first shot at it, since he worked all last season for us."

Both men are assured a starting assignment of some kind, since Lopez plans to use the back-up QB, whoever he may be, at one of the corners on defense.

The backfield will require the most massive dose of new talent, since Don Rees and Victor Blatch have graduated. Brad Frick, considered a top running prospect, will be sidelined until the start of the Hacienda season with an arm broken in summer league play.

Up front, the Bearcats are strong, Alan Rojas will center in the wake of Alan Ashby's move back East. All-League guard Larry Naminatsu returns to the line-up, as does Steve Rodriguez.

Rich Lober is tagged as the quick tackle, while a trio of candidates led by Chris Sullivan vies for the strong tackle. Senior Buster Wilson will play tight end, while Andy Castro and Marty Schroedter battle for wide receiver. Jim Fears, Hines, and Dave Drury will be contending for the other receivers' spot.

Johnson, Rees, Rojas, Sullivan, Naminatsu, and the loser of the McNaught-Drake battle, figure to go the other way on defense.

Rich Russi and Scott Taylor are set for the ends. Steve Loya will take a tackle position, while Rick Carlton and Walter Walker look set at linebacker along with Naminatsu.

"We'll be 50 per cent better defensively than last year," Lopez predicts. "The kids now know the stystem. I'm happy with the experience, I just wish we had some more size. I'm real optimistic about the team as a whole."

And so, quietly and with a guarded optimism, the Green Machine repairs last year's damage, and sees better days coming.

Younger Saints to fill vacancies

SAN DIMAS — On alternate occasions, 1972 was a delight and a disappointment for the San Dimas High football team.

The Saints did what they set out to do in their first year in 2-A football, namely establish a reputation in the league as a solid team. This they accomplished with a 3-4 record which included a pair of close losses, and a 33-0 rout of district rival Bonito.

Unfortuantely, coach Bob Baiz had expected even more out of the squad. While the Saints proved their worth more than once, they were never a potent factor in the race.

Baiz is greeting a team this year that, for the most part, lacks varsity experience, but has performed outstandingly in the lower levels of the program.

Last year's JV squad rolled up an 8-1 record overall, while going undefeated in league play, and Baiz figures it to be the source of the bulk of this season's talent.

The only foreseeable drawback the new team presents is a consistent lack of size, but Baiz says that speed will most likely counteract smallness.

"We're not going to have big kids," Baiz admits. "But this year's team will be as quick or quicker than last year's. In general, they're short and somewhat stocky."

The new quarterback figures to be Dave Maloof, who spent most of last season as Steve Barnard's understudy. Challenging Maloof's claim to the position is last year's JV signal-caller Jim Johnson.

The backfield is almost exclusively newcomers as Perez Shoemaker and Jerry Levreau battle for Wayne Moses' fullback slot. Jim Richards and Tim Brown also shape up as likely running backs.

Up front, San Dimas fans will find both size and experience. Richard Espinoza will hold down the offensive line, and he checks in at 6-3, 230 lbs. Joining Espinoza from the '72 team is Tony Perez, All-Hacienda League gurad, both offensively and defensively.

While Baiz confesses to the '73 team's limitations, he is also quick to illuminate the advantages.

"This is our first freshman-thru-senior team, even though last year was the first graduating class," he points out. "This is a different group; a group that has worked all the way up through the program. These kids have had to scrap for everything they've gotten. They're workers."

The biggest weaknesses from last year, in Baiz' opinion, were a sometimes porous pass-defense, and an inexplicable tendency to let down in the second half defensively.

"We're just going to have to shore up our pass dffense," Baiz advises. "We gave up too many passes, and a lot of points in the third and fourth quarters. I really don't know how to explain something like that."

The 1973 version of the San Dimas Saints, then, shapes up as a not-too-risky longshot. The junior varsity level is not always a reliable indicator of Varsity potential, but, if it is in the case of San Dimas, Baiz could well have a contender on his hands.

If not, it could be a very long season.

Braves seek consistency

ALTA LOMA — For one brief glory - drenched moment during the 1972 prep football season, the Alta Loma High Braves tood dangerously close to an upset that would have scrambled the Hacienda League race.

It was the eighth game of the season, and Alta Loma faced a Walnut squad that needed just one more victory to clinch the title. The Braves, who entered the game with fewer victories than los-lined him most of last year and will play split end and halfback on defense. Donaldson figures to be a good aerial alternative to the running game.

Tom and Tim Brown return as tackles, Tim having sat out the '72 season. Frank Rodriguez looks good a a tackle also.

All in all, Ontario shapes up as a major contender. It's a talented team coming off a bad (2-6-1) year.

With a decent quarterback, it's entirely possible that Doug Brooks will see action in the CIF tournament this year.

Hacienda champs . . .

"Mr. Consistent," returns as a definite All-League prospect. Mike Laws, an All-Hacienda pick already, also makes a comeback this season. Gunn describes Laws, unequivocally, as "the best we've ever had."

The other candidates for the line include Nolan, guard Jay Beamer, and tackle Dan Stephanic.

The brunt of the pressure, then, seems to drape itself around the shoulders of Parrish, and his backfield

"I'm very pleased with Lance's performance this summer (in the MSAC passing league.) He was one of the more impressive quarterbacks in that league."

In addition to fine passing potential, Parrish has the ability to scramble in a manner Walnut fans may be unaccustomed to.

It's not going to be the cakewalk of a year ago, but, by the same token, it doesn't appear that the Dark Ages have set in at Walnut.

Backs help Forty-Niner resurgence

LONG BEACH — Long Beach State never seems to run out of talented running backs.

First there was Leon Burns. Then came Terry Metcalf. Now, coach Jim Stangeland hopes to move the 49ers up the Pacific Coast Athletic Association (PCAA) ladder with Ron Choate and Tommy Nathan.

The 49ers, who opened their season last week against Grambling College in the annual Freedom Classic, hope to rebound from last year's 5-6 record.

Eastern Arizona JC transfer Nathan (6-1, 196) accounted for more than 2,000 yards rushing and 27 touchdowns in his two years of JC play, earning first team JC All-American recognition.

Fullback Choate (6-0, 200) from Hartnell JC is a strong, punishing runner who should give the 49ers plenty of balance.

Gary Wann, who moves up to a starting role after serving as Randy Drake's understudy, is opening the season as the quarterback but former Fullerton JC star George Frasier will make a battle for the job.

Stangeland has 25 returning lettermen plus 30 junior college transfers.

Long Beach appears to be long on talent but possibly short on experience at the university level.

Nogales adding to the Wishbone

LA PUENTE — When the grid season opened last year, the word was out that Archie Carter was up to something at Nogales. He was . . namely the triple option offense.

Unfortunately while his idea pointed up . . . the outcome was down, Nogales ended the season with a 2-7 mark.

Carter is again optimistic about the new season but lightly added, "with everybody looking for a good year in the Montview League this year . . . anything better than 2-7 is up."

Lacking size and player determination in 1972, the Nobles went through five contests before scoring a touchdown. However, in the final four games the Nobles beat their arch-rivals, Rowland and Workman, and held opponents to an average of 10 points per game.

Carter will once again run from the wishbone but with a new variation . . . the forward pass.

"We have three capable quarterbacks that can throw," said the Cal Poly graduate. "And throw we will. We still lack a lot of size in our lines but by throwing more it will keep some of the pressure off our lineman."

Walt Stahl is back to handle the signal-calling duties as is Ernie Romero, who quit the squad last year, and Mike Kapuaala who is up from the sophomore team. These three will all be ready when the season opens Sept. 21 against Walnut.

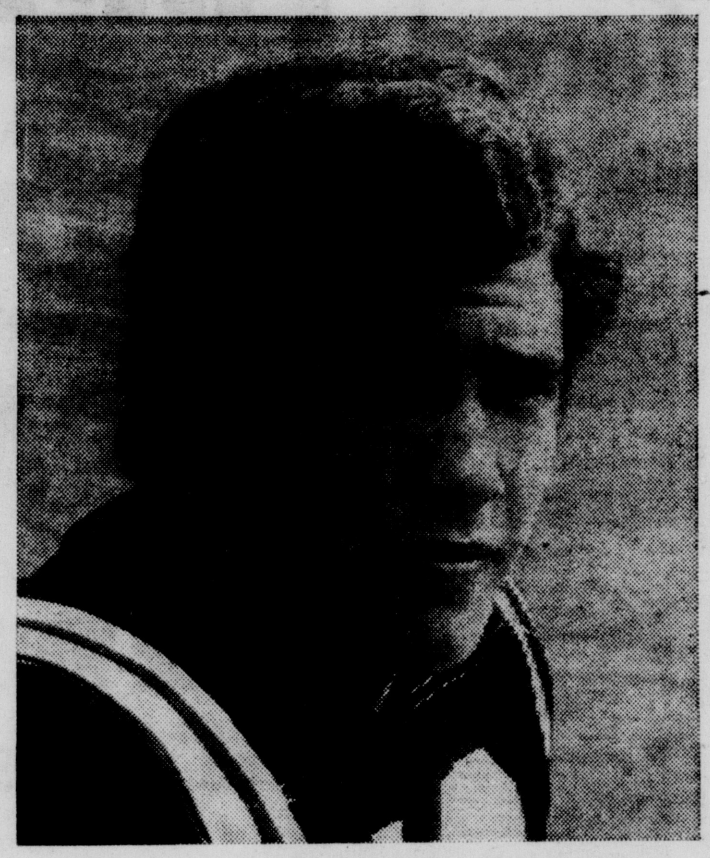
"This is a very hard working group that wants to win. And they showed it by having the best off season workouts ever at Nogales.



Charter Oak's Nick Howard

Lancers improved for '73 campaign

1971 and 72 were vintage years as C.O. posted 9-2 and 7-2 marks, respectively, with the former team reaching the CIF 3-A quarterfinals while the 1972 club was denied post season activity with a loss to Wilson in the final game of the year.

1973 should be no exception.

The Lancers have 16 returning lettermen, losing 17 via graduation, and will once again feature a solid running attack.

Andy Mason, 1490 yards in '72, is gone but Nick Howard should replace him with a 1000-yard season. "Nick is a super athlete . . . just an exceptional football player," said Fetters. "He knows how to get the job done. Besides his size (6-1), he has good speed and is an excellent blocker."

Of course no ground game can operate without that offensive line. Charter Oak will have All-Montview second team guard Dave Vilter, play tight ends in '73, All-Montview League guard Mark Rutherford and Steve Steece at the guard spots. The tackles are Roy Griffith and Steve Pickle. Center is the most questionable position with Jerry Gorski and newcomer Robbie Ehlenburg vying for the job.

Jeff Memler and Dave Peterson are back to share duties at split end with Brent Tindel and Steve Herrera returning to the flanker position.

Defensively the Lancers will anchor the front line with Rutherford, Mike Felberg and Pickle. Rutherford, a nose guard, was on the All-Montview second team and could rank as one of the top lineman in the valley in '73.

Linebacking is the question mark in the Lancer stinge unit. There are no veterans listed for this spot but Jerry Lowell, Bob Vannoy, Jim Cagney and Bill Darrell are the top candidates.

In the secondary, Herrera and Abundis give experience at the corners. Wes Dunlap, Memler, and Peterson will fight for the starting safety spot.

The Lancers are a success-orientated team and with hard work and determination will be contenders in '73.

This may be Raiders' year as 18 return to gridiron

The Raiders are coming off a disappointing 1-6-2 season linked mainly to inexperience and a lack of size.

The latest Raider version will have 18 returning lettermen of which four are juniors.

The squad will be strengthened in areas of vital importance, namely offense.

Flavio Garcia is returning at quarterback after a fine season as a sophomore. The righthander compiled 1,150 yards last year with a 51 per cent completion average.

Not lacking in speed and quickness, the Raider machine will have the brothers Pearce, Dave at tailback and Don at split end, and Al Emeterio in the backfield. Both Dave and Don were called up towards the end of the season from the sophomore team with Dave averaging over 100 yards per game in the final three contests and Don starting at both split end and cornerback.

An experienced offensive line should help make the offense go. Lance Little bolsters the line (6-3, 235) with Tom Chambers and Rich Dubois as added strength.

Come the fourth quarter, however, it was Walnut that was struggling for victory. The Braves held a 20-14 lead with only minutes left.

A patented Ron Himes passing blitz, however, wound up burying the Alta Loma defense, and the upset bid was denied, 21-20.

That near-upset serves as a good lead-in to 1973.

The Braves were young, explosive, but unfortunately quite inconsistent.

Head coach Tom Cook is hoping to change the inconsistent part, but retain the explosive status. If the potential demonstrated in the Walnut game and four victories pans out, the Braves could quite easily wind up with the Hacienda League title.

If not, they might be the most spectacular also-rans in the history of the league.

You see, it's all up to the linemen.

Whatever the overall success of the team, Alta Loma figures to land a bundle of players on the All-League team.

Quarterback Jamie Broecker just might be the best in the league now. Kula Kuresa showed signs that he was capable of devastating defenses at halfback last year. Ted Pedvin is potentially outstanding as a flanker.

The report on the Braves positively glows until somebody asks about the offensive linemen.

Alta Loma graduated a solid corps of blockers, and the replacements have yet to prove themselves. Broecker will have to rely on youth and inexperienced talent for protection. And that's a risk no quarterback likes to take.

Except for the aforementioned possibilities, things don't look so good on defense. Cook needs lineman, linebackers, and defensive backs of good quality in great quantity.

It's on those areas that the Brave coaching staff has been concentrating since practice opened.

If some competent reserves are found, Alta Loma is going to be tough to catch, so fans should concentrate on the activity on the line and in the secondary when the season opens next week with Montclair on the Upland High field.

Actually, help is going to be needed the most during the final two weeks of the season. During those weeks, Alta Loma faces, in succession, its two most imposing fellow contenders in Ontario and Walnut.

Either of those contests could be the championship decider, while both figure to be vitally important for the Braves.

ONTARIO — Tell a lot of coaches that Chaffey High is coming off an off-year and they'll give you a funny look.

But while a 5-4 record overall and a second place finish in the Citrus Belt League might be considered quite adequate in most circles, it's slightly inferior to the type of showing the Tigers have been making the past few years.

During the five years prior to the start of this season, coach Ray Stark's squads have accumulated a 27-8 league record making for as consistent a production of victories as any.

The Tigers have weaknesses, to be sure, but their assets are downright imposing.

The passing attack promises to be healthy and then some. Ends Rod Weigand and Harley Stark, both of whom have averaged close to 20 yards per catch during their respective careers, are returning.

Mike Scanlon also returns to quarterback, meaning that there will be experience at both ends of the pass.

Defensively, Mike Partington returns to the backfield, while Bill Edmonson will anchor the linebacking crew once again. Both Partington and Edmonson are considered All-League prospects.

Walt Kaufman, All-League as a junior last year, will come back to his tackle position this season on both offense and defense.

Stark faces the prospect of finding replacements for last year's linemen in all except Kaufman's spot, and unless the new linemen catch on quickly, the name personnel could be in for a frustrating season.

Chaffey's other major weakness is a lack of experienced running backs. Edmonson is penciled in for some time in the backfield, but the rest of the backs are going to have to come off the junior varsity team.

The JV's of last year may be counted among Stark's hopes. They finished up their nine-game schedule with a perfect record, a good indication that talented replacements are forthcoming.

Some good football in '72 was overshadowed by three crushing Tiger losses at the start of the season. Non-league deafeats at the hands of Ahaheim (25-0), and Mater Dei (27-14) were followed by a 27-0 shutout by Fontana in the CBL opener.

The very next week, the Tigers got things together to blast Riverside Poly, 41-6, and lost only one more game the rest of the way.

"We feel that Chaffey will definitely be a contender for the league championship this year," Stark asserts confidently.

But while the Tigers figure to be strong, Stark is also aware of some quality competition, and mentions Redlands, Fontana, and Eisenhower as his biggest worries once the season gets under way.

Is Webb's Perry holding the aces?

CLAREMONT —Les Perry would rather be shown than told, but until the season opens, the Webb School grid couch will have to be content with the promise of talent, and not its exercise.

"If the young men new to the program prove what they say they can do," Perry says, "then we're going to be tough. I seem to have a number of new faces that could help."

Relief in any form would be welcome to the man who has spent 25 years cultivating athletic talent on the Webb campus. Perry's overall record during his tenure is an incredible 136-16-4, but the Gauls are coming off back-to-back 3-5 seasons.

Perry cites two obstacles he faces in getting the squad back in winning form: speed and depth.

"If you don't have the speed, you just can't stay with anybody," Perry explains. "The lack of speed definitely cost us ball games last year."

One candidate to relieve the situation is junior Bob Gillette. "Bob has fair sped," Perry says hopefully. "He is agile and quick."

Gillette will join a number of proven starters that return to Webb this fall. Team captain Kurt Zischke will occupy the fullback slot on the single-wing. John Baer will direct the offense from the tailback position. Gary Zakem should be impressive as a linebacker.

But a few standouts do not make a team, and a personnel shortage could hinder the rebuilding effort. "We're going to be short on depth," Perry concedes. "Twelve lettermen return, and we'll have maybe 35 out altogether."

Much of the Gauls' potential success could rest on players Perry has never seen in a Webb uniform.

Perry thinks that there are maybe some top-notch football players in the crop, but his judgment is reserved.

"Seeing is believing," he says.

Barring a major Webb comeback Perry thinks that the Arrowhead League is going to come down to a battle between Big Bear and Notre Dame. The Gauls face both during the last two weeks of the season.

OCHS' big switch hurts

ONTARIO — The days of six-man football are over at Ontario Christian High, and the switch to the normal 11-man game has created some problems for coach Ed Werkhoven.

Both depth and experience are lacking for the Knights' maiden voyage into full-size football, though enough talent exists on the squad to lead one to believe that, once the fundamentals are established,

THE MIDLANDS

The era of Johnny Rodgers and Greg Pruitt is over but the reign of Nebraska and Oklahoma as Big Eight kingpins goes on. Both the Cornhuskers and Sooners have changed coaches for 1973, but that shouldn't make too much difference as far as the success of these two programs is concerned.

With the running attack somewhat depleted with the loss of Rodgers, Nebraska can be expected to turn to the passing game headed by 6-foot-5 David Humm, who passed for 2,074 yards and 17 touchdowns as a sophomore last season. Tom Osborne, No. 1 assistant to Bob Devaney the past few seasons, inherits an array of talent capable of winning a national title in his first try.

Oklahoma, meanwhile, replaces half of its awesome 1-2 running punch of Pruitt and Joe Wylie with last year's talented reserve Joe Washington. Tinker Owens, brother of ex-Heisman Trophy winner Steve, is an outstanding wide receiver. On defense, new coach Barry Switzer can count on Lucious Selmon, a middle guard in the tradition of former Big Eight standouts, Glover of Nebraska and the Sooners' Granville Liggins. Biggest problem confronting Oklahoma is the NCAA probation placed on them and the subsequent loss of quarterback Kerry Jackson in the wake of that probabtion.

On the surface, however, the Cornhuskers and Sooners still have too many horses and they should go 1-2 again in the Big Eight.

Consistent

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Tommy Davis of the 49'ers kicked a record 234 consecutive points after touchdown over the 1959-1965 seasons.

New faces going places?

Ram boss cleans house--and how

LOS ANGELES — When Carroll Rosenbloom cleans house he doesn't mess around.

And when he first started refurbishing the Los Angeles Rams, many thought he was going too far.

By the time the club owner was through there was hardly a familiar face anywhere. Even the uniforms were different, and the fight song was new.

The result through the first four games of the 1973 exhibition season seemed to back up the critics. The Rams, who had stumbled through a 6-7-1 record during the 1972 regular season, were winless (0-3-1).

It was obviously going to be a long season for Los Angeles.

Or was it? In the next two weeks the Rams turned it all around and thrashed San Diego, 30-17, and San Francisco, 38-10

Exhuberant Ram fans began putting in their orders for Super Bowl tickets. And the regular season hadn't even begun yet.

That's still a few days off. The Rams begin playing for keeps in Kansas City this Sunday and just how good the club is will be determined in the weeks ahead.

(Please turn to Page 15)

OCHS just might play some good football.

On the plus side of the ledger is the arm of quarterback Bob Miersma, which completed 55 percent of the passes it attempted last year. Halfback Jim VanHofwegen, who showed excellent speed last spring in track, joins Miersma as a potential bright spot.

VanHofwegen will be complemented by Jon Veenendael, whom Werkhoven describes as "a very quick starter with good speed."

Another prize prospect is tight end Ken Smidt, a good receiver with good speed.

Now for the bad news.

"Our offensive and defensive line will be very inexperienced," Werkhoven concedes. "Our depth will not be good, since we don't have a great number of athletes out for football."

With few players out, most of the experienced talent is going to have to go both ways and learn two unfamiliar positions.

Miersma, for example, will double as a safety in the secondary. VanHofwegen is slated to play linebacker when the Knights don't have the ball. Veenendaal will also get the call at linebacker.

To compound the abundant personnel problems, the Knights have been put in one of the toughest 1-A leagues in CIF, the Olympic.

OCHS will be up against such perennial midget powerhouses as L.A. Baptist, Whittier and Brethren.

While 1973 might be an uphill battle for Werkhoven and staff, a properly set foundation could start paying off soon.

New-look Rams put it together

The schedule is a difficult one. Only two opponents — Houston and Chicago — had worse records than the Rams in 1972.

Half of 1972's porous secondary has been rebuilt with rookie defensive back Eddie McMillan and Cullen Bryant. Two often criticized veterans — Jimmy Nettles and Gene Howard — were traded last week for future draft choices. Two three-year pros, Dave Elmendorf and Al Clark, remain to add poise in that department.

The linebacking appears to be the soundest department of the 1973 Club. All-Pro Isiah Robertson, Jack Reynolds and Ken Geddes are likely fixtures here. Veteran middle backer Marlin McKeever retired this summer after offseason knee surgery.

What was once the feared Fearsome Foursome up front in the George Allen era, is now perennial All-Pro Merlin Olsen and three question marks. But Fred Dryer, Larry Brooks and Jack Youngblood have the potential to be of Fearsome Foursome caliber.

Offensively, the Rams in the past two weeks, have demonstrated an ability to run with authority. Jim Bertelsen and Larry McCutcheon appear to be the starters at running back with Larry Smith, Tony Baker and Les Josephson filling in as needed.

Baker came to the Rams in the trade that sent veteran quarterback Roman Gabriel to Philadelphia. Gabriel's replacement, John Hadl, has been loss than 50 per cent passer in the pre-season, but has demonstrated his ability to strike with the bomb.

Beginning his 12th season, Hadl came to the Rams from the Chargers in the off-season, and has teamed with 1972's leading NFL receiver Harold Jackson, acquired in the Gabriel trade, with the bomb through the pre-season. Veteran Ram Jack Snow, an always reliable receiver, is joined by Dick Gordon and Joe Sweet on the Bomb Squad.

Up front the Rams are solid with veteran lineman Ken Iman (center), Tom Mack and Joe Scibelli (guards), Charlie Cowan and Harry Schuh (tackles).

So that is what the Ram owner has put together for an assault on the Super Bowl. If nothing else, it should be interesting.

Status quo plenty good

The Trojans can't improve

LOS ANGELES — The University of Southern California Trojans are in a strange position.

They can't improve.

USC is a clear-cut choice to win another national championship according to most of the preseason polls. To accomplish that feat, the Trojans better enjoy another perfect 12-0 campaign.

"I would doubt that we'll be as good a team this season," McKay quiped. "Last year, we had a team that was big, fast, could score quickly and have all the luck a team can have."

Just to prove McKay feels his 1973 club can duplicate the 1972 accomplishments, he is quick to add, "I do believe there are as many or more good athletes on this year's team. But sometimes having good athletes doesn't mean anything. It also takes dedication and devotion."

Besides being ranked No. 1 in the first polls, the Trojans are also expected to do well in individual honors.

Sensational junior Anthony Davis, who is taking over in the same style as Mike Garrett and O. J. Simpson, has been tabbed as the favorite to win the coveted Heisman Trophy.

A. D. became the biggest name in college football last year when he scored six touchdowns to beat Notre Dame. He scored 15 touchdowns and averaged 154 yards per game in the final six contests.

Davis, who led the Pacific-8 with 1,191 yards, is coming off an Achilles tendon injury suffered in an auto accident, earned the Voit Memorial Award as the top player on the Pacific Coast last year.

"I can't believe there's any backs in the country better than Anthony," McKay said. "He's an exceptionally strong runner and is very quick."

Just in case Davis can't do the job, former Bonita High star Allen Carter is waiting for his chance. Nagged by injuries last year, the junior tailback led the Trojans in average gain per carry with a 7.5 average and was the fifth leading rusher with 226.

"Allen is the fastest big man we've ever had," McKay added.

The Trojans have more all-Americans in junior linebacker Richard Wood and flanker Lynn Swann. McKay is also making a strong bid for honors for offensive guard Booker Brown.

"Leaving Brown off the All-American team this season would be like leaving UCLA's Bill Walton off the basketball All-American," says McKay.

Junior Pat Haden will be taking Mike Rae's spot at quarterback. Big things are expected from the former Bishop Amat sensation. "I've never seen a paser with more accuracy than Haden," McKay said of his new leader.

Of course, Haden will be spending a lot of time throwing to his buddy from Bishop Amat, end John McKay Jr., the son of the coach.

Defensively, the Trojans are as strong as ever. Besides Wood, McKay can also rely on a solid backfield led by Artemus Parker, who has intercepted 12 passes in his two varsity seaons.

USC will be well represented by the Pomona Valley.

Besides Carter, other valley products on the Trojans are offensive tackle Mike McGirr of Rowland, who missed last season with a knee injury; tight end Dean Lingenfelter of Ganesha; offensive guard Joe Davis of Claremont; and fullback Mike Sheppard of Bonita.

UCLA hopes for better year in spite of Nebraska debacle

LOS ANGELES — UCLA already has a god idea what type of season it can expect in football.

After getting past that rugged test, the rest of the schedule probably doesn't look quite as difficult.

UCLA's Wishbone attack will be led by Kermit Johnson and James McAlister, two of the nation's premier runners with 952 and 778 yards respectively last year.

Rodgers is switching McAlister to fullback to take advantage of his speed and power on quick straight-ahead openers. Johnson, the other half of the Blair High (Pasadena) duo, provides plenty of breakaway power.

Ready to block for Harmon, Johnson, McAlister & Co. is the biggest offensive line in UCLA history, a starting all-veteran group from tackle to tackle which averages 258 pounds per man. They include Ed Kezirian (239) and Al Oliver (275) at tackles, Gene Clark (279) and Steve Klosterman (245) at guards and Art Kuehn (252) at center.

Defensively, the Bruins are led by seniors Fred McNeill (222) and Cal Peterson (214), two of the nation's top ends, plus cornerback Jimmy Allen, who intercepted six passes last year.

Schuhmann is listed behind McAlister on the Bruins' depth chart and will probably see plenty of action.

Reagan hails Senate vote okaying death penalty

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The legislature has sent Gov. Ronald Reagan a bill reinstating capital punishment in California and mandating death for 11 heinous crimes effective Jan. 1.

"The cause of justice has been strengthened," declared the governor. "There is no telling how many lives of law abiding citizens and their families this legislation will save."

Final legislative action on the historic measure occurred Monday when the Senate concurred in Assembly amendments by a lopsided 29-11 vote. Republican Sens. Milton Marks of San Francisco and Peter Behr of Tiburon joined nine Democrats in voting "no."

Death would be mandatory under the bill (SB450) for hired assassins; police killers; life term convicts who slay guards; mass and repeat murderers; train wreckers; persons who commit murder during rape, robbery, kidnaping, burglary and lewd acts involving children; and those who kill witnesses to crimes.

Reagan, whose office said he may sign the bill by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, later in the week, noted in a written statement that passage of a ballot initiative last November by a 2-to-1 margin paved the way for approval of legislation specifying the capital crimes.

He said the outcome "shows that under our system of government, the people's will can ultimately prevail despite numerous roadblocks."

The state Supreme Court ruled in February 1972 that capital punishment was both cruel and unusual punishment. The U.S. Supreme Court subsequently held the ultimate penalty unconstitutional as it then was practiced but handed state legislatures guidelines for re-enacting it if it were made mandatory.

Reagan dismissed "vengeance" as a motive for reestablishing the death penalty, which would take effect again Jan. 1. He said supporters believed that "those who murder their fellow citizens and who gun down our police, will not be deterred by anything less than the ultimate penalty and they are right."

There was no debate as the Senate accepted Assembly amendments to the bill. It originally passed the Senate 27-12 after bitter debate and cleared the Assembly 52-12 last week on the heels of an angry floor fight.

The Assembly amendments struck from the bill provisions which would have extended the death penalty to four other crimes: skyjacking, arson-caused death; torture slayings; and the killing of an inmate by a life termer.

The measure had been bottled up in the liberal-dominated Assembly Criminal Justice Committee for months. The committee finally turned out a heavily amended bill which substituted life imprisonment without possibility of parole for the death penalty.

But the Assembly last week in a bipartisan effort stripped the committee's amendments from the legislation and restored it to almost the same form it was in when originally approved by the Senate.

Off Guadalupe Islands

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —Albert Schneppershoff, 37, recent winner in the national spearfishing championships in Los Angeles, has been killed by a shark, according to the coroner's office.

Schenppershoff, of Los Angeles and the Long Beach Neptune Diving Club, was pleasure diving 237 miles southeast of San Diego, off the Guadalupe Islands, when he was attacked Sunday night, a companion, Bob Stanbery, said.

He was the first person known killed by a shark in waters off California or Baja California in 14 years.

Schneppershoff was skindiving 100 yards from a San Diego yacht, The Hustler, when he was attacked, Stanbery said.

"I don't think he ever saw the shark, but Al's spear gun was seen floating nearby," Standbery said. "I don't think we ever saw anything happen so quick. We heard Al yell and we went to his aid.

"He was bitten in the calf area of the right leg, and we tried everything to revive him," Stanbery said. "When the incident happened we were anchored for the night and were cleaning up. The water was warm, and since it was near dusk, I think the shark hit him thinking he was a sea lion."

The companions pulled Schneppershoff into the boat after he surfaced.

Death was due to hemorrhaging and shock due to loss of blood from the shark mangling the leg, deputy coroner Harry Lasalle said after The Hustler returned here with the body aboard Monday night.

The last known shark death was that of Robert Pamperin, a San Diego engineer and skindiver, James Stewart, diving officer at Scripps Institution of Oceanography, said.

Pamperin was off Alligator Head at La Jolla on June 14, 1959, when a diving buddy saw him up to the hips in the jaws of a 20-foot shark. No remains were found.

Jets bombing palace in attempt to oust Allende

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)— Chile's armed forces demanded Marxist President Salvador Allende resign today and sent jet bombers to attack the presidential palace where he was holding out.

The air attack on the palace came after Allende's presidential guard and his civilian aides surrendered to a military ultimatum which Allende defied.

The ultimatum came after army and police units besieging the palace fired more than 300 rounds into the sprawling edifice. Casualties were not immediately known.

The armed forces declared martial law throughout the country, imposed a curfew and banned the carrying of guns.

The Chilean cities of Valparaiso, Quillota, Quinteros, and Talcahuano were placed under naval control.

At least 17 bombs were dropped in the attack on the palace, one of which scored a direct hit. Troops and police outside launched a frontal attack on the palace after the bombing.

Fighting was heavy between the soldiers surrounding the palace and snipers supporting Allende hiding in neighboring buildings. The UPI office was raked with machinegun fire aimed at what was believed to be a sniper's nest in offices above belonging to Allende's political coalition.

Allende refused to resign when the heads of the armed forces and national police rose in revolt announcing he had been "dismissed."

Allende called on his followers to support him and the military chiefs ordered a combined air and ground attack launched against the palace. Aerial bombs quickly touched off a small fire in the presidential offices.

The ground attack on the palace was confined to light and heavy machinegun fire. However, tanks and armored cars were deployed within a block of the palace.

Allende and a few of his closest aides were reported inside the palace. But with the exception of snipers in adjoining buildings, there appeared to be no organized resistance to the attack.

The revolt was touched off in early morning when the armed forces broadcast a proclamation demanding Allende "immediately" resign and turn over the office to them. They said they were "united to initiate the historic mission of freeing our country from the Marxist yoke."

Valley cities irked by overhead sheriff costs

By LANGE WINCKLER
P-B Staff Writer

Citizens of three Pomona Valley cities are no longer paying for elevator services at County of Los Angeles buildings in downtown Los Angeles, but in assigning sheriff's officers as their local policemen, they still help pay the mortgage on those elevators.

"Overhead" costs of sheriff's protection contracts in San Dimas, Walnut, and City of Industry are an immovable rock between the cities and the county, despite recent major reductions in these costs. The county Board of Supervisors last May trimmed the original schedule of overhead charges by more than half, but nowhere near the figure contract cities claim is just.

There is no argument over contract rates for sheriff's protection by itself, but over the expenses the county claims would not exist without the contracts. These are indirect expenses, such as maintenance and repair of equipment used by the department, new computerized radio communications materials, and the like.

The county says this "general county overhead" charge is justifiable. The cities claim it is excessive double-taxation for services already paid in the general county tax rate.

First county contracts for sheriff's services were let in 1954, at the incorporation of the City of Lakewood, data from the county counsel's office relates. At that time, compensation for the contract came from all fines and forfeitures collected in or for the city.

Since then, contract charges have been adjusted upward, until, in 1970, 29 cities holding protection pacts arranged through the California Contract Cities Association (CCCA) to conduct a study of the fairest method of charging for law enforcement services.

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States and South Vietnam warned North Vietnam today against reconstructing abandoned U.S. air strips in Communist-occupied South Vietnam, and the Saigon government said it would take "appropriate measures."

The United States said Hanoi was running "grave risks."

According to the South Vietnamese, the reconstructed air strips could be used by North Vietnamese MIG fighterbombers. Saigon said North Vietnam was preparing to wage a "new war" by refurbishing the airfields.

A U.S. protest note was delivered to the North Vietnamese embassy in Paris and made public here. It said the United States "wishes strongly to emphasize the grave risks which the DRV (North Vietnam) would run by violating the airspace sovereignty of the Republic of (South) Vietnam."

The U.S. note also called on Hanoi to remove missiles and anti-aircraft weapons "which it has illegally introduced into South Vietnam since Jan. 28."

Nguyen Bich Mac, spokesman for South Vietnam's foreign ministry, said, "This is a serious warning," but he avoided answering the question whether he would rule out South Vietnamese air strikes against the airports and other military complexes if the warning were not heeded.

South Vietnam also announced it had asked the International Commission for Control and Supervision (ICCS) to make an immediate investigation of the charge. Mac declined to say what the government would do if the ICCS were unable or unwilling to make the investigation.

Capt. Phuong Nam, press officer for the provisional revolutionary government (Viet Cong) said, "The building and repairing of air fields in South Vietnam is the internal affair of the PRGRSVN (Provisional Revolutionary Government of the Republic of South Vietnam). The side of the Saigon administration should not bear the illusion to decide public opinion and to mislead public opinion from the fact it has illegally received U.S. armaments, ammunition and war material."

All of the air strips involved are former U.S. military air fields. Mac said they have been repaired, extended and improved by the Communists since the Jan. 28 cease-fire.

"The Republic of Vietnam strongly protests to North Vietnamese authorities and condemned the extension of these air fields. Moreover, it demands that North Vietnam put an end to repair, expansion and improvement of these air fields.

Spanish War vet has new version of Maine sinking

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —A 99-year-old veteran of the Spanish-American War said Monday the battleship Maine was blown up by sailors smoking below the battleship's main deck.

The sinking of the Maine, allegedly torpedoed by the Spanish as the ship rested in Havanna Harbor, was the reason the United States entered the war.

"The Spanish didn't torpedo the Maine," Joseph Favret, 99, said. "The explosion resulted from men smoking below the deck and that's how the ship went up which led us into war."

Favret is attending the 75th convention of the United Spanish War Veterans.

"Times were rough," Favret said. "All of us in Company D had a slogan which told how things were:

"Ho ho ho, who are we?
"Second Louisianians of Company D.
"We are rough.
"We are tough;
"We eat maggots,
"And can't get enough."

Laos peace pact will be signed within the week

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)— Premier Souvanna Phouma announced today a peace pact ending more than 10 years of war in Laos would be signed between his neutralist government and the Communist-led Pathet Lao by the end of the week.

Government sources said the agreement, which sets up a coalition government, would be signed on Friday. They said an initial peace pact signing would take place on Thursday.

The new coalition cabinet established by the agreement met today and expressed approval of the pact. The sources said all the ministers in Souvanna Phouma's cabinet, including those whose opposition to an agreement had blocked final settlement, also approved the new agreement.

The sources said delegations from Souvanna Phouma and the Pathet Lao would meet Wednesday to make any final revisions in the wording of the draft agreement.

Souvana Phouma, the 73-year-old Laotian neutralist leader, told a political gathering today that a "modified" draft protocol of a Feb. 21 agreement arranging a cease-fire was acceptable to the Laotian military leadership.

Phone firm loaning school teaching device

POMONA — High school and college business students can benefit from a new practical teaching aid program called "telebusiness."

The General Telephone Co. developed the program to help business students become more proficient in the use of key telephone systems.

It consists of a portable unit having a control panel with three phone lines and three key telephones, each equipped with "hold" features and intercom lines.

The teaching aid simulates business office situations in a classroom environment, said Ruby Murillo, school program administrator.

The program is available on request for use by schools in communities served by General Telephone. An educational services representative will deliver, demonstrate and pick up the unit after it is used. Persons wanting the unit may contact the utility's local business office.

Baker: illegal Demo actions to be bared

OSHKOSH, Wis. (UPI) —Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said Monday the Senate Watergate Committee will reveal some illegal or unethical Democratic campaign activities during the second phase of committee hearings.

Baker, addressing 5,500 persons at the University of Wisconsin in Oshkosh, would not expand on what the revelations might be except to say the committee "will not try to match Watergate with comparable transgressions by the Democrats."

Baker said he has not gotten the impression from the public that Americans are tired of Watergate and want the hearings halted. He said the attitude is more "that they don't want us to stop, but want us to finish as quickly as possible."

U.S. pilots ordered to avoid Cambodia, then . . . 'forget it'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —During the secret bombing of Cambodia, every B52 crewman was briefed before each mission "to make every effort not to bomb in Cambodia," the Pentagon said. Then pilots and navigators were quietly ordered to disregard these instructions, without knowledge of the rest of the crew.

The result, according to a 32-page Pentagon "White Paper" issued Monday: "Other crew members had no indication that their aircraft was directed on other than the (cover story) target in South Vietnam."

That was but one of many measures to keep secret the Cambodian bombing strikes in1969 and 1970, described in the special Defense Department report to the Senate Armed Service Committee.

The report, the most detailed accounting ever made of clandestine U.S. operations in Southeast Asia, said the White House approved the 3,875 Cambodian bombing missions raid-by-raid and issued basic rules for keeping them secret, including a cover story to tell reporters. Other details in the vast security programs were worked out by the military.

In addition to the Cambodian bombings, the White Paper said, President Nixon's National Security Council also gave blanket approval for four other secret operations, including 15,546 air strikes and 2,731 ground spy missions, and for cover stories to keep them secret.

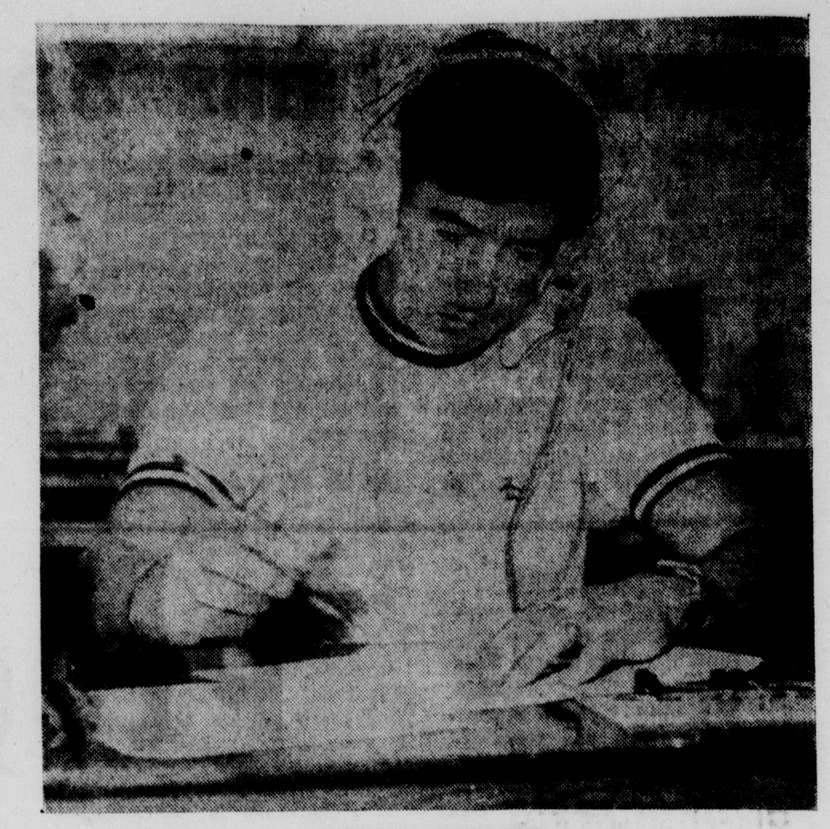
There were also 3,634 fighterbomber strikes flown in Cambodia but reported falsely by Air Force units to have occurred in Laos, but for which the White House had not granted cover story approval, the report said.

It was the first time the Pentagon had ever detailed so fully the scope of U.S. clandestine missions and the system under which they were approved and kept secret.

Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa., a member of the Senate committee, said the document was "incomplete and unacceptable" bcause it failed to include copies of orders requested by the committee and details about how a few members of Congress who were told initially about the secret operations had been selected.

"Billions dofllars were spent and the war widened...without the knowledge of approval of Congress, except for those few members," Hughes said. "When the 'need to know' is limited to those in Congress who will agree with a given policy, our system of democratic government is undermined.

"We have been given secondhand summaries of key decision documents, rather than the documents themselves. We need to see the raw data if we are to judge who was behind the massive deception and falsification."



HEAD START

Air Force Maj. Robert Jeffrey found a way to get a jump on his fellow freshmen at Southern Methodist University, but he doesn't recommend it. Jeffrey, from Dallas, earned 21 semester hours of credit in three foreign languages at SMU, but it took him 7½ years in North Vietnam prisons to do the job.

Nationalization of passenger trains proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., says the federal government should nationalize all passenger trains including urban mass transit.

Weicker said Monday he will introduce legislation next year for federal takeover of all such systems.

"This will not simply be a proposal to expand Amtrak (the government-sponsored rail system)," Weicker said in a Senate speech. "It means that the federal government will be running the trains, passenger trains, and no more of these quasi-government corporations that put our essential service into the twilight zone."

He said the free enterprise system has failed to run passenger lines properly, partly because they produce only 2 per cent of railroad revenues.

"The people of the United States are fully aware that private corporations and bankrupt trusteeships have failed to provide either what is possible or what our minimum transportation requirements call for," Weicker said. "We are at the end of the line."

The Senate voted 53 to 33 Monday to provide $800 million for operating expenses of commuter mass transit lines over the next two years. The measure now goes to the House, which has refused to pass similar bills in the past three years.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., the sonsor, said the funds were badly needed by 11 of the nation's 14 major commuter rail lines which failed to cover operating costs in recent years.

Cambodian state capital shelled for fifth day

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Communist-led Khmer Rouge insurgents fired more than 200 shells into the city of Kompong Cham today where a fierce battle for control of the provincial capital went into its fifth day.

New fighting also was reported on approaches to Phnom Penh northeast and southwest of the capital.

Military sources said 70 shells landed around the Kompong Cham high school, a government bastion just east of the Kompong Cham University which is held by the rebels.

Converted T28 trainer jets from the 40-plane Cambodian air force strafed Communist positions around the city, easing pressure on the airport which is cut off from the city.

Military sources said the situation at the airport was "much improved" in the afternoon after a "critical" situation in the morning.

Kompong Cham, once Cambodia's third largest city, is located on the Mekong River 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. It has been under Communist pressure for a month.

Closer to Phnom Penh, Communists infiltrated a village 10 miles northeast of the Capital, blew up a pontoon bridge 10 miles to the southwest and stopped a government advance 14 miles southwest.

But the most critical military situation remained at Kompong Cham, where Communist insurgents stormed the airport today.

Monterey Bay quakes noted

MENLO PARK (UPI) — More than 30 earthquakes have occurred in the Monterey Bay Area during the past four years, according to a government survey.

Although experts from the U.S. Geological Survey said Monday the quakes were of minor to moderate intensity, H. Harry Greenene, a marine geologist, saidthe survey indicated the potential of stronger quakes along a fault extending from southern San Mateo County to beyond Monterey and Carmel.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A Los Angeles police department report has concluded that the county is becoming a "mecca" for dangerous criminals because convicted felons are receiving increasingly light sentences in the county's court system.

The percentage of convicted murderers, burglars and robbers placed on probation has nearly doubled since 1962, while the percentage of those imprisoned has decreased by nearly half, according to the report released Monday.

"As long as the sentencing practices of Los Angeles Superior Court judges fail to take criminals out of circulation," the report read, "and as long as sentencing practices in Los Angeles are dramatically more lenient than the rest of the state, this county will be a mecca for every dangerous criminal in the state and will be attractive to criminals from other areas."

According to the report, entitled "California Criminal Justice System Analysis," 34 per cent of convicted murderers, robbers and burglars were sent to state prison in 1962. Only 18.6 per cent were imprisoned last year.

The report added that 60.5 per cent of convicted felons were placed on probation last year, up from 33.3 per cent in 1962.

"As long as 19 out of 20 convicted burglars know that they will not be sent to prison," the report stated, "this area will be a haven, not only for the average burglar but also for the heroin addict who must support his habit through burglary.

troversy, the study ended in a higher rate.

Last year the CCCA sponsored a bill, introduced before the state Assembly by Joe Gonsalves, which would have forced all counties in the state to drop various charges loaded into contracts. It sailed through both houses, but was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan with the provision that the entire question would be re-opened.

After extensive study by Arthur G. Will, chief administrative officer (CAO) of Los Angeles County, supervisors adopted a revised schedule based on the 1972-73 contract rate which dropped $15,688 from "general law patrol" costs of $269,073. This is the price charged for one sheriff's car on patrol 24 hours every day for a year.

"It is a welcome savings," said San Dimas City Manager Robert Poff. "However, this year deputies were granted pay increases that just about wiped out the gains."

His city also increased its level of service for 1973-74. Estimated costs, computed by Lt. Stuart L. Hansell of the sheriff's Community Services Department, are $207,700 — a hefty jump from San Dimas' previous contract of $153,382. Poff said the increase follows growth in the foothill community.

For Walnut and City of Industry, though, the cuts had a significant impact. Walnut actually was able to drop its prior contract from $132,091 to $130,053, while Industry's edged up slightly by $3,000 to $260,432.

Still at issue in the dispute are general county overhead charges. George Voight, executive director of the CCCA, says the organization hopes to push through a duplicate of the Gonsalves bill so overhead charges will drop to about $77,700. This figure would eliminate such charges as messenger service, construction and maintenance, rent, and depreciation.

"It's about half of what we think is fair," Voight said of the board's cuts last May. "The county eliminated the less-defensible items, such as $550 for supervisors' salaries loaded into the cost of each car, or $91 for elevator services, or $800 for mortgage payments on county buildings." The mortgage figure was only halved, he noted — there is another $800 charge in question.

Since the county regards the contracts as extension of many services, not just sheriff's protection, it will take some serious arguing to bring about what Lt. Hansell termed a "change in philosophy."

Both the county counsel's office and the CAO cite provisions of the California Constitution, which forbid the giving of anything to a municipality by a county without adequate payment. Their reports to the board last May emphasize that the services loaded into general county overhead "represent the additional expense to the county in providing such service," in the words of the county counsel.

Supervisors have asked Gonsalves to withdraw his bill. The CCCA is pushing as hard as possible. So far, nothing has moved the rock.

SAIGON (UPI) —A terrorist bomb exploded Monday night in a movie theater on South Vietnam's Central Coast, killing or wounding 53 persons, a government spokesman said today.

He said three civilians were killed and 48 civilians, a soldier and a policeman were wounded.

Aide predicts fuel shortage of 3 years

By United Press International

President Nixon's adviser on energy problems, John A. Love, predicted Monday the fuel shortage will last for at least three more years, and probably cannot be helped except by further development of U.S. coal and oil.

Steel industry given green light for $360 million price increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government has given the steel industry the full $360 million a year price increase it sought but stretched it out over three months to minimize its inflationary impact.

The increase will affect prices of thousands of products made with steel, for example increasing by up to $16 the cost of steel used to make a new car and by 1 cent the steel in a toaster.

John T. Dunlop, chairman of the Cost of Living Council (CLC), announced the decision Monday. He said steel's request was "fully cost-justified" and characterized as "tough" the council's decision to divide the approximately $9-a-ton into two steps.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who had testified at a hearing to ask the council to set an example by rejecting the request, called the decision "directly inflationary and completely unjustified."

"Having granted an increase to an industry which had an increase in profits last year of 62 per cent, the council can hardly now say no to other industries when they apply," Proxmire told a reporter.

The action affects only flat rolled steel, which accounts for about 40 per cent of the industry's annual output of around 150 million tons.

Steel firms will be able to charge about $4.50 a ton more on Oct. 1 and post another $4.50 increase on Jan. 1, 1974. The price now ranges between $150 and $200 a ton.

The increase amounts to 2.2 to 4 per cent more each time.

The order applies only to 10 major firms, which together produce 70 per cent of the nation's flat rolled steel. But the 26 other producers are likely to apply for an increase before Oct. 1 and to receive it.

Dunlop said the increase was justified becauee the industry had not had an increase in 20 months, because its rate of return on investment is unusually low and because it needs capital for expansion and modernization.

In recent years, the industry lost some of its market to imported steel but the current boom has led to production at full capacity.

Dunlop said steel would not be permitted to increase prices before Jan. 1 for other products, representing 60 per cent of sales.

DALLAS (UPI) —Air Force Maj. Robert Jeffrey found a way to get a jump on his fellow freshmen at Southern Methodist University, but he doesn't recommend it.

Jeffrey, from Dallas, earned 21 semester hours of credit in three foreign languages at SMU, but it took him 7-½ years in North Vietnamese prison camps to do it. To help fill the hours and to keep their minds active, Jeffrey and his fellow prisoners taught each other languages.

"I kind of took them one at a time," Jeffrey, 34, said in an interview Monday. "The first one I learned in '67 was Spanish, from one of my roommates."

Jeffrey and his roommate, who had three years of high school Spanish and two years of the language at the Naval Academy, quietly spoke Spanish to each other inside the windowless seven-by-seven cubicle for 2-½ years.

"The Vietnamese wouldn't let us use any writing material, so all of it had to be strictly oral exercises," Jeffrey said. "It was rather bleak so we spent a great amount of time during the day speaking Spanish."

In 1969 Jeffrey was moved into a larger room with six men in it. One of the POWs had studied French at Stanford, so he started a French course, which Jeffrey quickly absorbed.

"At the end of this course we were getting up in front of the room telling stories, jokes or personal experiences," Jeffrey said. "One guy made up a little advertisement on a little airplane he was planning on building and selling when he got back."

In 1970, five years after he was shot down in an F4 Phantom fighter-bomber, Jeffrey was moved to Hanoi where he lived in a large room with about 45 other men. That's where his foreign language education really got underway.

The prisoners organized classes in French, Spanish, Russian and German. Since he had already had "classes" in French and Spanish, Jeffrey chose German this time.

"People were looking for something to occupy their minds and the drills and all kept their minds pretty active," Jeffrey said.

The prisoners, eager to learn more than simple phonetics, made their own crude textbooks out of their coarse toilet paper. Pens were fashioned by sharpening bamboo stakes to points and splitting them, wrapping strings to the tips to act as ink reservoirs.

Jeffrey was released by the North Vietnamese last February and entered SMU this fall to work on a bachelor's degree in political science.

Tear gas does the trick; he feared for his dog, bird

ATLANTA (UPI) —Police used tear gas Monday to flush out a man who had barricaded himself inside his apartment for four hours, threatening to "come out shooting."

After hauling Bush kicking and screaming to a police van, officers went into his secondfloor apartment and brought out his puppy and carried the bird away in its cage. Neither appeared harmed.

Bush locked himself in his apartment after his former wife called to tell him she was planning to marry another man.

Sgt. J.D. Hartley responded to a report that Bush had a hostage and was shooting inside the apartment. Police later said both reports were apparently false, and no shots were fired during the incident.

Hartley said when he knocked on Bush's door "He opened it and aimed the rifle at me. I got out of there and called for help."

Capt. Gary Shepherd talked to Bush for two hours on the telephone. Members of Bush's family also urged him to surrender.

"He indicated he was coming out, but he was coming out shooting," Shepherd said.

Finally police shot three tear gas canisters through a window of the apartment forcing Bush to surrender.

Lava flows from Sicilian volcano

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)— Lava spilled over the lip of the volcano Etna today following several days of flourescent activity inside the crater, the International Volcano Institute said.

An Institute spokesman said there was no immediate danger of a full eruption, but that volcanic fragments and lava shot out of the central crater. Dense plumes of fiery smoke have billowed out of the volcano for several days, indicating some sort of activity, the spokesman said.

The last serious eruption of Etna occurred in April, 1971 when molten ash and lava destroyed hundreds of acres of fertile farmland in a 60-day-long eruption.

Deadline to appeal land value told

LOS ANGELES — Property owners have until Sept. 17 to file an assessment appeals application.

These may be filed at most regional assessors offices or the county's Hall of Administration.

"It is only the market value as determined by the county assessor which is subject to appeal," said James Mize, administrator of the county assessment appeals boards.

"Taxes which are levied by many different taxing agencies throughout the county are not within the jurisdiction of the assessment appeals boards," he said.

The hearings on appeals filed before Sept. 17 will start before the county's three assessment appeals boards starting Sept. 24, he added.

Meat boycott seeks lower beef prices

CANOGA PARK (UPI) — Fight Inflation Together (FIT) began a 15-day meat boycott today in an effort to reduce beef prices.

"It is entirely up to the American public if we want prices to come down," Fit National Chairwoman Arline Mathews said Monday in announcing the boycott set for today, Thursday ant Friday and the first 12 days in October.

"Much of the cattle that had been held off from market have reached their 1,000 pound maximum weight," she said. "Every pound over that amount is very costly to the feedlot owner. The packing houses are bulging with meat withheld from market."

Pompidou gets young welcome on China trip

PEKING (UPI) —French President Georges Pompidou arrived to a noisy welcome by thousands of cheering children today for top-level meetings with Chinese leaders in the first official visit of a Western European chief of state to China.

Multi-colored streamers and lines of mixed French and Chinese flags were strung across both sides of the Great Hall of the People, where Pompidou will hold the bulk of this talks with the Chinese leadership.

Interspersed with the decorations were huge red banners in both French and Chinese wishing Pompidou a warm welcome and proclaiming "We firmly support the fight of the European people against hegemony."

Tonight Pompidou was to be feted at an official banquet in the Great Hall of the People which seats 5,000. Talks will begin Wednesday afternoon.

Upland couple robbed of $1,000 and jewelry

UPLAND — Police said today they are seeking three men who robbed an Upland couple of $1,000 in cash and $1,000 of rings and watches at their apartment Sunday.

Upland Police Detective Jerry Wulf said that the robbery was reported by Gilmer Phyromn, 31, of Upland Woods Apartments at 850 N. Benson Ave. but not until Monday afternoon

Phyromn told police that he and his wife were returning from a show late Sunday night when they were confronted by two men wearing ski masks and armed with a 30.06 rifle and a shotgun in the apartment carport area. The men forced the couple to walk to their apartment where they were met by a third gunman armed with a .32 caliber pistol.

Inside, the gunman ordered Phyromn to hand over the money from his wallet, about $1,000 in cash. Phyromn told police the men then took a number of valuable rings and watches from their apartment and left.

Wulf said they are seeking Charles Haynes, 20, described as a Negro with a large Afro haircut and mustache, for questioning in the robbery. Haynes, according to police, weighs about 170 pounds, stands 6 feet 4 and is thin in build. Haynes has a number of arrests and may be carrying a pistol.

Two other men, both Negroes, were also being sought in the robbery. They were described as being from 5 feet 8 to 6 feet, weighing between 165 and 180 pounds. One was carrying a shotgun an dthe other a 30.06 caliber rifle.

Police said that Phyromn was carrying the large amount of cash with plans to pay off a car he had purchased. Phyromn first attempted to report the robbery to Pomona police but it was not until Monday afternoon that he went to the Upland department

Man and son wounded in airport heist

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A man and his 10-year-old son were shot Monday and another man was beaten during a robbery at International Airport shortly after the two families had returned from a Hawaiian vacation.

Police said Gerald Webber, 35, of Rolling Hills, was in serious condition at Centinela Valley Hospital with a bullet wound in his spine. His son, Cory, 10, was in fair condition after being wounded in the chest.

William Kinsel, 45, Glendale, was in good condition despite being beaten about eight times with a billy club. His 4-year-old son, Keith, was not injured in the attack in an airport parking lot.

Officers said the Kinsels and Webbers had returned from Hawaii late Monday night when the men and their sons left their wives waiting at the terminal and went to get their cars.

A gunman accosted Webber as he was getting into his car and made him and his son kneel on the ground. Kinsel approached the cars and another man with a billyclub made him and his son kneel down.

The robbers went through both men's wallets before shooting the Webbers and beating Kinsel. Police said they escaped with $300 to $400.

Beef prices steady, but they'll go higher

By United Press International

Consumers who went to the supermarket Monday probably did not pay any more for beef than they did last week.

The beef price freeze ended at midnight Sunday, but retailers said it would take a week or more for prices to start going up.

"We have had no price increases on beef,' said Bill Davila, advertising manager of Von's Grocery Co. in Southern California. "Our prices today are at or below ceiling. Right now the supply is adequate to fit the demand."

"The big key will be how much beef consumers buy this week," Jerry Sgobassi, vice president of another Southern California group, Lucky Stores Inc., said. "It will depend on supply and demand."

Wholesale prices of beef in New York rose 6 per cent, less than was expected. In Houston, the wholesale price dropped about one and a half cents a pound.

In addition to consumer demand, price will be affected by the amount of additional beef that goes to market. Some cattlemen held back supplies during the freeze, hoping for higher prices now. A large supply would be a downward pressure on the price.

Gus Lohman, president of Illini Beef Packers Co. of Moline, Ill., predicted beef prices would remain stable for a while, but then take a sharp upward turn.

"The housewife is probably going to continue to pay approximately the same price for beef for the next 30 to 60 days. But by the middle of next winter she's going to be paying considerably more money for that meat and once it gets there, it's going to stay there," Lohman said.

"By February, beef prices will be 25 per cent higher than they are today."

A consumer group, Fight Inflation Together (FIT), announced plans for a 15-day meat boycott in an effort to reduce prices.

"It follows that if the consumer takes part in the boycott, then the market will be glutted with meat and the prices have to topple," said FIT National Chairwoman Arline Mathews in Canoga Park, Calif.

Thirteen stores operated by the Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley, Calif., reduced prices on some beef Monday. Ground beef fell a nickel a pound and three cuts dropped as much as 25 cents.

"We're serving as gadfly and we're inviting other retailers to join us in forcing down meat prices," said a spokesman for the cooperative group.

Other meats will stay at ceiling prices to absorb a loss on beef, Don Rothenberg, assistant to the general manager of the stores, said.

Radiation in drinking water found

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI)— Radiation up to 50 times higher than recommended limits has been found in drinking water from wells in some areas of south Texas, two state health officers reported today.

The highest concentrations were found in two wells in Live Oak County, and the owners of these weils have been advised to stop drinking the water.

Martin C. Wukasch, director of the Texas Division of Occupational Health and Radiation Control, and Lewis M. Cook, an environmental surveillance supervisor, made the report to a meeting of the International Radiation Protection Association.

They said the high levels of radium-226 "raise concern for other users of ground water in this area. While less than 2 per cent of the supplies have radium concentrations in excess of operational exposure limits, it is our opinion that no one should use water of this character routinely."

They said the radiation apparently came from high uranium concentrations along a 300-mile belt paralleling the Gulf Coast about 50 miles inland. Uranium has been mined in Live Oak and Karnes Counties

Members' checks won't bounce. As a member with a No-bounce. Account, your personal checks are also covered when there's not enough money in your account. You get an automatic loan up to your established limit.

Plant the seeds today. Drop into a First Western Bank office and join the Checking Etcetera Club while our supply of free Window Sill Greenhouses lasts. With our Marigold account, you get flowers not service charges.

Murderous togetherness

A study by a California State University of Hayward assistant sociology professor shows that three-fourths of all homicides occur among people who have intimate relationships, such as families, friends or neighbors.

And, according to Dr. Karl Schonborn, most of these homicides are crimes of passion involving a male whoe sense of dominance has been threatened.

Immunization time again at health center

POMONA — As part of an intensive, back-to-school immunization campaign being sponsored throughout the county by the Los Angeles County Department of Health Services, the Pomona Health Center will hold the second in a series of four special clinics on Wednesday.

The center, at 750 S. Park Ave., will offer immunizations against 10-day measles, German measles (rubella), diphtheria, polio, whooping cough and tetanus, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Students entering school or preschool for the first time in California are required by state law to show proof of immunization against measles, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and polio unless such immunizations are contrary to their beliefs.

Smallpox vaccinations will not be given. Children are required to be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian who are asked to bring all previous immunization records to the clinic.

Further information may be obtained by calling the health center at 623-6811, Extension 513.

POLIO PROTECTION

Five-year-old Gabriel Salazar holds still as two drops of polio vaccine are placed into his mouth by Dr. Jonas Naujokaitis at the Pomona Health Center. The center will hold a special clinic Wednesday as part of a countywide- Intensive, back-to-school immunization campaign.

Constitution Day event due at park

POMONA — A Constitution Day observance will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the bandshell in Ganesha Park.

Edward C. Purnell will give the keynote address. Purnell, a member of the Town Hall of California and the International Platform Association, will speak on "Preserving Our Freedom."

The San Bernardino Scottish Rite will present a play, "Fine Men," which heralds the birth of the Constitution. Music will be furnished by the Pomona Concert Band.

The event is in conjunction with Constitution Observance Month celebrated by the California Grand Lodge of Masons, and it is sponsored by several fraternal organizations in the area.

The observance is open to the public, and there will be no charge for admission.

10 local grade schools get extra aid to individualize instruction

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — State money will sweeten the educational process for boys and girls, generally from low-income families, who attend 10 elementary schools here this year.

They number about 6,801 and represent 62 per cent of Pomona Unified School District's projected enrollment of 11,038 in its 21 elementary schools.

The schools are designated state compensatory education schools, shortened to "state comp" by educators administering the funds.

State funds, coming from eight separate sources, will provide $335 extra per student in the state comp schools.

This money, according to C. Joseph Barfield, district director of special projects, will be used to purchase classroom materials (books, educational games and audiovisual equipment); permit individualized teaching in math and language arts by providing teachers with classroom aides; provide, on a monthly basis, inservice training for teachers in techniques of diagnostic and descriptive teaching.

"In more simple terms," said Barfield, "the state comp funds not only allow new programs, they can bring to us experts to work directly with our staff in inventive study and the use of materials.

"We will no longer be using the shotgun approach with the young who are involved. Rather, we will be able to zero in on the specific difficulty of achievement of each child."

And, Barfield stressed, all the state comp programs will require the direct involvement of parents.

"This is extremely important," said the educator, "in that it makes the school an extension of the home in the education of the children from that home.

"It allows the teacher the benefit of the thinking of the parent. It makes education much more relevant."

Pomona's 10 state comp schools are:

— Arroyo at 1605 W. Arroyo Ave.
— Hamilton at 851 S. Hamilton Blvd.
— Lexington at 550 W. Lexington Ave.
— Madison at 351 W. Phillips Blvd.
— Washington at 976 E. Ninth St.
— Alcott at 1600 S. Towne Ave.
— Philadelphia at 600 E. Philadelphia St.
— Roosevelt at 701 N. Huntington Blvd.
— Westmont at 1780 W. Ninth St.

The first six received limited state comp funds last year. All 10 are recipients of federal Title I funds, generally recognized as remedial teaching funds, which have been received in the district since 1967.

Kingsley School at 1170 Washington St. will receive enough state comp funds (Early Childhood Education) to initiate a program of individualized instruction for boys and girls in kindergarten, first, second and third grade.

This same program, along with others, will also be initiated at Lexington.

This is an expanding program and is designed to include all schools in the district by 1979, Barfield said.

In addition to Early Childhood Education (AB 1302) monies, Pomona will receive state comp funds through Senate Bill 28 (teacher employment); Senate Bill 90, funded through a complex formula influenced by financial disadvantagement of pupils, percentage of pupils who are bilingual, educational disadvantagement and district resources.

Elementary schools involved here are Alcott, Arroyo, Hamilton, Lexington, Madison, Philadelphia, Roosevelt, Washington and Westmont.

State comp funds also come through the Miller-Unruh Reading Program, the Reading Instructional Aide Program (AB 612), Bilingual Education (AB 2284), the State Preschool Program and Headstart-Child Development Centers.

Pomona will receive approximately $25,000 in state money to continue Head Start classes at six school sites: Arroyo, Hamilton, Lexington, Madison, North San Antonio and Washington.

Pomona's state comp plan was written by Barfield and his staff, chiefly project director Jim E. Follis who is coordinator of Title I, under the supervision of Sidney G. Moses, assistant superintendent of educational services, and approved by the state Department of Education.

State educators praised the plan and are having it reprinted in their monthly publication.

In preparing their application for state comp funds, Pomona educators conducted a detailed "need assessment" of children in the 10 state comp schools.

This assessment disclosed that 67 per cent of K-3 grade pupils achieved below grade level in language arts while 78 per cent of 4-6 grade pupils fell in the same category.

In math, 81 per cent of K-3 grade pupils were below grade level in achievement, and 61 per cent of 4-6 grade pupils were in that category.

In their need assessment on health, educators found that 43 per cent of the K-6 grade pupils in the 10 schools had health problems which adversely affected class achievement and school problems. 10 per cent had vision problems, 12 per cent had hearing problems and 49 per cent had dental needs.

Two women hurt in Chino crash

CHINO — Two women were injured this morning when two cars collided broadside at Schaffer and Central avenues here, police reported.

Beverly Sue Akers, 17, of 229 E. Budd St., Ontario, the driver of one vehicle, and Phyllis Jean Calderas, 27, of 571 Richland Ave., Upland, driver of another, were both taken to Chino General Hospital by ambulance for treatment of multiple minor injuries following the 7:30 a.m. accident.

Chino policeman Al Kennedy said the impact of the collision ejected Mrs. Akers and her 2-year-old daughter from their car. Mrs. Akers suffered a broken leg and other injuries, but her daughter escaped injury.

Kennedy said that Mrs. Akers' car was eastbound on Shaffer Avenue and Mrs. Calderas car was southbound on Central Avenue.

NO GUESSWORK HERE

Over 30 coin collectors and dealers took part in the second California Numismatic Educational Seminar at Cal Poly's Kellogg West over the weekend. Part of the seminar included the use of microscopes and other instruments to aid in the identification of coins which might be counterfeited.

ALL THAT GLITTERS . . .

The collector who bought this 1732 Spanish Pillar Dollar for $1,900 thought he had a bargain — they usually fetch $2,000. But this one wouldn't buy an enchilada, it's an impressive, well-done fake, one of the pitfalls of collecting.

State official to talk here on investor games, gambles

POMONA—Brian R. Van Camp, California's commissioner of corporations, will address members of the Kiwanis Club of Pomona when they meet Wednesday noon at the Elks Lodge.

His subject will be "Games Investors Play and the Loaded Dice They Play With."

He will explain reforms the department of corporations has taken to protect the investing public. Program chairman is Marvin Draper.

"As more and more individual and small investors have left the stock market, they have turned to more forms of investment," said Van Camp. "Abuses have crept in in some areas and we've had to take both preventive and corrective action to protect the public."

Van Camp, 33, was the youngest commissioner of corporations in the state's history when he was appointed two years ago by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Previous to that he was assistant secretary of the business and transportation agency and, for several months, acting secretary. And prior to that, Van Camp was a deputy attorney general assigned to the office of the secretary of state as legal counsel to the late Frank Jordan.

Opinion

A president needs to be 'in' politics

Webster defines a politician as being, among other things, "a schemer; an intriguer."

Although this definition is marked as "obsolete," it is a fair certainty that if a poll were taken among Americans today, a heavy majority would opt for this meaning rather than another one listed by Webster — "one versed or experienced in the science of government . . .a statesman."

Watergate, of course, is chiefly responsible for the fact that the word politician has taken on such unsavory connotations. Also, behind much of the reaction against the Senate's inquiry into the scandal is the belief that it has degenerated into a political smear campaign against the President, who should be "above politics."

President Nixon is reading this popular mood accurately when he says that it is time to leave the matter to the courts and let him get on with the "urgent business of the nation."

Yet in the opinion of one student of the presidency, what has gone wrong with the White House is that too many presidents have tried to hold themselves above politics — or at least give that impression — rather than engage in it deeply enough.

The process of political bargaining is the only way to keep the White House in touch with reality, argues Thomas Cronin, a fellow at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, in an interview with the editors of The Washington Monthly.

Whenever policy is being set, the president ought to consider objections and arguments. But the structure of his own White House staff, says Cronin, virtually guarantees that they will never raise the objections to him. This makes it all the more important for him to take part in political negotiation.

But because the president would look bad if he participated in party politics, his aides must go through grotesque contortions to prove that their boss never had a political thought in his life.

Cronin offers the last campaign as an example. In deciding to do what most people lauded — keep himself "above politics" — Mr. Nixon was able to ignore the local politicians and set up his own Committee to Re-elect the President.

From a management point of view, it had great advantages: Everything was under control, everyone obeyed orders. Yet, CREEP did things which the national committee would never have authorized.

By agreeing that the president becomes more "presidential" when he drifts above the compromise and negotiation of the political process, we acquiesce in a general debasement of the value of politics, says Cronin.

"Certainly there are dishonest men in government, but we forget that there is a clean politics, and that it is the only way a democracy can work . . .

"We must start regarding the president as a politician once more. A president cannot and should not avoid being openly political. A president in a democracy has to act politically if we are to have any semblance of government by the consent of the governed —that is, he must negotiate between groups, compromise differences and find acceptable alternatives."

The last words contain a description of "politician" better than anything in Webster, and constitute a goal we had better start working toward instead of indulging in cynicism or despair.

Bombings could happen in U.S.

WASHINGTON — A warning has gone out to police stations across the country that terrorist bombings on the Irish scale "could happen in the United States." Yet the government strangely has withheld information that could help the American people protect themselves from the bomb blasts.

Unknown to most Americans, the Justice Department operates a National Bomb Data Center at Picatinny Arsenal, Dover, N.J. It is supposed to develop information that might help prevent bombing. But it has adopted a policy of obsessive secrecy, which is keeping essential information from future bomb victims.

Through confidential intermediaries we have obtained copies of the center's highly classified bulletins, which are circulated to the appropriate authorities. We have carefully excised all information that might help the bombers. What remains presents some cold-morning facts on how individuals can assist the police in protecting themselves from bombs in their mailboxes, automobiles and offices.

The center warns that car bombs, for example, soon "will be a major weapon in the terrorists' armory." Drawing from confidential British information, the center describes how separate terrorist teams steal cars, load them with explosives and park them at strategic places.

'Terrible effects'

"The destruction which followed the events of Bloody Friday in Belfast," states one c lassified bulletin, ". . . how clearly the terrible effects of large explosive charges in parked cars.

"There is often a chain of command used when car bombs are placed," explains the bulletin. One group steals a car and parks it. A second group drives it "to a safe area where the device will be (installed). . .and the (timing) mechanism set." A third group "will then. . .drive the vehicle to the target area, park it and leave the scene immediately."

Splitting up the mission makes identification of the culprits more difficult and keeps them from knowing too much about the overall operation. But "confusion often ensues." A newspaper may be alerted by one group even while another finds it cannot park the car in the designated area. The police, therefore, may evacuate one street and send the refugees to the very street where the bomb ultimately will go off, says the bulletin.

Once a bomb is discovered, the public should be evacuated within a 250-yard radius. "Even at this distance," warns the bulletin, "many casualites have been caused by flying glass."

'High priority'

To reduce the bomb danger, the center urges "High priority" for science-fiction detection devices. But it takes publicty to sell the public on providing police with the costly equipment. The center, nevertheless, shuns publicity and invokes secrecy.

Few people know, for instance, that magnetic devices are available that can pluck letter bombs out of a high-speed mail room operation. The device detects the metal in the blasting caps. X-ray and electronic scanners can also pick out letter and package bombs.

The International Association of Chiefs of Police has identified even more sophisticated bomb sniffers which can locate non-metallic bombs, Called biosensors, they utilize the principle that explosives exude a faint vapor, which causes certain microorganisms to glow dimly like lightning bugs.

The biosensors are loaded with these luminescent microorganisms, which are used to probe letters, suitcase seams, ventilation ducts, clothed persons, safety deposit boxes and desk-drawer cracks. If dynamite is present, the microorganisms give off a glow which can be picked up by an electronics system. A warning registers on a meter or audio warning device.

Bomber profiles

While the technologists combat the bomb innovators, psychologists are trying to develop a profile of the people who plant bombs. An invaluable study by Phillip Karber, a researcher for the Braddock, Dunn and McDonald think tank, has been sent to police forces.

Karber found that only five per cent of the bombers are now terrorists. A 53 per cent majority are protestors or people out for revenge. Another 29 per cent are simply thrill-seekers and 13 per cent use bombs for criminal activities such as blowing safes and extortion.

"Revenge," writes Karber, "is one of the oldest violent motives and . . . is the most understood." He cites such cases as a man bombing his estranged wife, a patron returning to a bar that bounced him with a firebomb and rival motorcycle gangs bombing one another's clubhouses.

Protest bombers, says Karber, generally use fire bombs and make "community" projects of their bombing. Criminal bombers, in contrast, use high explosives and show a "lack of emotionalism."

Teens

Curiously, most of the thrill-seekers are lonely teen-age males from proper suburban middle-class homes. They range in age down to 12-year-olds, such as those who packed match heads into a pipe, blew off one boy's arm, set afire a mother and destroyed a house and garage.

Gossip for today

From our women's viewpoint, 1973 will go down in history as the year of double frustration. First their soap operas were bumped off TV by the Watergate hearings and now football is about to return to the boob tube to compound the felony. Imagine having to live day after day without getting the answers to: Did John divorce Ester? Was Arthur's wife the daughter of a New Jersey gangster? Will Mary finally decide to have an abortion? Can Randolph keep his secret mistress a secret? Will Hannah's sister break up Bill and Hannah's marriage?

Certainly in the opinion of our women those are questions every bit as important as:—Will quarterback Joe Blow's trick knee force him to retire? Can Artful Arty get the $100,000 contract he is holding out for? Does coach Wizard Walton have a free hand to run the team or is the owner calling the shots? Will Lumbering Louis psych himself out of his inferiority complex?—But even though no male chauvinist pig is going to admit that soap operas are more important than football, I warn you men! The chips are down! Like it or not Watergate usurpation of prime TV time has so bugged out women that this time out they're not going to listen to reason. Your only salvation is His and Her television sets.

INSIDE REPORT

Nixon may have doomed tax plan

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's blunt statement that "there isn't a chance that a responsible tax bill" could be passed by "this Congress" to help stop runaway inflation amazed and angered influential economic and political leaders who have been quietly trying to help Mr. Nixon develop just such an anti-inflation tax plan.

From corporate board rooms through the halls of Congress down to the hospital room of recuperating Rep. Wilbur Mills in Little Rock, Ark., the reaction was stunned disbelief.

That shock was starkly summed up by Dr. Pierre Rinfret, the New York-based private economic consultant who has worked closely with senior White House aides, and the President himself, ever since the 1968 presidential campaign. Rinfret, mincing no words, told us:

"The President's statement was the most serious economic mistake he has ever made."

Democrat Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Dr. Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Rinfret and some Treasury experts were all pushing hard to get the President to endorse a tax program with both anti-inflation and anti-recession implications. Its heart: a tax incentive for capacity-short basic industries designed to increase the production of goods (anti-inflationary) and absorb workers laid off by consumer industries when the economic downturn begins to bite in the next few months (anti-recessionary).

From his hospital bed, Mills told us the President's astonishingly abrupt rejection of his tax proposals — of any tax proposals — doomed the plan for this year. By next year, it may be too late for the tax-incentive plan to stem a recession which Mills fears could easily turn into full-fledged depression.

A footnote: Some high Treasury department officials were claiming that Mr. Nixon really did not mean to slam the door on the Mills proposals. If so, the President himself will have to correct the record because his words left not a particle of doubt.

Rising terror?

An informal but deadly serious protest to the Soviet Union by the U.S. points up the rising danger of anti-aircraft Palestinian terrorist threats based on use of the Soviet-made GRAIL.

The GRAIL is a heat-seeking, shoulder-fired, bazooka-type launcher (similar to the U.S.-made Redeye) with a range sufficient to explode aircraft perhaps as high as 10,000 feet.

Discovery of this missile in the possession of Palestinian nationalists near the Rome, Italy, airport last week may have avoided an epic tragedy. But there is now reason to believe that the GRAIL is far more widely dispersed than to the Rome airport. The unofficial American protest to the Russians carried a somber warning that international terrorists, Arab or otherwise, could wreck havoc of unimaginable intensity with easy access to the GRAIL.

A footnote: Some high Treasury department officials were on an 11-pound launcher with less than one pound of lethal explosives.

Investigating Casey

The investigation concerns Capitol Hill complaints that Casey, as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in 1971, kept documents concerning the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT) away from congressional investigators. Soon after Cox took jurisdiction from the Justice Department in investigating whether ITT received special treatment from the Nixon administration in an antitrust case, his investigators began looking into Casey's role.

This by no means assures eventual legal action against Casey. However, friends believe the high-powered Casey may have to resign as the State Department's leading economics officer.

A footnote: Although Cox inherited a well advanced ITT investigation not too far from the indictment stage, he is giving top priority to getting indictments in the Watergate case itself. What's holding him up is the legal struggle over access to President Nixon's surreptitious tape recordings.

$8.131 billion shared back

Data from the federal Office of Revenue Sharing show that more than 38,000 units of government have received a total of $8.131 billion since the general revenue sharing program was instituted in 1972.

One-third of all shared revenues go directly to the 50 state governments, notes Commerce Clearing House, with the remainder divided among local units of government. It reports that the largest amounts of money distributed to state governments so far are New York, $301 million; California, $288.5 million; Pennsylvania, $141.8 million; Illinois, $139.6 million; Texas, $127.7 million; Michigan, $114.8 million, and Ohio, $108.5 million.

On a percentage basis, 36 per cent of the total $8-plus billion has gone to cities and towns, 25 per cent to counties, 5 per cent to townships (found in only 21 states) and 1.2 per cent to Indian tribes and Alaskan native villages.

When the five-year revenue sharing program has been completed, a grand total of $30.2 billion will have been returned to state and local units of government by the Office of Revenue Sharing.

The lights are coming on!

Don't you know a lot of politicians are quaking in their shoes since the Agnew kickback accusation. Some practices — longtime standard operating procedure for some politicians — went unnoticed with the lights out.

But the lights are coming on all over the country! What did Vice President Agnew do? We don't yet know. He's been accused, not convicted. But sources close to the Maryland situation allege that Agnew, while an official of that state, accepted a thousand dollars a week from contractors—presumably, in return, he saw that they got state contracts; that after he became Vice President, he received $50,000 in one bundle; that further, he diverted certain campaign contributions to personal use.

And, of course, if it is established that Mr. Agnew did have such other income which he did not declare — then it's a criminal violation of income-tax law.

So, all told, the crimes of which he is "suspected" involves bribery, extortion and tax evasion.

Mr. Agnew says he's innocent and that a thorough investigation will prove his innocence. But surely a lot of politicians of lesser stature are not sleeping very well these nights. After all, if it can happen to him. . .

Watergate and the alleged Baltimore boondoggle are the tip of a submerged iceberg that's menaced our ship of state for a very long time.

Americans allowed cynicism to supplant indignation—as they saw judges spend a quarter-million dollars to get themselves elected to a $50,000-a-year job.

They knew there had to be payola involved, but they figured there was nothing they could do about it. Things are changed now for every sheriff who has accepted pay to look the other way; every mayor who has diverted city equipment to pave his own driveway; every zoning official who has received extra income in cash; every politician who has enjoyed a separate resort home with somebody else paying the bills.

All of the officials, great and small, who figured the "spoils" of public office included a private payoff had to be sobered when the ink hit the fan in Baltimore.

A London tabloid speculates that with both our President and Vice President in trouble, the United States is vulnerable to being overthrown by the military. That's nuts!

There's a safety valve built into our powerhouse. When Uncle Sam gets sick enough, he throws up and gets well because the old boy has a remarkable Constitution.

Licensing of cats

Concerning the voluntary licensing of cats. The word voluntary means that it eventually will become compulsory. Therefore some cats will have license tags on while others won't, so they would be picked up. It's as simple as that.

I phoned three cities, including Ann St. Animal Shelter in Los Angeles. There the man in authority said they don't have it or approve of it because a cat is an independent animal which cannot and should not be confined in any way.

There's a great chance a cat could choke itself in climbing trees or getting caught in bushes. Even a supposedly safe collar comes off and in such cases the collar and tag are both lost. A Riverside authority said it had never worked in any city he knew of and would cost more than the revenue brought in.

Ontario does not license cats. Here their main argument against it is the collar (danger of choking) but mostly the inhumane constant tinkling of the license tag with every move the cat makes would be injurious to the cat's delicate ears and make it very nervous.

Let's be humane. Would a person like a tinkling tag on him? Man is an animal, too, you know, so be humane to all animals. — Mrs. Frank Longo, Pomona.

Variety spices Walnut council

WALNUT — Variety is the theme for the City Council meeting Wednesday night as the panel takes up an old issue over environmental impact reports, initiated action to lower the speed limit permanently on Lemon Avenue, and considers putting the city's lighting district in a consolidated county district.

Another item scheduled for the 8 p.m. session at city hall is landscaping of Valley Boulevard's south side, along a railroad right-of-way. If the discussion produces definite information, says Mayor Richard Laughter, Walnut residents soon will see an improvement in the area.

According to City Manager Andy Lazzaretto, the council will return to conversation over who prepares the city's environmental impact reports. He has previously recommended to the council that Lampman and Associates, contract city engineer, continue preparing reports as in the past. Some councilmen, concerned over the cost of the reports, are weighing a trial arrangement to have the county do the work.

35 m.p.h. on Lemon

Presently, motorists on Lemon Avenue from its start to Vejar Road are driving at a 35-mile-per-hour speed limit. However, this is a temporary posting while construction is under way in the area. Councilmen have asked to make the lower speed limit — it had been 45 m.p.h. — permanent, since traffic is expected to be heavier on the street.

Several areas of Walnut are in a county-administered lighting district. At this time, it is an individual entity which provides street lighting and maintenance at the expense of property owners in the district.

Los Angeles County's Road Department has asked city approval of consolidation of the lighting district into an agency, similar to the Consolidated Fire Protection District, which would include all such districts in the county. Lazzaretto says the county has indicated there will be no change in the tax rate or administration of the district if the change is okayed.

Valley Blvd. Landscaping

Southern Pacific Railroad spokesmen and representatives of the county and of the City of La Puente are expected to be on hand for the discussion about landscaping on Valley Boulevard, Laughter says. Since the area the council will review is in county jurisdiction and controlled by the railroad, he explains, their representatives must detail how the city can promote and assist in the suggested project.

Laughter asked La Puente to participate in the conversation because that city has already worked out similar arrangements for landscaping on a part of the thoroughfare.

HACIENDA HEIGHTS — Kenneth R. Smith, a resident of Hacienda Heights, has been promoted to assistant manager with Security Pacific Bank's Diamond Bar branch.

He joined Security Pacific as a management trainee in 1972.

SUMMER OF '73

These youngsters playing in front of Blandford School in Rowland Heights find new sidewalks just right for riding, skipping, or plain old walking. Today, they used it to attend classes on their first day of the new school year — as did hundreds of other students in the area. Los Angeles County crews completed walks around the neighborhood just in time for the start of school.

R.H. offers adult classes in job skills

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — A variety of employment-skill training classes will be offered by the Rowland Adult School, 1830 Nogales St., beginning this month.

Reservations now are being taken for a six-week training session in commercial power sewing which will start Sept. 24.

The class will meet daily from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The school also will offer sewing instruction at all levels beginning today and Sept. 17.

Basic instruction will be given at Rowland and Walnut high schools.

There will be one-evening-per-week courses in swimming pool service, repair of small appliances and circuits, custodial building maintenance fundamentals, auto tune-ups, working with concrete and block materials, commerical food preparation and basic television repair.

There will be two-evening-per-week courses for vocational groundsman and landscaping, truck driving, production upholstery and auto body repair and painting.

L.P. group will begin rehearsals

LA PUENTE — The La Puente Valley Theater will begin rehearsals for its second season tonight at 6:45 in the Hudon School auditorium.

Directed by actress Laurel Adler, the acting troupe produced four plays last year. It is scheduling at least that many this season.

Miss Adler is in the process of recruiting local talent. She asks those who like to act, sing, dance, play music or be part of a stage crew contact the La Puente Community Adult School, sponsor of the theater group.

Additional information concerning the group may be obtained by calling the school at 213 968-8452.

WALNUT — Art classes for children in the school district here will have an edge over programs conducted in the past: A guide to show teachers what the children have learned in earlier grades, and what they will be expected to know when they move on.

First in a series that will eventually cover all subject areas, the district's "Guide to Art Education" was introduced to instructors last week. It is the finished product of a year's effort by a committee of Walnut art teachers from kindergarten through high school, with participation of a district and county administrator.

Spokesmen for the Walnut Valley Unified School District explain that the art guide is an attempt to tailor curriculum guidelines to the teachers working in the area and to reflect the kind of students in the district. Formerly, it was noted, studies such as this one were performed on the county level and were often little used.

Walnut's art guide is divided into grades, so that a fourth-grade teacher, for example, can see what the basics of art education in third grade should be, and look forward to see what demands will be made on fifth-grade students. Then, relating to the outline for fourth grade, the teacher can set up classes.

In no way is the outline supposed to limit teachers to a certain style of teaching or prevent them from moving ahead, district administrators emphasze.

This year,the district plans to continus the curriculum guides with studies of music and mathematics. These are structured areas of study that will benefit from the district's experience in setting up the art guidelines.

Those participating in the art study last year were Mrs.Lynn Geddes, Mrs. Sue Gilbert, Joe Gillentine, Mrs. Kathryn Horn, Donn Morris, Mrs. Nancy Reck and Mrs. Roslyn Stacy, all teachers. They worked with Jack Jolley, assistant superintendent of educational program and services, and Dr. Frances Hine, representing the Los Angeles County Board of Education.

WALNUT — The shortage of trained paramedical personnel eased slightly recently when 21 Mt. San Antonio College students completed their physical therapy aide training and began work in the health care field.

The new aides will assist registered therapists with treatment procedures, transportation of patients and record keeping. Their training, from instructor William H. Berger, supervisor of the physical therapy department at Covina's Inter-community Hospital, has included physical therapy theory, physics and applications. Methods and procedures for treatment such as hot-packs, infrared heat, diathermy, whirl pool, massage and traction were also part of the course.

Mrs. Margaret Goster, allied health technologies department chairman, said the demand for trained personnel in the medical and health fields has increased in the past five years beyond availability. Aides are contantly needed by hospitals, rehabilitation centers, schools for the handicapped, nursing homes and physical therapists' and doctors' offices.

Another class for physical therapy aides will begin today. Berger will again instruct the class which will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:30 p.m. at Inter-community Hospital.

Walnut school milk prices hold--for now

WALNUT — Despite the end to federal subsidies for school milk programs, Walnut students will be able to buy half-pint cartons of milk at school for a nickel—until the board of trustees has a chance to consider the problem.

Until this year the federal government picked up the tab for any cost over a nickel on the price of the half-pint cartons. But now the subsidy has been dropped, while the price of the milk is up to 8.7 cents—or nearly a four-cent loss when the students buy milk for five cents.

Shortened days in R.H. elementaries

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Kindergarten through eighth graders in the Rowland Unified School District will be on a shortened instructional day schedule today through Friday.

Parents will be notified of the schedpule at each school by letter.

The minimum instructional days were established by the school board to permit teacher-principal conferences.

Diamond Bar scout moving to Eagle status Thursday

DIAMOND BAR — Mark H. Kessler, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Kessler of Diamond Bar, will receive the Boy Scout Eagle award during ceremonies Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Evergreen School.

Coed fullfills fourth-grade ambition

Her bus-driving dream is real now

WALNUT — Since she was in the fourth grade, Ann Henderson of Hacienda Heights had wanted to drive a bus. So, when a job opened up at Mt. San Antonio College late this spring, she signed up.

She passed her test with flying colors and started training in the college's buses this summer.

Ann, a sophomore physical science major at MSAC, and her fellow drivers are out of the barn at 6:30 each morning to pick up students who indicated during registration they needed transportation.

Routes were planned to get students on campus by 8 a.m. By 5 p.m., drivers are on the road again, returning students to their homes.

MRS. GORDON BECHTOLD

A reception at Griswold's Country House, Redlands, followed the afternoon wedding of Miss Jill Hawes and Gordon Bechtold in the Chapel of the Grail at the First Congregational Church, Redlands.

The former Miss Hawes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hawes of Redlands. The groom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Bechtold of Pomona and the late Arthur G. Bechtold.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white gown which she designed and made. The gown's bodice was of French eyelet. Eyelet also formed a wide band at the hem of the skirt. The bouffant bridal veil of silk illusion was held by a cap of miniature white carnations, yellow rosebuds and baby's breath. The same flowers were carried in the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Michael Vickers of Orange was her sister's matron of honor, and Mrs. Theodore Hanson of Temple City, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Christina Hanson, niece of the groom, was the flower girl.

The groom was attended by Dennis Fahey of San Mateo, best man, and David Bancroft of San Bernardino and Theodore Hanson of Temple City were ushers.

After spending a weekend in San Diego the newlywed couple continued their honeymoon through Las Vegas, Nev., Jackson Hole, Wyo., Yellowstone Park and Sheridan, Wyo., where they visited the groom's grandfather, Fred G. Bechtold.

The couple is making its home in Minneapolis, Minn., where the groom will attend the Institute of Child Development at the University of Minnesota. He will be working toward a Ph.D. in psychology.

Mr. Bechtold graduated with honors from University of California at Santa Barbara in June. He received the University Service Award. The groom is a 1969 graduate of Ganesha High School.

TV pilot examines drugs, cycle gangs

GLENDALE — "Challenge," a television pilot telling of the experiences of Pam Smith with drugs and motorcycle gangs, will be shown on KHOF, Channel 30, at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday and Sept. 19.

"Drugs and motorcycle gangs used to be a way of life for Pam," says producer Glenn Timmons. "Now she is a den mother for a Cub Scout group, lives in a middle class neighborhood and sings in the choir of her church."

Timmons, a former drug user himself, said, "In this TV pilot we have attempted to show parents how a normal young girl gets involved in drugs. We do this by retracing her life through comments by her father and friends, but most significant is hearing it straight from Pam which gives to parents a real insight into how their children are growing up."

The program is sponsored by Southern California Teen Challenge, anti-drug abuse program. Teen Challenge is testing this pilot for audience reaction. If the test proves favorable, Teen Challenge will be presenting a new case history each week over this same station. Additional case histories will cover alcoholism, exconvicts, gang leaders, unwed mothers and a variety of other social problems.

N.Y. Times report

Nixon associate under probe for organized crime dealings

NEW YORK (UPI) — California millionaire C. Arnholt Smith, a personal friend and political associate of President Nixon for more than 25 years, is the latest target of federal investigators, The New York Times reported on Monday.

In a dispatch from Washington, Times reporter Denny Walsh said that the federal investigators are interested in Smith's alleged dealings with organized crime figures.

The report also stated that Smith's business empire within the last year has come under the scrutiny of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Internal Revenue Service, the FBI and the Controller of the Currency.

In a recent appearance before a grand jury in San Diego, the banker and industrialist invoked his Fifth Amendment rights against self incrimination, the Times said.

The newspaper also reported that the naming of San Diego lawyer John Andrew Donnelley to the board of directors of Westgate-California Corporation, a Smith Conglomerate, added to Smith's difficulties.

The Times said Donnelley has interested federal enforcement officials for years because of his long association as both a business and legal representative to organized crime figures.

The Times said that it had learned from reliable government sources that Smith and his enterprises have a long history of dealings with organized crime and that it has records to back these claims.

Smith, 74, and President Nixon have been friends for many years and the President on occasion has sought Smith's counsel, the Times said. Over the years, Smith has contributed hundreds of thousands of dollars to Nixon's various political campaigns.

Last month the IRS filed a $22.8 million tax lien against Smith which the California millionaire called a bureaucratic attempt to develop a "little Watergate" and accused the government agency of attacking him as "a friend of President Nixon."

U.S. business plans huge expansion

NEW YORK (UPI) — American businss plans to spend a record $105.5 billion for new facilities this year an increase of nearly $17 billion, or more than 19 per cent over 1972, reports the Economics Department of McGraw-Hill Publications in its 26th Annual Survey of Business' Plan for New Plants and Equipment.

The survey says this is the highest percentage gain planned since the 1956 spring survey when business investment was expected to soar by 30 per cent. "1973 investment plans have been stepped up since our fall survey, taken in October, indicated an 11 per cent increase," said Douglas Greenwald, McGray-Hill's chief economist.

BANGKOK (UPI) — American troop strength in Thailand will fall below 40,000 by the end of the month for the first time since the massive buildup of the 1960s, military sources said Monday.

The first two phases of the U.S. troop withdrawal program will be complete by the end of September with 3,650 U.S. servicemen and about 110 warplanes redeployed

Military spokesmen said an 18-plane squadron of U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom jets flew out of Thailand before dawn Monday bound for Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. The redeployment of the 58th Tactical Fighter Squadron from Ubon airbase, 300 miles northeast of Bangkok, involved 420 men.

It was the second squadron of F4s pulled out of Ubon in four days. Military sources said the departure of the 58th TFW had been set for the weekend but was postponed because of a 2,000-mile long, 100-mile wide front of bad weather in the Pacific near Guam, where the Phantoms stop for fuel.

When the pullout began last month, there were about 42,000 American troops here along with more than 650 planes—the heaviest concentration of U.S. airpower outside the continental United States.

Still waiting to leave in the second phase redeployment is a squadron of F111 swing-wing bombers based at Takhli, 100 miles north of Bangkok. The planes and 350 men will return to Nellis Air Force Base outside Las Vegas, Nev., later this month.

No B52s of the 40 to 50 at U Tapao base have yet been pulled out, although some are expected to be withdrawn in subsequent pullouts. The United States also operates U2 reconnaissance planes out of U Tapao.

By mid-month, the U S. will have closed down operations at Nam Phong air airbase, 240 miles northeast of Bangkok. This will leave six Thai installations still in operation. The bases technically are controlled by the Thais.

Decision to overtake vital

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If you can keep from looking at either the South or the East hands you can get full enjoyment out of today's article.

We will make you West and compel you to lead the six of hearts against South's three no trump contract. Your partner wins the trick with the ace and returns the queen.

South follows with the deuce to the first lead and the five-spot to the second lead.

Opening lead—♥6

If you let your partner hold the trick and he has the three of hearts in his hand he will continue and you will set declarer two tricks. If he doesn't hold that little card, declarer will have time to knock out your ace of diamonds before you can cash more than three heart tricks and will make his contract.

If you overtake your partner's queen and play the nine-spot you will set up two more heart tricks and beat the contract unless declarer can collect eight tricks in the black suits. What do you do?

The answer is that you should overtake. You will look mighty silly if your play gives him the contract, but the odds are against his being able to take eight tricks in the black suits and you want to beat him if you possibly can do so.

No player award for Cal Poly

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — A technicality kept one of Cal Poly's players from being named College Division Player of the Week Monday at the weekly Southern California Football Writers Luncheon.

The Broncos were the only College Division team that were scheduled so the writers did not pick a player of the week in that division.

"It's too bad," coach Roy Anderson told the assembled writers. "We had some fellows that earned it. Our left handed quarterback Jim Zorn did an excellent job. He hit on nine of 21 passes for 136 yards and two touchdowns and also ran for 79 yards on 12 carries."

"Fresno St. (17-9 losers to Poly) may have supplied us with more movitation," Anderson continued. They were all at a banquet Friday night. That left us standing outside the darkened stadium unable to get in and practice."

"After an hour or so we turned around and went back to our motel," he related. "So we had to practice Saturday morning. The radio and televisions station broadcasters were all talking about the game with San Jose State the following week. That probably convinced our players they were overlooking us."

Anderson told the writers that Cal Poly this year probably has more quality players than ever before. This week the Broncos travel to Cedar City, Utah for a game with Southern Utah State College.

"They have really recruited players from Southern Calif.," Anderson remarked. "They must have 50 per cent of their players from this area.

John McKay of USC was like a man who had a thousand other things he'd rather be doing. McKay talked, but said little, professing to know very little about Arkansas, the Trojans' opponent Saturday in their season opener. And could tell very little about his own.

"No coach knows what's going to happen in the first game," McKay said. "If he says he does he's lying and I'm not going to lie to you."

When questioned, McKay did reveal that tailback Allen Carter will not play against the Razorbacks Saturday. Carter, former Bonita star, has a hyperextension of one of his knees.

Arkansas Publicist Dave Cawood told writers that sophomore Mike Kirkland would be the starting quarterback against USC. "Kirkland is only the second sophomore signal-caller ever to start for Arkansas," Cawood said. "We have only three players who started against Southern Cal last year."

Pepper Rodgers of UCLA admitted things have been tough since Saturday's loss to Nebraska. "Even my own dog bit me," he lamented. Rodgers would not give credence to observations that his big linemen were slow. "That's an opinion of someone in the press box," he said. "I don't think we'll have a team (this year) that isn't quick enough to be a good team."

General Manager Don Klosterman of the Rams predicted the Rams are going to be a running team that can throw the ball extremely well.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)— Muhammad Ali couldn't dance all night but he managed to jitterbug long enough to dazzle Ken Norton into defeat Monday night.

Ali, desperately fighting age on his way back to a title match, and Norton, anxious to prove his broken-jaw victory over the former champion March 21 was no fluke, battled through a ferocious 12-round slugfest with Ali taking the split decision.

Ali set a tremendous pace and except for a few lapses in the sixth, seventh and 11th rounds, kept it up—despite severe pain in his right hand, which he acknowledged, afterwards, might have been broken in the sixth.

Norton refused to give an inch.

"I had something to prove to myself," an exhausted Ali said. "I was angry with myself for getting so out of shape for my last fight and I had to prove that I could still fight like I know I can."

Ali, a member of the Black Muslim faith, said he believed in predesination.

"It is my destiny to return to the championship," he said.

Unlike his performance in previous fights since his return to the ring following a 3 ½ year layoff, Ali was all business against Norton this time. He said he as "in perfect physical condition" and that he was glad he was, considering Norton's outstanding performance.

Ali bicycled swiftly around the ring, tiring and frustrating Norton, constantly sticking him with twisting jabs. In the early rounds, Norton seemed unsure, Ali's speed weakening him as he chased a floating target.

It was a nostalgic sight, Ali sharp and trim, moving like Cassius Clay, but mellowed by two defeats and advancing age.

Ali's 31-year-old legs, which have begun to show the effects of 44 pro bouts, caused him to slow his pace to about two-thirds speed in the sixth. Norton responded by landing his best punches but an angered Ali shot back with a stunning series of connecting punches.

Ali's pace slowed further in the seventh and Norton again cornered him and shook him with the hard blows. Tired, Ali clung to the pressing Norton for moments of rest. After maintaining an even pace through the eighth and ninth, Ali danced again in the 10th as he seemed to be revitalized. He made Norton run and effectively jabbed him. Blood trickled slightly from Norton's left eye and a mouse was growing under his right eye.

Both fighters were shoulder and leg weary in the final two rounds, Norton taking a slight edge in the 11th and Ali maintaining command in the 12th.

Although Ali received the split decision (6-5, 5-6, 7-5), Norton felt he should have been judged the winner.

"I thought I hit him with better punches and I was confident in the end that I had won," Norton said. "I knew it would be close, but I thought I had it."

Ali said he would return the favor to Norton and "give him a rematch if he wanted one." Norton said he did.

Heavyweight champion George Foreman watched from near ringside and called it a "great fight. It was two heavyweights throwing a lot of leather around."

Foreman also said he expects to have a match with Jerry Quarry probably "all sewn up by the end of the week."

The title fight, which will probably be held the first week in November, was virtually assured when Quarry manhandled Tony Doyle in a preliminary bout.

Defending Spark Plug Classic champ enters

ONTARIO — Paul Smart of Maidstone, England, who struck it rich as the 1972 winner here, became the first entry for the third annual Champion Sparkplug Motorcycle Classics at Ontario Motor Speedway, Sept. 28-30.

The English road racer, now riding a 750cc water-cooled Suzuki, collected more than $30,000 as high point man in the twin 125-mile heats at Ontario a year ago. That payoff made him decide to return for a full second year of American Motorcycle Association road racing.

This year, Smart and 80 other experts will be looking at more than $100,000 in posted awards in the world's richest road race.

The Champion sponsors and new Ontario Motor Speedway directors will stage novice and junior events over the three-day period as well as the expert competition for national championship points. Jim Cook, general manager of OMS, is serving as race organizer, and J. C. Agajanian, an OMS partner and long-time AMA organizer, as a special consultant.

Smart, one of several international stars on the American tour, rode a Kawasaki to victory last year as he placed fifth and first in the heats to reign as the 250-mile overall winner. In 1973, he added the Dallas 75-mile event to his new list of American champions iis.

Born in Ken, England, the 38-year-old Smart was a late starter as road racers go. He won his first victory at Brands Hatch, England in 1965.

He made his American debut at Daytona, Fla., in 1971, and was almost 40 seconds ahead of that giant event with 10 laps to go when he broke down. Smart decided on American competition seriously last year, and scored three second places in addition to his Ontario victory.

In addition to his Dallas triumph, Smart won England's four biggest races in the same weekend last month.

"I still like the English competition better, because it's shorter," Smart declares, "but the American races pay bloody well. You could say I came back for the dollars."

Smart's own knee-dragging style has already created a following in may parts of the United States that helps augment that dollar potential.

CINCINNATI — Back on July 1, pinch-hitter Hal King hit a three-run homer off of Dodger pitcher Don Sutton to give the Cincinnati Reds a dramatic ninth-inning victory here at Riverfront Stadium.

It didn't seem like that much at the time but it is looking like the biggest hit in the National League West season as it turned the momentum around.

Just the day before, the Dodgers had taken an exicting 10th-inning victory over the Reds to jump 11 games ahead of the defending National League champions.

Cincinnati are about ready to drop out of contention.

But King's dramatic homer turned things around. The Reds went on to sweep a doubleheader and down the Dodgers again the next night.

Los Angeles returns to Riverfront Stadium tonight to open a crucial two-game series with the pennant at stake.

Thanks to a recent seven-game win streak plus a doubleheader sweep at Atlanta Sunday, the Reds enter the final 18 games of the season three games ahead of the Dodgers, who finally snapped a painful nine-game losing streak by beating the San Diego Padres Sunday.

Both games start at 5 p.m. (PDT) with KTTV (Channel 11) and KFI (640) carrying all the action.

Starting with King's homer, the Big Red Machine has won 48 and lost 20, a .706 percentage, while the Dodgers have played .500 ball with 33 wins and losses.

Besides owning a three-game margin, Sparky Anderson's Reds also enjoy the schedule advantage with 13 of their final 18 games at friendly Riverfront Stadium while the Dodgers play 11 of their final 18 on the road.

Of course, Cincinnati still must visit Dodger Stadium for a three-game weekend series on Sept. 21-23.

Don Sutton (16-9) will pitch for L.A. tonight against Cincinnati lefthander Ross Grimsley (13-9) while Claude Osteen will face Jack Billingham (17-8) Wednesday. The Dodgers go to Houston for four games Thursday, fighting an 1-4 season record at the Astrodome this season.

As expected, Dodger manager Walt Alston refuses to say this series means the pennant. The Dodgers will leave here either one, three or five games behind.

"I can't answer how important this series is," Alston said. "How do I know what will happen after we leave here. The way this season has been, anything can happen."

Alston is delighted the pressure of the losing streak is over. "The players all feel better now," the skipper from nearby Darrtown, Ohio, observed. "I suppose Sunday's win takes off some of the pressure."

The Dodger manager indicated he will start as many righhanded batters as possible against Grimsley, meaning the captain, Willie Davis, will probably get another night to rest his injured legs.

"We have our pitchers well again and pitching is the name of the game." the Dodgers' biggest run producer said.

"Don should be at his peak against the Reds," Fergy explained. "Even though he wasn't able to win againt San Diego last week, he did pass the test on his shoulder so there should be no holling him back now."

The Reds have jumped into first place with greatly-improved hitting, shaking the early season slump.

Pete Rose is on his way to another batting title after pounding out six hits in 10 at bats Sunday at Atlanta to boost his average to .348. Rose has scored 105 runs and has 210 hits.

Catcher Johnny Bench has driven in 101 runs while Tony Perez has knocked in 91 with a .311 average.,

House approves blackout ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five days before the season kickoff, the House Commerce Committee swiftly approved today a bill to prohibit television blackouts of home national football league games that are sold out 72 hours in advance.

The bill, similar to one passed by the Senate last week, was approved almost unanimously by voice vote.

Hank rips No. 710

ATLANTA (UPI) — Hank Aaron figures the Braves' schedule for the closing three weeks of the season is in his favor in his pursuit of Babe Ruth's home run record.

The way Aaron sees it, "most of our remaining games are with clubs in contention for the (National League West) division title. This means they are going to have their most reliable pitchers out there, people I know, not experimenting with a bunch of youngsters.

"I feel I have a better chance of hitting against pitchers I've faced before," said Aaron.

The Braves, who won Monday's game 10-4, have 16 games left to play, nine in Atlanta Stadium where everybody's home runs appear to come easier than in most other ball parks.

Monday's homer was the 37th of the season for the 39-year-old Atlanta outfielder. Aaron singled in the first inning, hit a two-run homer high over the centerfield fence in the third and then left the game in the middle of the fourth because of a "stomach disorder."

ANAHEIM (UPI)—The California Angels have found a new battery that may work well for them—next season anyway.

Rookies Dick Lange, the pitcher, and Charlie Sands, the catcher, combined to beat the Chicago White Sox 7-1 Monday night. Lange, now 2-1, pitched a four-hitter for his first complete major league victory. It was his fifth start since he came up from Salt Lake City.

Sands doubled in two runs in the second when the Angels took a 3-1 lead and also got two singles. Mickey Rivers, another Salt Lake returnee, tripled in two runs and also doubled. Vada Pinson doubled in a pair in the eighth.

Tony Muser got a first inning homer off Lange, his fourth, but had to leave the game on a stretcher in the sixth when he dislocated his kneecap trying to run out a grounder.

"We got a few runs early and I made up my mind to challenge the hitters," Lange said. "Muser's homer didn't bother me. He always hit me well in the minors. I hope to get a couple more starts. I feel like I have a chance to break into the rotation here next year."

Sands who belonged to Pittsburgh in spring training, then went to Detroit and then to Salt Lake, said, "It's been a dream come true getting to play with the Angels. I'm thankful to Harry Dalton (general manager). I've been trying to convince everyone I can I catch in the major leagues. I was in the bullpen with the Pirates. With Detroit I didn't have a chance because of Duke Sims who's got three hands. I can catch as well as hit. I want to show people here I'm a complete catcher."

Sands is 7-for-17 with four RBIs since he came up. Rivers is 12-for-31.

Nolan Ryan, 16-16, goes for the Angels tonight against Wilbur Wood, 23-18.

USC's Davis expecting the same this year

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Anthony Davis. The incredible sophomore. The son of a postal clerk and a teacher from a poor black section in the San Fernando Valley.

"I'm used to other teams emphasizing on me," said the University of Southern California's exciting tailback, now a junior. "They did it in high school and I expect them to do it this year."

Before even the first kickoff, the pressure is mounting on the young man with wings on his football cleats. He will be, in the opinion of many, the first player ever to win the coveted Heisman Trophy twice.

"I just can't think about the Heisman," said the personable Davis, who is a leading candidate to win his first one this year. "There are other things to worry about. The Rose Bowl. Winning all our games. Being the best team in the country again.

"If all those things happen, the awards will take care of themselves. I'm very honored to have my name mentioned when they talk about the Heisman but I'd like to think of myself as team oriented."

Davis may have gained fame on an open field but it's a different story on an open road. He fell asleep at the wheel of his brother's sports car and crashed early one morning two weeks after the Rose Bowl. The auto was a total wreck.

His left leg and right knee were injured but there was no permanent damage. He played the outfield for USC's NCAA championship baseball team last spring. During the summer, he played baseball with the San Fernando Orioles, an amateur team sponsored by the Baltimore Orioles.

A 5-9, 190-pounder, Davis started his sophomore year at USC as John McKay's third string tailback behind Rod McNeill and Allen Carter. He wound up as a second team All-America.

Injuries to McNeill, now a senior, and Carter, now a junior, gave him his chance. In the Trojans' last six games, Davis scored 15 touchdowns, six against Notre Dame, and averaged 154 yards per game rushing.

For the season, he carried the ball 207 times for 1,191 yards—a 5.8 average—and tallied 17 TDs. He became the first USC sophomore to gain more than 1,000 yards in one season and only the fifth player in a Trojan uniform to go over the magic number.

Davis' name ranks right there with O.J. Simpson and Mike Garrett, Heisman Trophy winners for Southern Cal in 1968 and 1965. McKay compares him with Gale Sayers, the great running back of Kansas and the Chicago Bears.

But the converted high school quarterback is taking nothing for granted. He's looking over his shoulder—at McNeill and Carter.

"Nothing is for certain," he stressed. "I know the other guy can take my job as easy as I got mine. There are a lot of great athletes at this school."

The 1972 USC team is rated as one of the greatest in college grid history, going 12-0 and pulverizing Woody Hayes and Ohio State 42-17 in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

"It won't be as easy for us this year," said Davis. "We have the potential to be No. 1 again but we know every team will be shooting at us. There'll be everything to gain and nothing to lose for them."

The pressure?

"There was," he answered, "a lot of pressure in the last three games last season and I think I handled it well. But I'm glad I got a taste of it at this level. Now I know what I'm in for."

One thing is bothering him, though. He suspects there's a dognaper on campus.

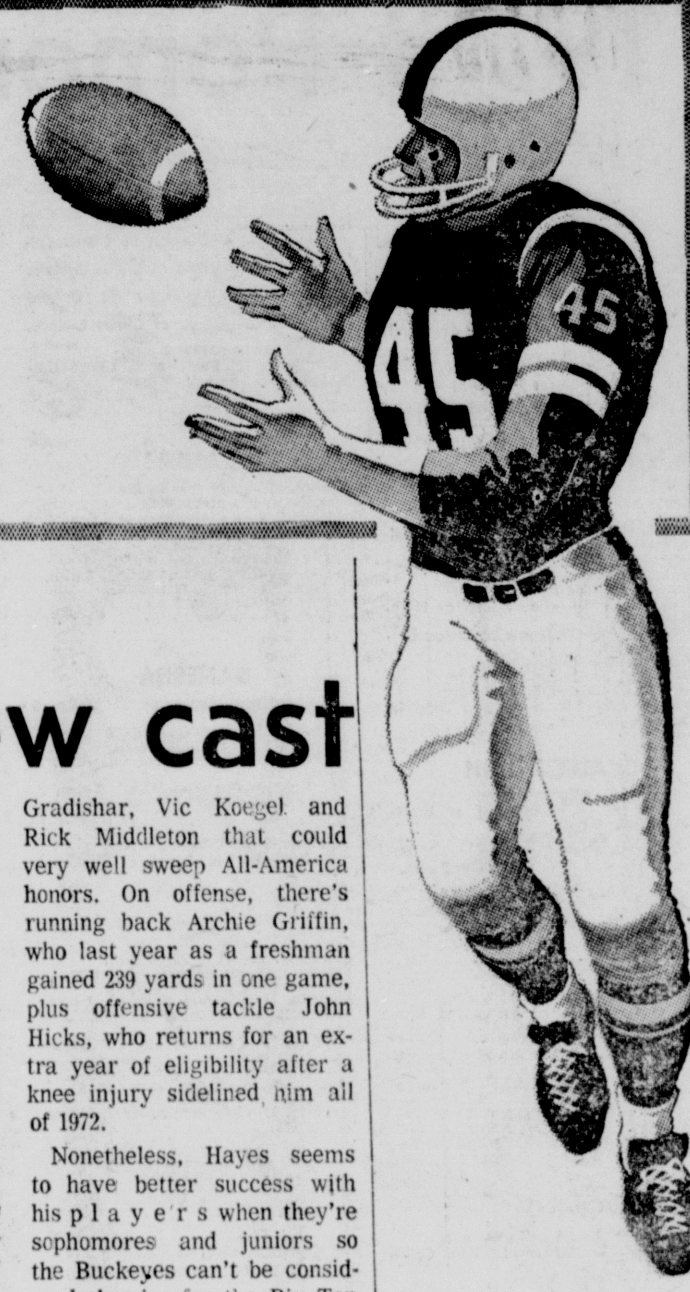
FOOTBALL PREVIEW '73

All You Want to Know About The . . .
Valley High School and College Football Teams



College football '73:

It's same show with a new cast

NEW YORK (UPI) —College Football '73: The names have changed but the top 20 looks to be a carbon copy of College Football '72.

Gone are the folks like Johnny Rodgers, Greg Pruitt, Rich Glover and Bert Jones who grabbed the headlines a year ago and in their places come an all new sast of All-Americas.

Departed also from the '72 scene are a host of coaches whose names have become synonymous with Bowl games— among them Bob Devaney of Nebraska, Chuck Fairbanks at Oklahoma and Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State.

So if that sounds like a major shakeup in the ratings may be coming, forget it. Southern California, Nebraska, Ohio State, Texas, Alabama, Michigan, Penn State, Tennessee —those same schools that brought you "Bowl Fever" a year ago—are back again and just as strong despite, for the most part, a heavily revamped cast of characters.

The UPI Board of Coaches has overwhelmingly installed Southern California as the choice to repeat as National Champion and even if the Trojans should falter, the 1973 titlist will likely be found among last year's top 10 as well.

MIDWEST

Ohio State or Michigan—take your choice—the Big Ten is almost certain to be won by one or the other. After all, that's what happened for the past five straight years. About the only big changes in the Big Ten for 1973 are the enactment of the red shirt rule and the abolishment of the "no repeat" policy to the Rose Bowl. Neither figures to have any significant effect this season.

Woody Hayes at Ohio State has perhaps the finest array of veteran talent in the country. Included are a linebacking corps of Randy Gradishar, Vic Koegel and Rick Middleton that could very well sweep All-America honors. On offense, there's running back Archie Griffin, who last year as a freshman gained 239 yards in one game, plus offensive tackle John Hicks, who returns for an extra year of eligibility after a knee injury sidelined him all of 1972.

Nonetheless, Hayes seems to have better success with his players when they're sophomores and juniors so the Buckeyes can't be considered shoo-ins for the Big Ten at this juncture.

As for Michigan, look for Bo Schembechler to stay neck-and-neck with his Ohio neighbors right down to their annual season-end showdown Nov. 24. Workhorse fullback Ed Shuttlesworth and quarterback Dennis Franklin head the Wolverines' backfield which returns intact and on defense, tackle Dave Gallagher will get his share of All-America notices.

The rest of the Big Ten figures to be a dogfight with Illinois, Indiana, Purdue and Michigan State somewhere in the middle and Iowa, Northwestern and Minnesota straggling behind.

Biggest news in the Big Ten for '73 is the unprecedented turnover in coaches. Alex Agase has moved from Northwestern to Purdue, Johnny Pont shifts from Indiana to Northwestern, Lee Corso moves in from Louisville to take over the Indiana reigns and Dennie Stoltz replaces Daugherty at Michigan State.

Notre Dame again looks to be the best of the midwest independents, but 1973 may be a rebuilding year for Ara Parseghian. The usual cries of optimism from South Bend have been noticeably quieted this summer and although the Irish schedule retains its customary band of patsies (Pittsburgh, Rice, Navy, Army etc.), there isn't a bonafide sure-shot All-America at Notre Dame for the first time in almost a decade.

SOUTH

If the East and Midwest take on a familiar look for 1973, so too does the South-

Broncos face tough slate

POMONA — In 1972 Cal Poly ended the season with a five-game losing streak which ruined a what had started out as a fine year.

The final 1972 record was 4-6, and it will be a tough row to hoe in 1973 as well.

This will be a rebuilding year for the Broncos with only 18 letterman on the 50-man roster. Only 10 are seniors.

On top of that, the Broncos are up against a tough schedule that includes the likes of Fresno State, Southern Utah, Sacramento State, Cal State L. A., Cal Lutheran, Chico State and U. S. International University (USIU).

And those are the breathers.

Beginning Oct. 13, CP begins tangling with Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, followed by UC Riverside, CS Northridge, and CS Fullerton. All of which make up the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA), one of the toughest small college conferences in the nation.

Of course the prime ingredient to a successful team is the coaching staff. Campus scuttlebutt has it that the 1973 staff is one of the better organized coaching corps ever assembled at Poly.

This year's coaches include head coach Roy Anderson, assistants, Bob Nero, Dan Peterson, Ken Cochrane, Dexter Win and Stan Ford.

Among the new coaches are Marv Weetman, who joined the staff after several years with the Washington Huskies, who serves as head assistant coach and defense coordinator and Art Torres, who comes from the University of Nevada at Las Vegas, in his first full season of what he hopes to be an illustrious coaching career.

"We're short of people but the people we have are good ball players," said Torres who handles the offensive line. "The team has good morale, is working hard and is dedicated."

Bronco coach Roy Anderson

"Among the problem we are facing at this stage of the season are: they haven't been together long enough to know each others' moves. We must continue to work towards that unity. And since we lack depth, we can't afford to get anybody hurt," said Torres.

The octet is young and inexperienced but are aggressive. Freshman Ed Tyler, (6-3, 230 a Claremont High graduate, has all the tools of being a very fine gridder but lacks experience.

Among the sophomores, Steve Weiss, center (6-3, 220) is the leader of the line and brings some experience to the unit since he started as a freshman last year.

The juniors are all transfers with Steve Sellotto, and Randy Daniels coming to Poly from a very fine El Camino JC. Camino's only loss last year was at the hands of Pasadena which played Fresno for the state championship.

Sellotto is a tackle standing 6-2, 230. He is quick, strong and is the best fundimentally sound player on the squad while Daniels (6-0, 210) is a quick guard that likes to hit.

Greg Cruz will run for Poly

The other transfers are Vern Smith, from East Los Angeles, who stands 6-0, 225 but still needs to get into shape and Frank Pelli, a 5-11, 170 guard.

Mountie quarterback key to big winning year in Walnut

WALNUT — Head coach Mal Eaton begins his third season at Mt. San Antonio College this fall, and if all indications are accurate No. 3 will be chamed.

The 1973 Mounties look stronger when any MSAC team since 1967, when Dennis Shaw quarterback a Veryl Lillywhite—coached team to a 7-2 record. The Mounties haven't been above .500 since then.

But with another strong-armed quarterback, Steve Myer, returned for his sophomore year at the valley's largest community college, the Mounties are expected to win big.

Myer, who prepped under Eaton at West Covina High, ranked No. 1 among the nation's community college passers last year, completing 181 of 331 passes for 2,244 yards and 14 touchdowns.

His favorite receivers, Rick Panneton (40 catches for 562 yards) and Don Moore (36 catches for 700 yards and seven touchdowns) won't be back. Panneton transferred to the University of Nebraska and Moore elected to concentrate on track this year.

But Eaton and his staff feel they have adquate replacements, in the form of letterman Gil Stewart and newcomers Art Escajeda of La Puente, John McIntyre of Walnut and David Vega of Edgewood. Stewart caught 18 passes for 123 yards and three touchdowns last year.

Myer and his receivers were the primary offensive weapon of 1972, and the lack of versatility caught up with the team in the latter part of the season. After a 4-1 start, the Mounties completed the year with only one victory in five games for a 5-5 record overall and 1-4 in the South Coast Conference.

The first priority this year, therefore, was to complement Myer's ability to pass with a sound running attack, which will operate out of the I-formation.

Behind Myer, Teddy Farmer, who gained 316 yards a year ago, is a likely candidate to start at tailback. Tom Marcarello, a 6-foot, 190-pound from Royal Oak had the inside track at fullback. Newcomers John Huston, Mike Fest, Darwin Brown and Mike Young will be competing for starting assignments also.

Up front offensively, the coaching staff has to rebuild a porous line. Returning are a couple of 230 pounders in guard Al Clegg and tackle Rick Gohl.

Defensively, there are a number of returnees, including interior linemen Mike Hammers, Paul Stroschein, Chuck Shrewsberry and Mike Standridge. At linebacker Richard Gomez will be a fixture along with an all-CIF newcomer from Alhambra, Pete Constantino.

In the secondary, Tom MacKenzie, an All-South Coast selectee last year will be back along with Russ Dion, and Bill Keilty. Newcomers Tyrone Johnson (Ganesha) and Sam Jenkins, a track star, who is playing his first season of football, will see action.

After scrimmages with Cypress and El Camino last week, the Mounties will open the nine-game regular season Saturday night against old rival Citrus College at Citrus Stadium.

Citrus must rebuild backfield to contend

AZUSA — Under head coach John Strycula, Citrus College has claimed football championships in four of the last six years.

To make it five out of seven and to successfully defend 1972's co-championship in the Mission Conference Strycula and his staff will have to rebuild an entire backfield and replace the state's top community college rusher, Ken Williams.

A tall chore indeed. But Strycula is confident he has the horses to do that and chalk up another title for the Owls.

"We'll miss Ken and we'll have to work extra hard to somehow compensate for his loss," said the coach as 1973 drills began. "But we are optimistic about our chances. For the first time since 1967 when wa had Dave Holman here at quarterback, we have at least three good prospects for the signal-calling job."

One of them is Strycula's son Bill, a freshman out of Royal Oak High, who will compete with Steve Smith of Damien, and Mike Garica of Bishop Amat.

Last year's starting QB Grady Hopkins has been shifted to fullback, where he has made a successful transition.

Besides Hopkins, other offensive veterans include wide receivers Cecil Hooks and Fred Ross, tight end Jeff Russell, guard Lou Franuchi and running back Gary Gladd to name a few.

Defensively, however, is where the Owls shine as the 1973 opener against visiting Mt. San Antonio College approaches Saturday night at Citrus Stadium.

The Owls have five all-conference returnees, including linebacker Gerry Hopkins, who was a JC All-American honorable mention selection. The others include backer Tony Gomez, tackles John Allen and Leon Hooker and middle guard Mark Bartulis.

The Owls appear set to improve on last year's 5-4-1 overall record and 5-1-1 Mission Conference mark. Strycula sees last year co-champion Saddleback, and San Bernardino, as the teams to beat. The latter will be looking to prove itself after being denied the conference crown due to rules violations.

Panthers face tough slate with new cast

ALTA LOMA — It's out of the frying pan and into the fire right from the start for Chaffey College this season.

The Panthers open Saturday night against Cerritos College at Panther Stadium and follow that tough assignment a week later by opening the Mission Conference against co-champion Saddleback.

On top of that, Coach Willie Richardson will be without the services of quarterback Ray Alexander, who was one of the top five community college passers in the state a year ago.

Trying to fill Alexander's shoes will be two freshmen, Mario Caridi of Montclair and Mark Tundis of Chaffey.

The Panthers should be strongest on defense, where a trio of tough linebackers will lead.

Chaffey may be hard-pressed to improve on last year's 3-7 record unless Richardson can get his young players to jell early.

Coach's percentage

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler ranked fifth among active coaches in winning percentage, having compiled a mark of .747 over the course of nine seasons prior to the 1972 season.

Stag coach greets 1973 with caution

CLAREMONT — Th situation with the Claremont-Mudd football team is entirely different this year than almost any year since John Zinda took over the coaching reins.

In Zinda's first year, 1968, the Stags were 3-4-2 overall. But in conference play they wound up at the .500 level with a 2-2 mark. From that time until last season C-M was always a winner.

Last year was a disaster. Zinda's team was rated a heavy favorite to take the conference title because he had all his starters back from '71 except quarterback Glen Grossman and center Pete Merandi.

But the Stags were upset, 14-6, in their opener at U of San Deigo and went on to record only three wins overall and suffer the first losing conference season (1-4) in Zinda's five years at the school.

This year the youthful coach is determined to have a better team. But he is not overenthusiastic about this year's possibilities.

"Our prospects will depend on who our quarterback will be," Zinda commented. "We have our defense back, except for Chris Stecher. But we have to rebuild our offensive line as we lost four our starters through graduation.

In his search for a quarterback, Zinda has numbers to start with. No less than seven candidates are being given a thorough look.

The top three are all sophomores. Hank Christman, a 5-11, 165 pounder, is from Yakima, Washington, Jaime Opatrny, 6-2 and 195 pounds, is from Pales Verdes. He did not come out for football last year. Steve Schaumleffel hails from San Rafael.

Schaumleffel may find it tough going because of his size. He's only 5-10 and 155 pounds.

Three of the other four are freshman. The fourth is senior Jim Webster who played safety last year but also spelled starter Craig Ducey

Can Leos repeat 1972 success?

"Ort" isn't the only member of his staff with a lot of time coaching the Leopards. Dwight Hanawalt, who heads the offense, is in his 28th year. Ben Hines, the defensive mastermind, is beginning his 14th.

"One of the biggest things we have going for us," observed Ortmayer, "is the way we work together. We never have coaches' meetings. We've been together so long we know each other inside out and everybody just goes ahead and does his job."

Relative "newcomers" to the staff are Rex Huigens who handles the defensive secondary (4 years) and Emmett Terrell who is in charge of the defensive line (3 years).

Last year the Leos had a good (6-3) season. La Verne opened with a humiliating (42-0) loss to eventual conference champ Whittier then won three straight including upsets over USIU and U of San Diego.

Then quarterback Marty Mercurio broke his wrist and two straight losses followed while Ortmayer hunted for a signal caller. He found him in little (5-8) senior Andy Rooney. Rooney guided the Leos to three straight wins to close out the season.

"We surprised some of the teams last year," Ort grinned. "We were on the bus and on our way home before they realized we won."

Gone from that team are all-conference and All-NAIA center Tim Hartnett and linebacker Dan Drake, all-conference tackle Dana Coleman, and second team all-conference players Joe Davalos (tackle), Scott MacDonald (guard), and Lou Randall (defensive back).

Returning are all-conference back Curtis Frick, All-NAIA defensive back Dave Long, second team all-conference defensive end Bill Keilty, kicking specialist John Karns, tackle George Hardgrow (whom Ortmayer says could develop into one of the best in the area), and Mercurio, the sparkplug quarterback fully recovered from his broken wrist.

The Leos open the season again against Whittier (Sept. 22). But this time it's a night game at Whittier.

Although it was hoped La Verne's new football facility would be ready, construction has not progressed to that point. So the Leos will again be playing all their home games at Bonita High's field. The first two home games, USIU (Sept. 29) and USD (Oct. 13) are night games with a 7:30 p.m. starting time.

Too few Hens worry coach

Last year the Sagehens started out with 39 players and was able to suit up only 29 for the final game of the season against La Verne. Small wonder the undermanned 'Hens were trounced 40-8.

This year Ambord is beginning with 33, count 'em, 33, probably the smallest squad in the state and certainly the smallest in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC).

"We'll be thinner than last year," admitted Ambord. "But, surprisingly, we will probably be a little bigger." However, the 'Hens' mentor has to find replacements for three returning veterans who decided to to play this year.

Jim Budenholzer, who was pencilled in as starting defensive left end, is not in school this year. Chris Arnstein, 6-1, 230 pound right defensive tackle, has indicated he is not coming out for football although Ambord voices hope that Arnstein may come out later.

John Lubina, the 6-7, 230 pound backup quarterback also has told Ambord he is not going to play football this season. "That's the loss of a

Red Devils eye title year

POMONA — If you overhear talk about a league championship football season at Pomona High this year, don't be surprised.

The Red Devils, with 13 returning lettermen, are picked as one of the very serious contenders for this year's San Antonio League football title.

And why?

One reason is the return of quarterback Steve Taylor, last year's leading passer in the SAL with 1,092 yards. For leading the league in passing as a junior, Steve was picked as the All-SAL quarterback for the year.

Another reason is the fact that the Devils will return Garry Honest and Jim Price to add punch to the Pomona backfields.

Price, standing a six-feet and 205 pounds, averaged 5.8 yards a carry last year and also doubled as a linebacker towards the end of the season.

Honest, who primarily played the defensive back position in '72, will join Price in the backfield while also making a return to his defensive position.

Garry was a first team All-SAL selection on defense last year.

"I really believe that the strength of the Pomona High football team for 1973 lies in its attitude," noted Pomona coach Mike Clifton. "Our players are great people and are devoted to one thing—winning."

Although the return of Taylor would make Pomona appear as a strong passing team, Clifton thinks the running game will be equally as potent.

Red Devil coach Mike Clifton

"I think we have some real good running backs," he said. "But still we'll probably throw about 70 per cent of the time."

Asked how he compares the Red Devil team to the rest of the league, Clifton answered, "On paper, we have good people coming back, but I hear everybody else is "up" this year too. I think we have the worst schedule in the league, and that's not very good. For the last four weeks of league play, our games are only four days apart."

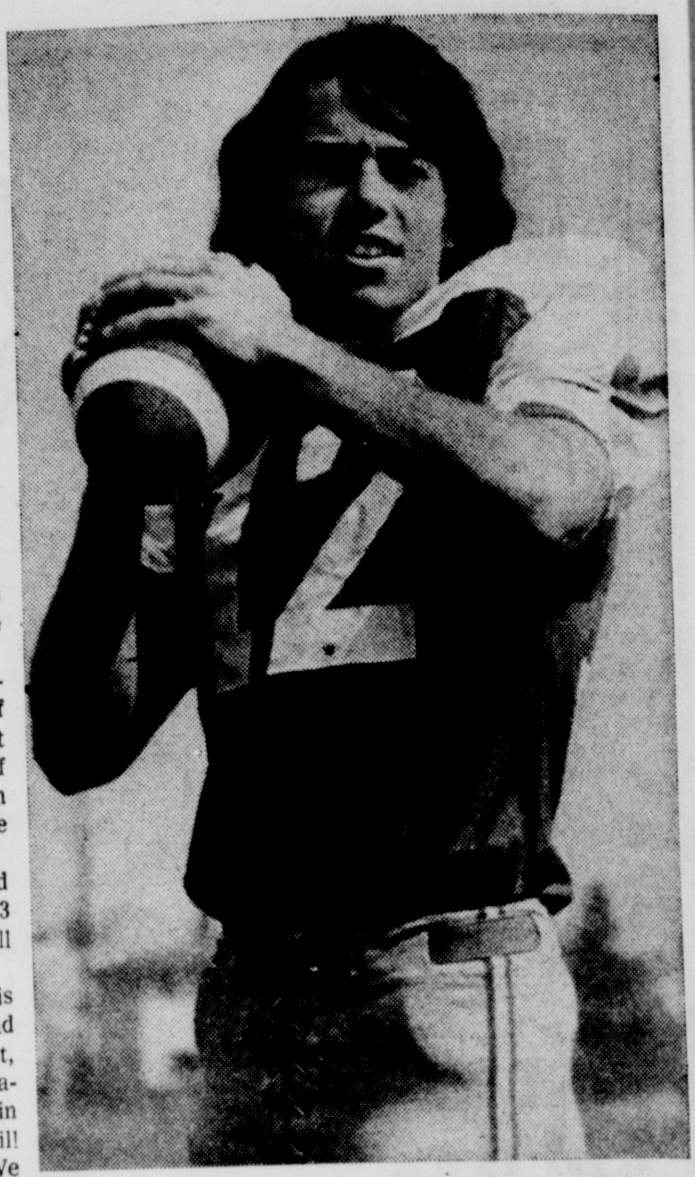
Last year, Pomona finished fourth in the SAL with a 4-3 record with a 5-3-1 overall mark.

As for weaknesses this year, the second-year head coach at Pomona pointed out, "we lost the leagues Most Valuable Defensive Player in Coolidge Goodall, and he will be difficult to replace. We also lost all of our receivers and our offensive line."



Devil quarterback Steve Taylor

senior, experienced signal caller," observed Ambord.

The Sagehens had a 2-7 season last year and were 1-4 in conference play. The wins came over St. Mary's (28-14) in the season opener and Occidental (14-9) in the SCIAC.

This year Pomona-Pitzer opens against Whitman Sept. 22 at home. The 'Hens play four straight non-conference games and then meet favored Redlands in the conference opener, Oct. 20. The four other conference games follow with the windup at home against Oxy Nov. 17.

True to his word, Ambord has scheduled the first five opponents for night games. The Pomona coach vowed he would not play another afternoon game early in the season after the 30-14 loss to Azusa Pacific in the second game of the season last year. That was the game in which the string of injuries began that decimated the squad by the end of the season.

Cenotto passed for 1671 yards and 10 touchdowns as a sophomore last year. Williams, another soph last season, caught 43 passes for 731 yards including five touchdowns and a 17-yard average. O'Neill caught 25 for 525 yards, three touchdowns, and a 21-yard average.

Williams made second team All-SCIAC and All NAIA. John Irvine, a 6-2, 220 pound senior, also made second team all-conference and will be back at tight end.

Three frosh of a year ago could be outstanding. Fullback Paul Grundy, 5-10, 195; and defensive backs Gary Davison, 6-1, 180 and Don Friend, 6-0, 170, were students a year ago.

Ambord also is high on David Schmoll, a 6-2, 235 pound transfer from Northwestern.

31 lettermen bolster APC

AZUSA — Coach Jerry Sconce planned on 82 players turning out for football at Azusa Pacific. He was worried because he had only 70 uniforms. But the problem resolved itself when only 62 showed up.

Tully completed 74 of 161 attempts last year for 1,053 yards. In three years he has 237 completions in 515 attempts for 3,390 yards and 26 touchdowns.

Another returnee is running back Dennis Koupal who led Couar ground gainers as a freshman last year. Th 6-1, 205 pounder averaged 4.4 yards per carry with a total of 518 yards in 119 carries.

"The players all have the desire to build a winning team," said Sconce. If we can maintain that attitude, we could have a very successful season."

Giants try to extend 1972's streak into 1973's SAL title

POMONA —The late start Ganesha High had last year may be avoided this year, and if it is the Giants should be considered as one of the top contenders for San Antonio championship.

Once again, coach Garry Norvell will be working to get the Wishbone Offense in shape in time for SAL play.

Last year the timing came around two games too late as the Giants dropped their first two SAL contests before going on to capture victories their next five times out.

When Ganesha opens the 1973 season against Azusa a week from Friday night, it will try to extend its winning streak to six.

The second non-league game of the year will be a change for the Giants, having to play Oxnard instead of Riverside Poly.

And then comes the SAL opener against Upland.

"I really haven't had the chance to take a look at what the other teams in the league are like," Norvell said, "so I don't know what the competition is going to be like."

But the five-year head coach of the Giants is pretty optimistic about Ganesha's '73 season.

"We will definitely have team speed," he stated. "And over the years it has proven to be a matter of effort and determination on the part of our individual players to unite themselves into a team. We're setting our goals higher this year so to become a better team earlier in the season. A good spring helped us establish this goal, and we feel we can improve on last year's team by a more concentrated effort early in the season."

Tracy Cowger has won the No. 1 spot as quarterback this year, and is also scheduled to double as linebacker.

Garry Norvell

On the receiving end of things, Norvell has his hands full. "We're a little thin on linemen," he added. We, as other teams in the league, have some weaknesses but we are going to work like hell to overcome them."

If the Giants can iron out their problems a little earlier this year, they may find themselves in the CIF playoffs at the end of the season.

Last year, with the five-game winning streak, Ganesha wound up in a tie with Upland for second place in the SAL. Its overall mark was 7-2, while compiling a 5-2 league record.

Wolfpack must fill gaps to repeat title

CLAREMONT — Coach Esper Keiser can't see how the Wolfpack from Claremont High is going to repeat as the San Antonio League football champion.

He has only six returning lettermen from last year's championship team, so the team looks very green.

"I don't think anybody can seriously pick us to repeat," he stated. "You know they

Esper Keiser

(the other teams in the league) will be pointing for us. They always shoot for the defending champion."

But this year is obviously going to be a rebuilding year for the Wolfpack, returning only three offensive players and three defensive players.

Not only that, but Keiser will be converting last year's safety Kent Stalwick to quarterback and defensive back Joe Hillstock to running back.

With the shortage of experience this year, the Claremont skipper figures Stalwick will have to go both ways—quarterback and safety—this season.

Altogether, Claremont lost somewhere between 25 and 28 lettermen—most of whom played regularly.

But still California Football Magazine picked the 'Pack to be back in contention, and so do many of the SAL coaches.

"I'm optimistic," inserted Keiser, "But I also have to face reality. I hope we can finish in the top four this year. If we come on strong in the middle of the year, we could have a good season."

Of course, the lack of experience will be the Wolfpack's biggest setback, losing three All-CIF players, six All-Pomona Valley players, and nine All-SAL selections.

Returning to the defense will be Stalwick, Hillstock and nose guard David Poling.

Keiser picks Damien, Pomona, Upland and Chino to be the front-runners this year in the SAL.

But he does leave his 'Pack out in the cold. "We have an eager, hard-working group of players, with good senior leaders and a good junior class. We have some skilled people in skilled positions. It'll depend on how fast our younger players come along."

The Old Boy Himself

Speedy duo gives Cavs a new look

MONTCLAIR — Whatever hopes Montclair High had of being a contender in the San Antonio League race this year may seem a little brighter now.

The Cavaliers, having finished with a 2-4-1 record in league and a 3-5-1 overall mark last year, will feature a whole new look this season.

Jack Simpson will be taking over the reins this year as the Cavaliers' head coach, and he'll be installing a whole new attack.

Not only that, but the Cavs acquired a new running back who transfered from Los Angeles.

"He stands ebout 5 feet, 7 inches and weighs about 180 pounds," warned Simpsen. "He also runs the 40 in 4.7 seconds, so he's pretty fast."

With Green and Gonzales in the backfield this year for Montclair, it would seem as if the Cavs would be somebody to reckon with on the ground.

Green will also double in the defensive backfield.

Asked what he thought Montclair's chances were in league play this year, Simpson said, "It'll depend entirely on the offensive line. If we can find a good pair of offensive tackles, we'll be in pretty good shape."

Running the offense this year at the quarterback position will be Brett Jetton and Bob Drake, both of whom have an equal shot at starting in the lineup.

Defensively, Simpson evaluates his team as a "pretty good club," and also warns that his passing attack "should be pretty good."

"I think we can finish in the first divison," he added.

The Cavaliers will be abandoning the Wishbone Offense this year, and will go to the Multiple Set Offense.

Vikes plan to run, gun in 1973 SAL

POMONA — Win or lose, Garey coach Lawson Bush is planning to make Viking football exciting this year.

Bush, who is going into his first year of coaching the Garey varsity football gridders after Bill Douglass resigned to take a job in Long Beach, has made a few changes this year in both the offense and the defense and he promises some excitement.

"We plan to gamble a lot this year," he warned. "We're going to try to utilize our speed to our advantage. We have speed in the backfield and in the receiver positions."

What Bush is trying to say is that the Vikings will be using the passing game 65% of the time. "Most clubs first try to establish a running game and then turn to the passing game," explained the new Garey skipper. "But we're going to do the opposite."

Scott Roque, who shared the quarterbacking chores with two other quarterbacks last year for the Vikings, is tagged to be the No. 1 signal-caller this season for Bush. His primary receiver will be Derrick Daley, who is also returning from last year's club.

Bush isn't about to exclude his running game either. One of the top candidates in the backfield is Dana Hutchinson, who Bush calls a "triple-threat".

"Dana can run, pass or receive," he added.

That came against Claremont, who eventually won the league title and made it to the second round of the CIF playoffs before finally bowing to CIF 3-A champion Los Altos.

Lawson Bush

Ballard — to dump the previously undefeated Wolfpack, 13-12.

Garey then tied Montclair, 14-14, in the final game of the year to keep from ending up in the SAL cellar.

So Bush plans to gamble all year.

"We may lose a few by gambling," he stated. "But we'll give a lot of teams trouble."

In picking his favorites to win the league championship this year, Bush goes with Pomona, Upland and Chino.

Rawls optimistic he'll escape last

CHINO — For Chino High, the only way is up this year in the San Antonio League football race.

The Cowboys finished in last place last season with a 1-6 record, but now head coach Jim Rawls has worked with the players for a full year.

The result? "We'll be vastly improved over last year," warned the second year coach. "This is the team I coached two years ago when they won the sophomore league championship. These guys scored 350 points and only allowed 50 points that year against the same guys they'll be facing this year."

Not only that, but the Cowboys made a good showing in the summer passing league this year, finishing in a tie for first after the end of the regular season.

"We're strong in the offensive backfield and at the receiver positions," noted the Chino coach. "But our weakness is from tackle-to-tackle in our offensive line."

The top receivers Rawls is boasting about include returnees Scott Richartz and Jeff McCool.

"We've got the best team speed in years," Rawls indicated. "And we have the biggest turnout we've had in about the last five years."

Defensively, Randy Rizo will be the anchorman. Rizo, who was selected to the All-Pomona Valley and All-SAL teams as a junior, will be trying to get the defensive line ready for the season opener. The Cowboys will be rebuilding at the linebacker spots, but Rawls claims the defensive secondary is ahead of everybody else.

Looking at Chino's chances in league play this year, Rawls said, "I'd like to think we could be in the first division, but our offensive line better come around.

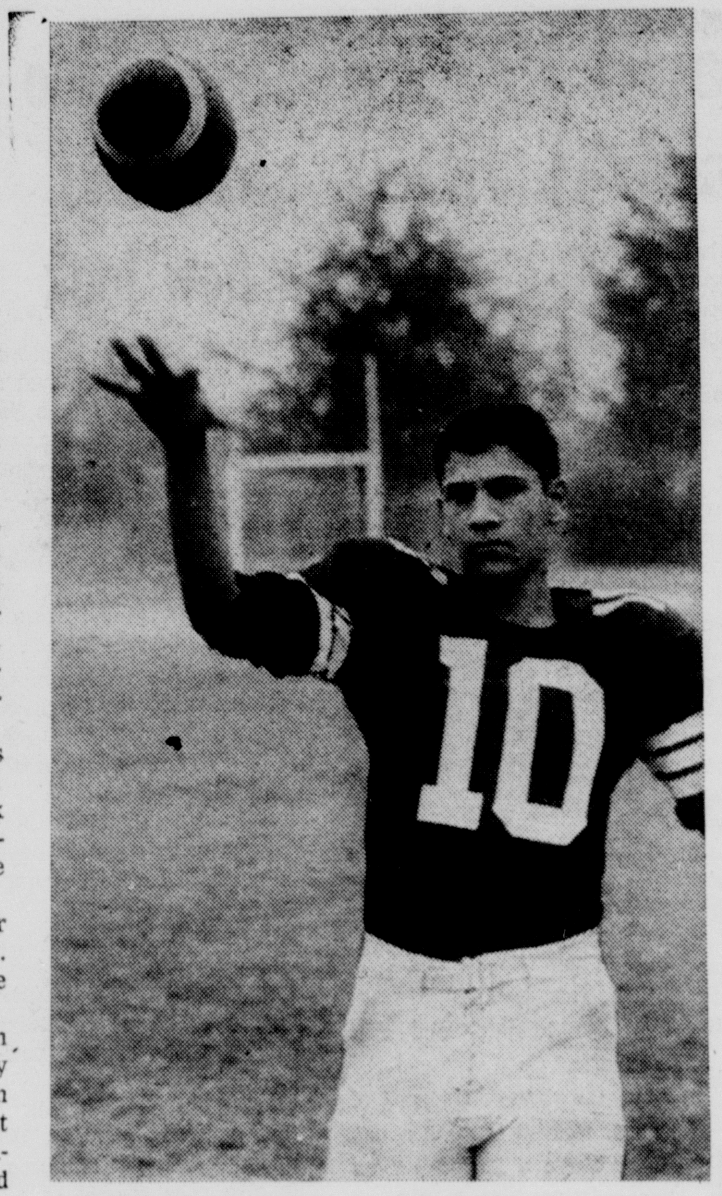
The Cowboys open season play a week from Friday against South Hills, and then face Azusa four days later. At the end of the non-league season last year, Chino's record was 1-1 with a 27-0 win over Azusa and a 21-7 loss to South Hills.



Jerry Belmudez will guide Cowboys

Smedley orders Damien changes

LA VERNE — Damien High's first year in the San Antonio League last season wasn't the most successful year the Spartans have ever had. They finished with a 4-5 overall mark and could only manage a 3-4 record in league play.

But this year may be a little different.

Now that the Spartans know what the SAL is like, they'll know what to look for. But first they must adjust to a whole new atmosphere.

Damien will be skippered by a whole new coaching staff, and it plans to run a different offense this year.

Ron Smedley, who has replaced Mike Churchill at the head coaching position, is converting from the Houston Veer Offense to the I-Formation and will be concentrating on the running attack.

You've got to figure the Spartans will be tough this year when they plan to use a strong running game while also having one of the top passers in the league in Larry Pekarcik.

"If we have a weakness," said the former Bishop Amat assistant coach, "it would be the fact that everything will be new and we all have to go through the whole learning process again."

But Smedley doesn't think the new atmosphere will keep the Spartans from getting off to a good start this year.

"We could have a slower start than the other clubs in the league," he said. "It depends on what you try to do coaching-wise. I think as far as conditioning is concerned, we'll be right up with the rest of them."

In handicapping the San Antonio League this year, Smedley picks the top contenders to be Upland, Claremont, Pomona and the Spartans.

Holycross high on Highlander hopes

UPLAND — It's very rare for Bob Holycross not to be optimistic about Upland High's football season.

This year is no exception.

The Highlanders have a returning leterman in each position on the defense, with Larry Schmidt, Russ Feaster and Dave Allen (all seniors) anchoring the defense at the linebacker spots.

Offensively, Holycross expects the line to be stronger than last year, but there are a few question marks in the backfield.

Bob Holycross

The loss of quarterback Mike Scharbrough and running back Rocky Chapman has left gaping holes to fill — but it looks like the second-year head coach has found respectable replacements.

Trying to fill Scharbrough's spot will be either Jim Christensen, last year's second-string QB, or Dan Spencer. Sophomore Jay Morton will also be shooting for that position.

"We definitely lack offensive experience, and the explosive long gainer is a question mark," he added.

Rocky's brother Cory will be putting in double duty for running from the fullback position on offense and holding down the middle guard spot again this season on defense.

The offensive captains this year for the Scots will be Christensen and Spencerl, while Schmidt and Ricardo Hermocillo will captain the defense.

In looking at the San Antonio League this year, Holycross explains, "This is the best league balance in the last five years," he said. "Chino, Garey and Montclair look to be greatly improved. Claremont, Damien, Pomona and Ganesha all have beteran squads returning. Damien and Claremont are the strongest, with Ganesha and Pomona very close."

on occasion. Webster, 5-9 and 180 pounds will start in the defensive backfield if he doesn't make it as a signal caller.

The frosh include 5-7, 162 pound Bob Flappan from Kansas City, Mo., Jim Carroll, 5-11 and 170 pounds, from Montevista High in El Cajon, and 6-0, 168 pound Pat Mahar from Tacoma, Washington.

Brightest spot in the Stag outlook is at running back where Billy Nash (6-1, 205) and Mike Graber (6-1, 190) give Zinda two of the better running backs in the conference. However Billy's young brother, Charles Nash, did not elect to return to Claremont Men's College this year.

Billy Nash made all-conference and All-NAIA last year. The older Nash was second in the conference in rushing with 822 yards in 163 carries for a fine five-yard-per-carry average.

But Bill needs a line to block for him and a quarterback to direct traffic. The first test comes Sept. 22 when the Stags get a chance for revenge against the U of San Diego. "We have the nucleus of a strong team," summed up Zinda. "But we need a good team attitude to finish with a respectable record."

Jaguars favored as rumor dashed

ONTARIO — A very pleasant rumor was circulating among Hacienda League footballers during the summer at the MSAC passing league get-togethers.

The gist of the conversation was that Martin Verdusco, Ontario High' senior super runner, had moved from the area and would be attending South Hills High come fall.

Since Verdusco gained over 1,000 yards as a junior—a rare feat—his prescence would tend to make the Jaguar offense a force to be reckoned with.

So, word that Verdusco was gone fell on hopeful ears indeed.

Doug Brooks, the Ontario head coach, would like to go on record as dashing those hopes.

"He's been out to all our workouts, and we expect him to play this fall," Brook said as late as the first week of September.

A pre-season poll of Hacienda coaches saw only one school consistently rated a contender—Ontario.

The Jaguars have all the credentials of a team whose year has come. The offensive and defensive lines both have size and experience. A competent secondary returns a year older and wiser.

Ontario boasts the best one-two running punch in the league. In addition to Verdusco, the Jags will have the services of junior Joe Jefferson in the backfield. Jefferson spent his sophomore year learning the position, and showing great potential while he was at it.

There is only one cloud on Brooks' horizon.

He has no experienced quarterback.

Billie Taylor, the man who directed the '72 offense, has graduated, and left two candidates for his spot.

Randy Ramirez, a junior, was the number one possibility. Ramirez quarterbacked last year's JV team, and showed promise. Varsity performance, though, has yet to be tested.

The other possibility for the spot is David Warren, a junior. Warren will play on defense as a halfback, and has been mentioned as a running back posibility.

The pre-season analysis of the quarterback competition had Ramirez with the arm, and Warren with the speed. Brooks rates both as on a par with Taylor.

Hacienda champs bank on Parrish

WALNUT — Ron Himes, the quarterback who passed his way to the second spot on the all-time CIF passing list, has graduated and is on his way to Stanford.

Many of the principals involved in a drfensive unit that held the Hacienda League to a total of 34 points for the entire 1972 season have similarly departed.

In the words of head coach Ken Gunn, "It's a tough act to follow."

As splendid an act as it was, it would appear that Walnut High has come up with a decent enough encore.

The Mustangs have a Hacienda League championship to defend, and though they won't have the dominating shadow that they cast last season, they have to be rated a contender.

Lance Parrish, for instance, may have neither the arm nor the charisma of Himes, but he does have the complete confidence of his coaches to go along with the number one quarterback slot.

Parrish's takeover of the signal-calling in addition to work in the secondary chores will open a senior year that will, most likely, see him not only letter, but star in three sports, and be regarded as one of the Pomona Valley's finest athletes.

Parrish, though, isn't the only replacement Gunn and staff has been pressed into finding.

The receiving corps was decimated by graduation and Parrish's conversion. Coming on in that department are wide receiver Mike Pfeil, end Mark Canavan, and JV receiver Ray Fausel.

Walnut's running attack also took a beating in June and, for the moment, is one of Gunn's biggest worries. Ray's brother, Bob Fausel, has been mentioned as a possibility, but the field is otherwise murky.

The Mustangs are also in the market for a new set of linebackers. Linton Nolan, whose main purpose in life is to be a tackle, heads the list of possibilities. Another pair of outstanding JV linemen, Rick Packer and Ron Turner, figure to complement Nolan's efforts.

While a number of hopeful question marks cloud the '73 outlook, Gunn raves about one phase of his game—the line.

"This may be the best offensive line Walnut has ever had," Gunn primises. "It is certainly the most experienced group we've ever had."

Royal Oak primed for rebuilding

COVINA — The Royal Oak High football program will be undergoing a massive overhaul this fall, and if there is a distinct lack of success, the Romans will have to be excused.

A brand-new head coach, Len Mussack, greets a generally inexperienced group of football players, a combination that rarely results in success.

Mussack's job is made just a little tougher by the almost unparalleled success Royal Oak teams have enjoyed the past few years.

Overshadowed by the spectacular show Walnut put on last year was a second place finish by the Romans and a 7-2 record overall. Though R. teams have rarely been flashy, they have been extremely successful in terms of won-lost records.

Mussack was an assistant under the departed Hal Lefler, so the safest assumption would be that this year's game plan will closely resemble the one R. O. fans are already familiar with.

Holdovers from '72 are few in number, but Mussack will be relying on the ones at hand heavily.

Clyde Christensen shapes up as the heir apparent to Bill Strycula's quarterback job. Christensen performed well on defense last year.

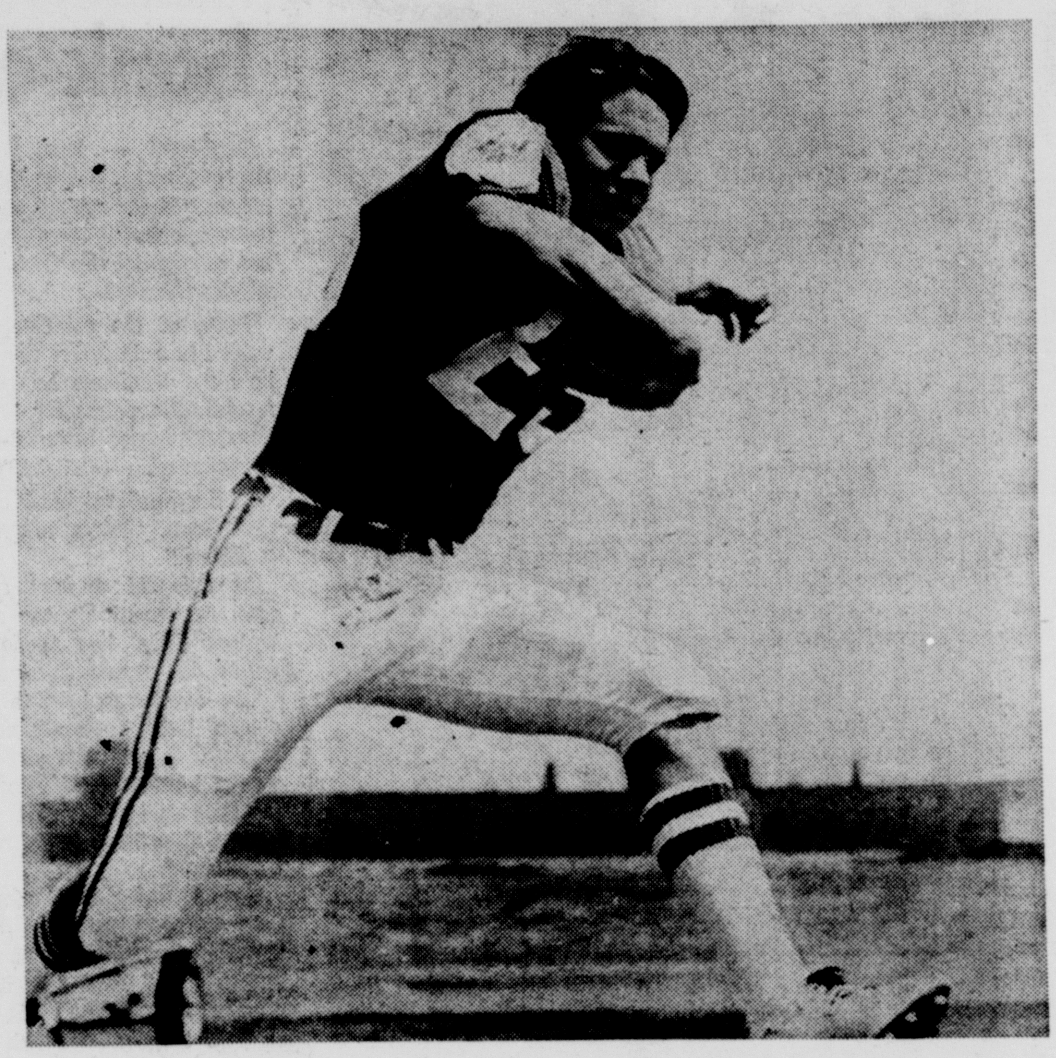
The Romans will be showing some experience up front with tackle Ron White and guard Duane Bechtel, both All-Leaguers last season.

The defensive line will have a pair of promising newcomers in Duane Newman (6-5, 245) and Dee Cox (6-1, 225), tackles .

Rick Hall figures to start in the backfield. Hall's stats (5 10, 190) would indicate that he might blossom into an effective fullback.

While Mussack can count on the three newcomers named above, he really is dealing with talent of unknown quantity and quality.

It is entirely possible that some unnoticed gems will sparkle the first time the Romans take the field, but to hope for a consistent winner, as in the past, is to hope for an awful lot of people to come through



Bob Rees will run for Bearcats

Vast improvement expected in '73 Bonita performance

LA VERNE — Bonita High is coming off a football season that was, quite frankly, a disaster.

The Bearcats entered 1972 riding the crest of three years' ownership of the San Antonio League, and figured to be strong contenders for the Hacienda League crown.

The race proved to be a rude awakening.

The Bearcats mustered only two victories, and wound up the year with a crushing 33-0 defeat to brand-new arch-rival San Dimas.

While it may be true that there's only one way to go, head coach Pete Lopez has more than the law of averages working for him.

Lopez weathered a similar catastrophe during his first year as head coach at Serra, and then proceeded to enjoy four consecutive winning seasons.

Surveying this year's squad, Lopez finds bright spots where there was darkness last year, and experience where there was rawness.

The quarterbacking situation, for example, has shown roughly 100 per cent improvement. Bruce McNaught was rushed in to fill the gap before the season started when Steve Hines was injured. McNaught spent most of the season a student of the position, and his inexperience was often apparent.

As a senior, though, McNaught figures to be a mature quarterback.

If he gets the job, that is.

Harold Drake, the Bearcats' talented junior, is pressing McNaught for the starting job, and Lopez isn't saying which will get the nod.

"McNaught and Drake both looked good in the passing league," Lopez says. "I'll have to work on who I'm going to start, though. Bruce should get the first shot at it, since he worked all last season for us."

Both men are assured a starting assignment of some kind, since Lopez plans to use the back-up QB, whoever he may be, at one of the corners on defense.

The backfield will require the most massive dose of new talent, since Don Rees and Victor Blatch have graduated. Brad Frick, considered a top running prospect, will be sidelined until the start of the Hacienda season with an arm broken in summer league play.

Up front, the Bearcats are strong, Alan Rojas will center in the wake of Alan Ashby's move back East. All-League guard Larry Naminatsu returns to the line-up, as does Steve Rodriguez.

Rich Lober is tagged as the quick tackle, while a trio of candidates led by Chris Sullivan vies for the strong tackle. Senior Buster Wilson will play tight end, while Andy Castro and Marty Schroedter battle for wide receiver. Jim Fears, Hines, and Dave Drury will be contending for the other receivers' spot.

Johnson, Rees, Rojas, Sullivan, Naminatsu, and the loser of the McNaught-Drake battle, figure to go the other way on defense.

Rich Russi and Scott Taylor are set for the ends. Steve Loya will take a tackle position, while Rick Carlton and Walter Walker look set at linebacker along with Naminatsu.

"We'll be 50 per cent better defensively than last year," Lopez predicts. "The kids now know the stystem. I'm happy with the experience, I just wish we had some more size. I'm real optimistic about the team as a whole."

And so, quietly and with a guarded optimism, the Green Machine repairs last year's damage, and sees better days coming.

Younger Saints to fill vacancies

SAN DIMAS — On alternate occasions, 1972 was a delight and a disappointment for the San Dimas High football team.

The Saints did what they set out to do in their first year in 2-A football, namely establish a reputation in the league as a solid team. This they accomplished with a 3-4 record which included a pair of close losses, and a 33-0 rout of district rival Bonito.

Unfortuantely, coach Bob Baiz had expected even more out of the squad. While the Saints proved their worth more than once, they were never a potent factor in the race.

Baiz is greeting a team this year that, for the most part, lacks varsity experience, but has performed outstandingly in the lower levels of the program.

Last year's JV squad rolled up an 8-1 record overall, while going undefeated in league play, and Baiz figures it to be the source of the bulk of this season's talent.

The only foreseeable drawback the new team presents is a consistent lack of size, but Baiz says that speed will most likely counteract smallness.

"We're not going to have big kids," Baiz admits. "But this year's team will be as quick or quicker than last year's. In general, they're short and somewhat stocky."

The new quarterback figures to be Dave Maloof, who spent most of last season as Steve Barnard's understudy. Challenging Maloof's claim to the position is last year's JV signal-caller Jim Johnson.

The backfield is almost exclusively newcomers as Perez Shoemaker and Jerry Levreau battle for Wayne Moses' fullback slot. Jim Richards and Tim Brown also shape up as likely running backs.

Up front, San Dimas fans will find both size and experience. Richard Espinoza will hold down the offensive line, and he checks in at 6-3, 230 lbs. Joining Espinoza from the '72 team is Tony Perez, All-Hacienda League gurad, both offensively and defensively.

While Baiz confesses to the '73 team's limitations, he is also quick to illuminate the advantages.

"This is our first freshman-thru-senior team, even though last year was the first graduating class," he points out. "This is a different group; a group that has worked all the way up through the program. These kids have had to scrap for everything they've gotten. They're workers."

The biggest weaknesses from last year, in Baiz' opinion, were a sometimes porous pass-defense, and an inexplicable tendency to let down in the second half defensively.

"We're just going to have to shore up our pass dffense," Baiz advises. "We gave up too many passes, and a lot of points in the third and fourth quarters. I really don't know how to explain something like that."

The 1973 version of the San Dimas Saints, then, shapes up as a not-too-risky longshot. The junior varsity level is not always a reliable indicator of Varsity potential, but, if it is in the case of San Dimas, Baiz could well have a contender on his hands.

If not, it could be a very long season.

Braves seek consistency

ALTA LOMA — For one brief glory - drenched moment during the 1972 prep football season, the Alta Loma High Braves tood dangerously close to an upset that would have scrambled the Hacienda League race.

It was the eighth game of the season, and Alta Loma faced a Walnut squad that needed just one more victory to clinch the title. The Braves, who entered the game with fewer victories than los-lined him most of last year and will play split end and halfback on defense. Donaldson figures to be a good aerial alternative to the running game.

Tom and Tim Brown return as tackles, Tim having sat out the '72 season. Frank Rodriguez looks good a a tackle also.

All in all, Ontario shapes up as a major contender. It's a talented team coming off a bad (2-6-1) year.

With a decent quarterback, it's entirely possible that Doug Brooks will see action in the CIF tournament this year.

Hacienda champs . . .

"Mr. Consistent," returns as a definite All-League prospect. Mike Laws, an All-Hacienda pick already, also makes a comeback this season. Gunn describes Laws, unequivocally, as "the best we've ever had."

The other candidates for the line include Nolan, guard Jay Beamer, and tackle Dan Stephanic.

The brunt of the pressure, then, seems to drape itself around the shoulders of Parrish, and his backfield

"I'm very pleased with Lance's performance this summer (in the MSAC passing league.) He was one of the more impressive quarterbacks in that league."

In addition to fine passing potential, Parrish has the ability to scramble in a manner Walnut fans may be unaccustomed to.

It's not going to be the cakewalk of a year ago, but, by the same token, it doesn't appear that the Dark Ages have set in at Walnut.

Backs help Forty-Niner resurgence

LONG BEACH — Long Beach State never seems to run out of talented running backs.

First there was Leon Burns. Then came Terry Metcalf. Now, coach Jim Stangeland hopes to move the 49ers up the Pacific Coast Athletic Association (PCAA) ladder with Ron Choate and Tommy Nathan.

The 49ers, who opened their season last week against Grambling College in the annual Freedom Classic, hope to rebound from last year's 5-6 record.

Eastern Arizona JC transfer Nathan (6-1, 196) accounted for more than 2,000 yards rushing and 27 touchdowns in his two years of JC play, earning first team JC All-American recognition.

Fullback Choate (6-0, 200) from Hartnell JC is a strong, punishing runner who should give the 49ers plenty of balance.

Gary Wann, who moves up to a starting role after serving as Randy Drake's understudy, is opening the season as the quarterback but former Fullerton JC star George Frasier will make a battle for the job.

Stangeland has 25 returning lettermen plus 30 junior college transfers.

Long Beach appears to be long on talent but possibly short on experience at the university level.

Nogales adding to the Wishbone

LA PUENTE — When the grid season opened last year, the word was out that Archie Carter was up to something at Nogales. He was . . namely the triple option offense.

Unfortunately while his idea pointed up . . . the outcome was down, Nogales ended the season with a 2-7 mark.

Carter is again optimistic about the new season but lightly added, "with everybody looking for a good year in the Montview League this year . . . anything better than 2-7 is up."

Lacking size and player determination in 1972, the Nobles went through five contests before scoring a touchdown. However, in the final four games the Nobles beat their arch-rivals, Rowland and Workman, and held opponents to an average of 10 points per game.

Carter will once again run from the wishbone but with a new variation . . . the forward pass.

"We have three capable quarterbacks that can throw," said the Cal Poly graduate. "And throw we will. We still lack a lot of size in our lines but by throwing more it will keep some of the pressure off our lineman."

Walt Stahl is back to handle the signal-calling duties as is Ernie Romero, who quit the squad last year, and Mike Kapuaala who is up from the sophomore team. These three will all be ready when the season opens Sept. 21 against Walnut.

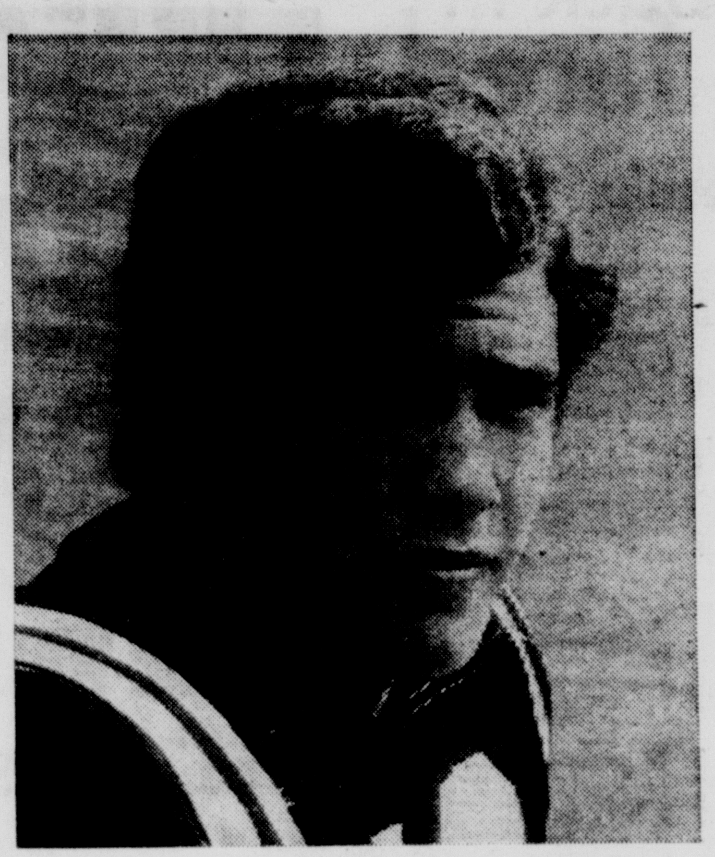
The new receivers are Jose Ygiesias and Pete Cortez. Both had fine springs, with Corter getting his first taste of contact football.

"This is a very hard working group that wants to win. And they showed it by having the best off season workouts ever at Nogales.



Charter Oak's Nick Howard

Lancers improved for '73 campaign

1971 and 72 were vintage years as C.O. posted 9-2 and 7-2 marks, respectively, with the former team reaching the CIF 3-A quarterfinals while the 1972 club was denied post season activity with a loss to Wilson in the final game of the year.

1973 should be no exception.

The Lancers have 16 returning lettermen, losing 17 via graduation, and will once again feature a solid running attack.

Andy Mason, 1490 yards in '72, is gone but Nick Howard should replace him with a 1000-yard season. "Nick is a super athlete . . . just an exceptional football player," said Fetters. "He knows how to get the job done. Besides his size (6-1), he has good speed and is an excellent blocker."

Of course no ground game can operate without that offensive line. Charter Oak will have All-Montview second team guard Dave Vilter, play tight ends in '73, All-Montview League guard Mark Rutherford and Steve Steece at the guard spots. The tackles are Roy Griffith and Steve Pickle. Center is the most questionable position with Jerry Gorski and newcomer Robbie Ehlenburg vying for the job.

Jeff Memler and Dave Peterson are back to share duties at split end with Brent Tindel and Steve Herrera returning to the flanker position.

Defensively the Lancers will anchor the front line with Rutherford, Mike Felberg and Pickle. Rutherford, a nose guard, was on the All-Montview second team and could rank as one of the top lineman in the valley in '73.

Linebacking is the question mark in the Lancer stinge unit. There are no veterans listed for this spot but Jerry Lowell, Bob Vannoy, Jim Cagney and Bill Darrell are the top candidates.

In the secondary, Herrera and Abundis give experience at the corners. Wes Dunlap, Memler, and Peterson will fight for the starting safety spot.

The Lancers are a success-orientated team and with hard work and determination will be contenders in '73.

This may be Raiders' year as 18 return to gridiron

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — 1973 could be the year for Gary Rawls' Old Gold and Navy Blue at Rowland High.

The Raiders are coming off a disappointing 1-6-2 season linked mainly to inexperience and a lack of size.

The latest Raider version will have 18 returning lettermen of which four are juniors.

The squad will be strengthened in areas of vital importance, namely offense.

Flavio Garcia is returning at quarterback after a fine season as a sophomore. The righthander compiled 1,150 yards last year with a 51 per cent completion average.

Not lacking in speed and quickness, the Raider machine will have the brothers Pearce, Dave at tailback and Don at split end, and Al Emeterio in the backfield. Both Dave and Don were called up towards the end of the season from the sophomore team with Dave averaging over 100 yards per game in the final three contests and Don starting at both split end and cornerback.

An experienced offensive line should help make the offense go. Lance Little bolsters the line (6-3, 235) with Tom Chambers and Rich Dubois as added strength.

The weakness lies in a inexperienced defensive unit. However, Greg Vaughn, last season's captain and leading tackler, will be back at his linebacking post.

Come the fourth quarter, however, it was Walnut that was struggling for victory. The Braves held a 20-14 lead with only minutes left.

A patented Ron Himes passing blitz, however, wound up burying the Alta Loma defense, and the upset bid was denied, 21-20.

That near-upset serves as a good lead-in to 1973.

The Braves were young, explosive, but unfortunately quite inconsistent.

Head coach Tom Cook is hoping to change the inconsistent part, but retain the explosive status. If the potential demonstrated in the Walnut game and four victories pans out, the Braves could quite easily wind up with the Hacienda League title.

If not, they might be the most spectacular also-rans in the history of the league.

You see, it's all up to the linemen.

Whatever the overall success of the team, Alta Loma figures to land a bundle of players on the All-League team.

Quarterback Jamie Broecker just might be the best in the league now. Kula Kuresa showed signs that he was capable of devastating defenses at halfback last year. Ted Pedvin is potentially outstanding as a flanker.

The report on the Braves positively glows until somebody asks about the offensive linemen.

Alta Loma graduated a solid corps of blockers, and the replacements have yet to prove themselves. Broecker will have to rely on youth and inexperienced talent for protection. And that's a risk no quarterback likes to take.

Except for the aforementioned possibilities, things don't look so good on defense. Cook needs lineman, linebackers, and defensive backs of good quality in great quantity.

It's on those areas that the Brave coaching staff has been concentrating since practice opened.

If some competent reserves are found, Alta Loma is going to be tough to catch, so fans should concentrate on the activity on the line and in the secondary when the season opens next week with Montclair on the Upland High field.

Actually, help is going to be needed the most during the final two weeks of the season. During those weeks, Alta Loma faces, in succession, its two most imposing fellow contenders in Ontario and Walnut.

Either of those contests could be the championship decider, while both figure to be vitally important for the Braves.

ONTARIO — Tell a lot of coaches that Chaffey High is coming off an off-year and they'll give you a funny look.

But while a 5-4 record overall and a second place finish in the Citrus Belt League might be considered quite adequate in most circles, it's slightly inferior to the type of showing the Tigers have been making the past few years.

During the five years prior to the start of this season, coach Ray Stark's squads have accumulated a 27-8 league record making for as consistent a production of victories as any.

The Tigers have weaknesses, to be sure, but their assets are downright imposing.

The passing attack promises to be healthy and then some. Ends Rod Weigand and Harley Stark, both of whom have averaged close to 20 yards per catch during their respective careers, are returning.

Mike Scanlon also returns to quarterback, meaning that there will be experience at both ends of the pass.

Defensively, Mike Partington returns to the backfield, while Bill Edmonson will anchor the linebacking crew once again. Both Partington and Edmonson are considered All-League prospects.

Walt Kaufman, All-League as a junior last year, will come back to his tackle position this season on both offense and defense.

Stark faces the prospect of finding replacements for last year's linemen in all except Kaufman's spot, and unless the new linemen catch on quickly, the name personnel could be in for a frustrating season.

Chaffey's other major weakness is a lack of experienced running backs. Edmonson is penciled in for some time in the backfield, but the rest of the backs are going to have to come off the junior varsity team.

The JV's of last year may be counted among Stark's hopes. They finished up their nine-game schedule with a perfect record, a good indication that talented replacements are forthcoming.

Some good football in '72 was overshadowed by three crushing Tiger losses at the start of the season. Non-league deafeats at the hands of Ahaheim (25-0), and Mater Dei (27-14) were followed by a 27-0 shutout by Fontana in the CBL opener.

The very next week, the Tigers got things together to blast Riverside Poly, 41-0, and lost only one more game the rest of the way.

"We feel that Chaffey will definitely be a contender for the league championship this year," Stark asserts confidently.

But while the Tigers figure to be strong, Stark is also aware of some quality competition, and mentions Redlands, Fontana, and Eisenhower as his biggest worries once the season gets under way.

Is Webb's Perry holding the aces?

CLAREMONT —Les Perry would rather be shown than told, but until the season opens, the Webb School grid couch will have to be content with the promise of talent, and not its exercise.

"If the young men new to the program prove what they say they can do," Perry says, "then we're going to be tough. I seem to have a number of new faces that could help."

Relief in any form would be welcome to the man who has spent 25 years cultivating athletic talent on the Webb campus. Perry's overall record during his tenure is an incredible 136-16-4, but the Gauls are coming off back-to-back 3-5 seasons.

Perry cites two obstacles he faces in getting the squad back in winning form: speed and depth.

"If you don't have the speed, you just can't stay with anybody," Perry explains. "The lack of speed definitely cost us ball games last year."

One candidate to relieve the situation is junior Bob Gillette. "Bob has fair sped," Perry says hopefully. "He is agile and quick."

Gillette will join a number of proven starters that return to Webb this fall. Team captain Kurt Zischke will occupy the fullback slot on the single-wing. John Baer will direct the offense from the tailback position. Gary Zakem should be impressive as a linebacker.

But a few standouts do not make a team, and a personnel shortage could hinder the rebuilding effort. "We're going to be short on depth," Perry concedes. "Twelve lettermen return, and we'll have maybe 35 out altogether."

Much of the Gauls' potential success could rest on players Perry has never seen in a Webb uniform.

Perry thinks that there are maybe some top-notch football players in the crop, but his judgment is reserved.

"Seeing is believing," he says.

Barring a major Webb comeback Perry thinks that the Arrowhead League is going to come down to a battle between Big Bear and Notre Dame. The Gauls face both during the last two weeks of the season.

OCHS' big switch hurts

ONTARIO — The days of six-man football are over at Ontario Christian High, and the switch to the normal 11-man game has created some problems for coach Ed Werkhoven.

Both depth and experience are lacking for the Knights' maiden voyage into full-size football, though enough talent exists on the squad to lead one to believe that, once the fundamentals are established, eastern Conference. To the surprise of no one, Alabama, Tennessee, Auburn and Louisiana State are the pick to vie for conference honors with Georgia, Mississippi and Florida tabbed as darkhorses and Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Kentucky taking up their customary back seat role.

THE MIDLANDS

The era of Johnny Rodgers and Greg Pruitt is over but the reign of Nebraska and Oklahoma as Big Eight kingpins goes on. Both the Cornhuskers and Sooners have changed coaches for 1973, but that shouldn't make too much difference as far as the success of these two programs is concerned.

With the running attack somewhat depleted with the loss of Rodgers, Nebraska can be expected to turn to the passing game headed by 6-foot-5 David Humm, who passed for 2,074 yards and 17 touchdowns as a sophomore last season. Tom Osborne, No. 1 assistant to Bob Devaney the past few seasons, inherits an array of talent capable of winning a national title in his first try.

Oklahoma, meanwhile, replaces half of its awesome 1-2 running punch of Pruitt and Joe Wylie with last year's talented reserve Joe Washington. Tinker Owens, brother of ex-Heisman Trophy winner Steve, is an outstanding wide receiver. On defense, new coach Barry Switzer can count on Lucious Selmon, a middle guard in the tradition of former Big Eight standouts, Glover of Nebraska and the Sooners' Granville Liggins. Biggest problem confronting Oklahoma is the NCAA probation placed on them and the subsequent loss of quarterback Kerry Jackson in the wake of that probabtion.

On the surface, however, the Cornhuskers and Sooners still have too many horses and they should go 1-2 again in the Big Eight.

Consistent

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Tommy Davis of the 49'ers kicked a record 234 consecutive points after touchdown over the 1959-1965 seasons.

New faces going places?

Ram boss cleans house--and how

LOS ANGELES — When Carroll Rosenbloom cleans house he doesn't mess around.

And when he first started refurbishing the Los Angeles Rams, many thought he was going too far.

By the time the club owner was through there was hardly a familiar face anywhere. Even the uniforms were different, and the fight song was new.

The result through the first four games of the 1973 exhibition season seemed to back up the critics. The Rams, who had stumbled through a 6-7-1 record during the 1972 regular season, were winless (0-3-1).

It was obviously going to be a long season for Los Angeles.

Or was it? In the next two weeks the Rams turned it all around and thrashed San Diego, 30-17, and San Francisco, 38-10

Exhuberant Ram fans began putting in their orders for Super Bowl tickets. And the regular season hadn't even begun yet.

That's still a few days off. The Rams begin playing for keeps in Kansas City this Sunday and just how good the club is will be determined in the weeks ahead.

Six-man football ends . . .

OCHS just might play some good football.

On the plus side of the ledger is the arm of quarterback Bob Miersma, which completed 55 percent of the passes it attempted last year. Halfback Jim VanHofwegen, who showed excellent speed last spring in track, joins Miersma as a potential bright spot.

VanHofwegen will be complemented by Jon Veenendael, whom Werkhoven describes as "a very quick starter with good speed."

Another prize prospect is tight end Ken Smidt, a good receiver with good speed.

Now for the bad news.

"Our offensive and defensive line will be very inexperienced," Werkhoven concedes. "Our depth will not be good, since we don't have a great number of athletes out for football."

With few players out, most of the experienced talent is going to have to go both ways and learn two unfamiliar positions.

Miersma, for example, will double as a safety in the secondary. VanHofwegen is slated to play linebacker when the Knights don't have the ball. Veenendaal will also get the call at linebacker.

To compound the abundant personnel problems, the Knights have been put in one of the toughest 1-A leagues in CIF, the Olympic.

OCHS will be up against such perennial midget powerhouses as L.A. Baptist, Whittier and Brethren.

While 1973 might be an uphill battle for Werkhoven and staff, a properly set foundation could start paying off soon.

The schedule is a difficult one. Only two opponents — Houston and Chicago — had worse records than the Rams in 1972.

Half of 1972's porous secondary has been rebuilt with rookie defensive back Eddie McMillan and Cullen Bryant. Two often criticized veterans — Jimmy Nettles and Gene Howard — were traded last week for future draft choices. Two three-year pros, Dave Elmendorf and Al Clark, remain to add poise in that department.

The linebacking appears to be the soundest department of the 1973 Club. All-Pro Isiah Robertson, Jack Reynolds and Ken Geddes are likely fixtures here. Veteran middle backer Marlin McKeever retired this summer after offseason knee surgery.

What was once the feared Fearsome Foursome up front in the George Allen era, is now perennial All-Pro Merlin Olsen and three question marks. But Fred Dryer, Larry Brooks and Jack Youngblood have the potential to be of Fearsome Foursome caliber.

Offensively, the Rams in the past two weeks, have demonstrated an ability to run with authority. Jim Bertelsen and Larry McCutcheon appear to be the starters at running back with Larry Smith, Tony Baker and Les Josephson filling in as needed.

Baker came to the Rams in the trade that sent veteran quarterback Roman Gabriel to Philadelphia. Gabriel's replacement, John Hadl, has been loss than 50 per cent passer in the pre-season, but has demonstrated his ability to strike with the bomb.

Beginning his 12th season, Hadl came to the Rams from the Chargers in the off-season, and has teamed with 1972's leading NFL receiver Harold Jackson, acquired in the Gabriel trade, with the bomb through the pre-season. Veteran Ram Jack Snow, an always reliable receiver, is joined by Dick Gordon and Joe Sweet on the Bomb Squad.

Up front the Rams are solid with veteran lineman Ken Iman (center), Tom Mack and Joe Scibelli (guards), Charlie Cowan and Harry Schuh (tackles).

So that is what the Ram owner has put together for an assault on the Super Bowl. If nothing else, it should be interesting.

Status quo plenty good

The Trojans can't improve

LOS ANGELES — The University of Southern California Trojans are in a strange position.

They can't improve.

USC is a clear-cut choice to win another national championship according to most of the preseason polls. To accomplish that feat, the Trojans better enjoy another perfect 12-0 campaign.

"I would doubt that we'll be as good a team this season," McKay quiped. "Last year, we had a team that was big, fast, could score quickly and have all the luck a team can have."

Just to prove McKay feels his 1973 club can duplicate the 1972 accomplishments, he is quick to add, "I do believe there are as many or more good athletes on this year's team. But sometimes having good athletes doesn't mean anything. It also takes dedication and devotion."

Besides being ranked No. 1 in the first polls, the Trojans are also expected to do well in individual honors.

Sensational junior Anthony Davis, who is taking over in the same style as Mike Garrett and O. J. Simpson, has been tabbed as the favorite to win the coveted Heisman Trophy.

A. D. became the biggest name in college football last year when he scored six touchdowns to beat Notre Dame. He scored 15 touchdowns and averaged 154 yards per game in the final six contests.

Davis, who led the Pacific-8 with 1,191 yards, is coming off an Achilles tendon injury suffered in an auto accident, earned the Voit Memorial Award as the top player on the Pacific Coast last year.

"I can't believe there's any backs in the country better than Anthony," McKay said. "He's an exceptionally strong runner and is very quick."

Just in case Davis can't do the job, former Bonita High star Allen Carter is waiting for his chance. Nagged by injuries last year, the junior tailback led the Trojans in average gain per carry with a 7.5 average and was the fifth leading rusher with 226.

"Allen is the fastest big man we've ever had," McKay added.

The Trojans have more all-Americans in junior linebacker Richard Wood and flanker Lynn Swann. McKay is also making a strong bid for honors for offensive guard Booker Brown.

"Leaving Brown off the All-American team this season would be like leaving UCLA's Bill Walton off the basketball All-American," says McKay.

Junior Pat Haden will be taking Mike Rae's spot at quarterback. Big things are expected from the former Bishop Amat sensation. "I've never seen a paser with more accuracy than Haden," McKay said of his new leader.

Of course, Haden will be spending a lot of time throwing to his buddy from Bishop Amat, end John McKay Jr., the son of the coach.

Defensively, the Trojans are as strong as ever. Besides Wood, McKay can also rely on a solid backfield led by Artemus Parker, who has intercepted 12 passes in his two varsity seaons.

USC will be well represented by the Pomona Valley.

Besides Carter, other valley products on the Trojans are offensive tackle Mike McGirr of Rowland, who missed last season with a knee injury; tight end Dean Lingenfelter of Ganesha; offensive guard Joe Davis of Claremont; and fullback Mike Sheppard of Bonita.

LOS ANGELES — UCLA already has a god idea what type of season it can expect in football.

After getting past that rugged test, the rest of the schedule probably doesn't look quite as difficult.

UCLA's Wishbone attack will be led by Kermit Johnson and James McAlister, two of the nation's premier runners with 952 and 778 yards respectively last year.

Rodgers is switching McAlister to fullback to take advantage of his speed and power on quick straight-ahead openers. Johnson, the other half of the Blair High (Pasadena) duo, provides plenty of breakaway power.

Ready to block for Harmon, Johnson, McAlister & Co. is the biggest offensive line in UCLA history, a starting all-veteran group from tackle to tackle which averages 258 pounds per man. They include Ed Kezirian (239) and Al Oliver (275) at tackles, Gene Clark (279) and Steve Klosterman (245) at guards and Art Kuehn (252) at center.

Defensively, the Bruins are led by seniors Fred McNeill (222) and Cal Peterson (214), two of the nation's top ends, plus cornerback Jimmy Allen, who intercepted six passes last year.

Schuhmann is listed behind McAlister on the Bruins' depth chart and will probably see plenty of action.
